Congress has idle acreage program

SHINGTON, D.C. – .S. Senate is speeding h procedures to offer to economically ssed farmers. The bill moved ahead on the agenda on Monday, March 13. Final action on the bill, however, will not come until after a vote has been reached on the Panama Canal Treaty.

The bill, known as S.2690, was introduced into Congress 10 days ago by Senators Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Robert Dole of Kansas. It's aim is to boost farm income by paying farmers to keep portions of their land idle.

"Farmers are caught up in a savage squeeze between falling prices, rising production costs and huge over-hanging surpluses," the Georgia senator said at a recent news conference when he introduced the bill.

The Talmadge-Dole bill would require the Secretary of Agriculture to implement immediately a land retirement program under which farmers will be paid to Lancaster County Conservation District honors farmer

By KENDACE BORRY

LANCASTER -- Don mble and his family were nored as the outstanding perator at the Lancaster unty Conservation strict Cooperators 28th nual meeting and nquet. The Peach Bottom farmer won the award for achievements in conservation practices on his dairy operation.

For a more complete glimpse of the Don Trimbles, see the article included next week in the Lancaster Farming.

Another award given by the district was for outstanding service. Given to Arthur Brown, Nottingham R1, he was honored for serving as the first chairman of the Lancaster County Soil Conservation District when it was formed in 1950. Involved with conservation practices on his farm for the past 40 years, he and his wife were awarded with an aerial photograph of his farm.

Winners at the plowing contests held as part of the Lancaster County Soil Conservation Day last Summer were given trophies for their achievements. Frank Burkhart, Lancaster, and Richard Binkley,

Dairy cooperatives scramble for equity

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER – Pressured by lending institutions, and realizing that dead equity funding is causing financial instability, several dairy cooperatives in the Northeast are now actively engaged in building capital funds. Compounding the situation is a continued increase in milk production, which has burdened many marketing outlets for the past year.

The scramble to build equity comes in several forms.

At Dairylea, for example, members are being requested to contribute financial clout in the amount of $1.20 per hundredweight for all the milk they shipped during 1977. Creditors are looking for permanent membership equity - ownership in the cooperative.

Vet school in trouble

By JOANNE SPAHR

PHILDELPHIA – The School of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania, like many other state-aided, state-related, and state-owned colleges and universities, is in serious trouble. And, trouble within that school can spell hardship for the farmer as well as all animal owners, in general.

Due to a budget reduction from the state of $1.2 million late last year (from a proposed $3.8 million to $2.6 million), the state-aided veterinary school was plunged into a crisis situation. The major problem at that point was the timing – the cuts came halfway through the fiscal year when the school had already made its financial commitments.

The critical source of concern at the present time stems from Governor Shapp's budget recommendation for 1978-1979 which proposes no increase in appropriations for next year. In other words, the veterinary school will be forced to operate for another year under its present already-too-low level.

"We won't be able to survive," says a concerned Dr. Robert Marshak, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine. "We're already on an austere budget, and with this cut, we're going to be in serious trouble."

According to Marshak, if a more reasonable appropriation is not made to the college, one of two things will happen – either the quality of the school will go down or it will go out of existence entirely.

There is very little opposition to Marshak's claims. The University of Pennsylvania is recognized as having one of the top three vet schools in the nation along with Cornell in New York and California University, Davis.

Penn turns out about 100 graduates a year and has educated about 70 per cent of the veterinarians practicing in the Commonwealth, today.

Along with its reputation for excellence, the veterinary school is also recognized as having the lowest amount of state support of the top three institutions. With its current allotted budget of $2.6 million, it falls far behind California University, Davis, which receives $9 million annually. Davis, which has approximately 366 students, also has a student body that is smaller than Penn's 420 students.

Cornell, which is one-third smaller in student body, is supported with $7 to $8 million annually.

Hog industry faces tuberculosis incidents

By DIETER KRIEG

LANCASTER – Swine tuberculosis which on national average is found in about .05 per cent of slaughtered hogs, is occurring at 10 times that rate in some Pennsylvania packing houses. Some of the hog buyers are thinking about pulling away from Pennsylvania markets for that reason, and at least one packer has already limited buying in Lancaster County. At stake is the continued boom in Lancaster County's and surrounding areas' hog production.

Hog producers in the state, and particularly southeastern Pennsylvania are becoming increasingly concerned and are stepping up efforts to bring the situation under control. But it won't be easy and it'll take plenty of cooperation on the part of producers, livestock markets, packers, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Spearheading the drive against the tuberculosis incidents are local pork producers and some of the area's packers. Livestock

Poultry disease hits 100,000 more chickens

LANCASTER -- Laryngotracheitis continues to spread in Lancaster County and has reached what is now termed "almost epidemic levels." Just within the past week, two more large poultry flocks contracted the disease, bringing the total number of infected chickens to over half a million.

Poultry specialists are expressing deep concern for recent developments. This news story – the fourth such story since November, and the second in three weeks – reflects the poultry industry's concern.

Although some of the larger flocks in Lancaster County are involved in the outbreaks, poultry officials are stressing precautionary measures to "backyard" flocks as well. They urge each owner of "backyard" flocks to be on the lookout for the disease and encourage vaccination programs.

The two most recent outbreaks occurred in large poultry houses in the Manheim-Mount Joy area. In at least one of those cases, it's strongly suspected that the disease was introduced because of carelessness on Moyer's Is Out To Get YOU . . .

(the choicest DEKALB pullets!)

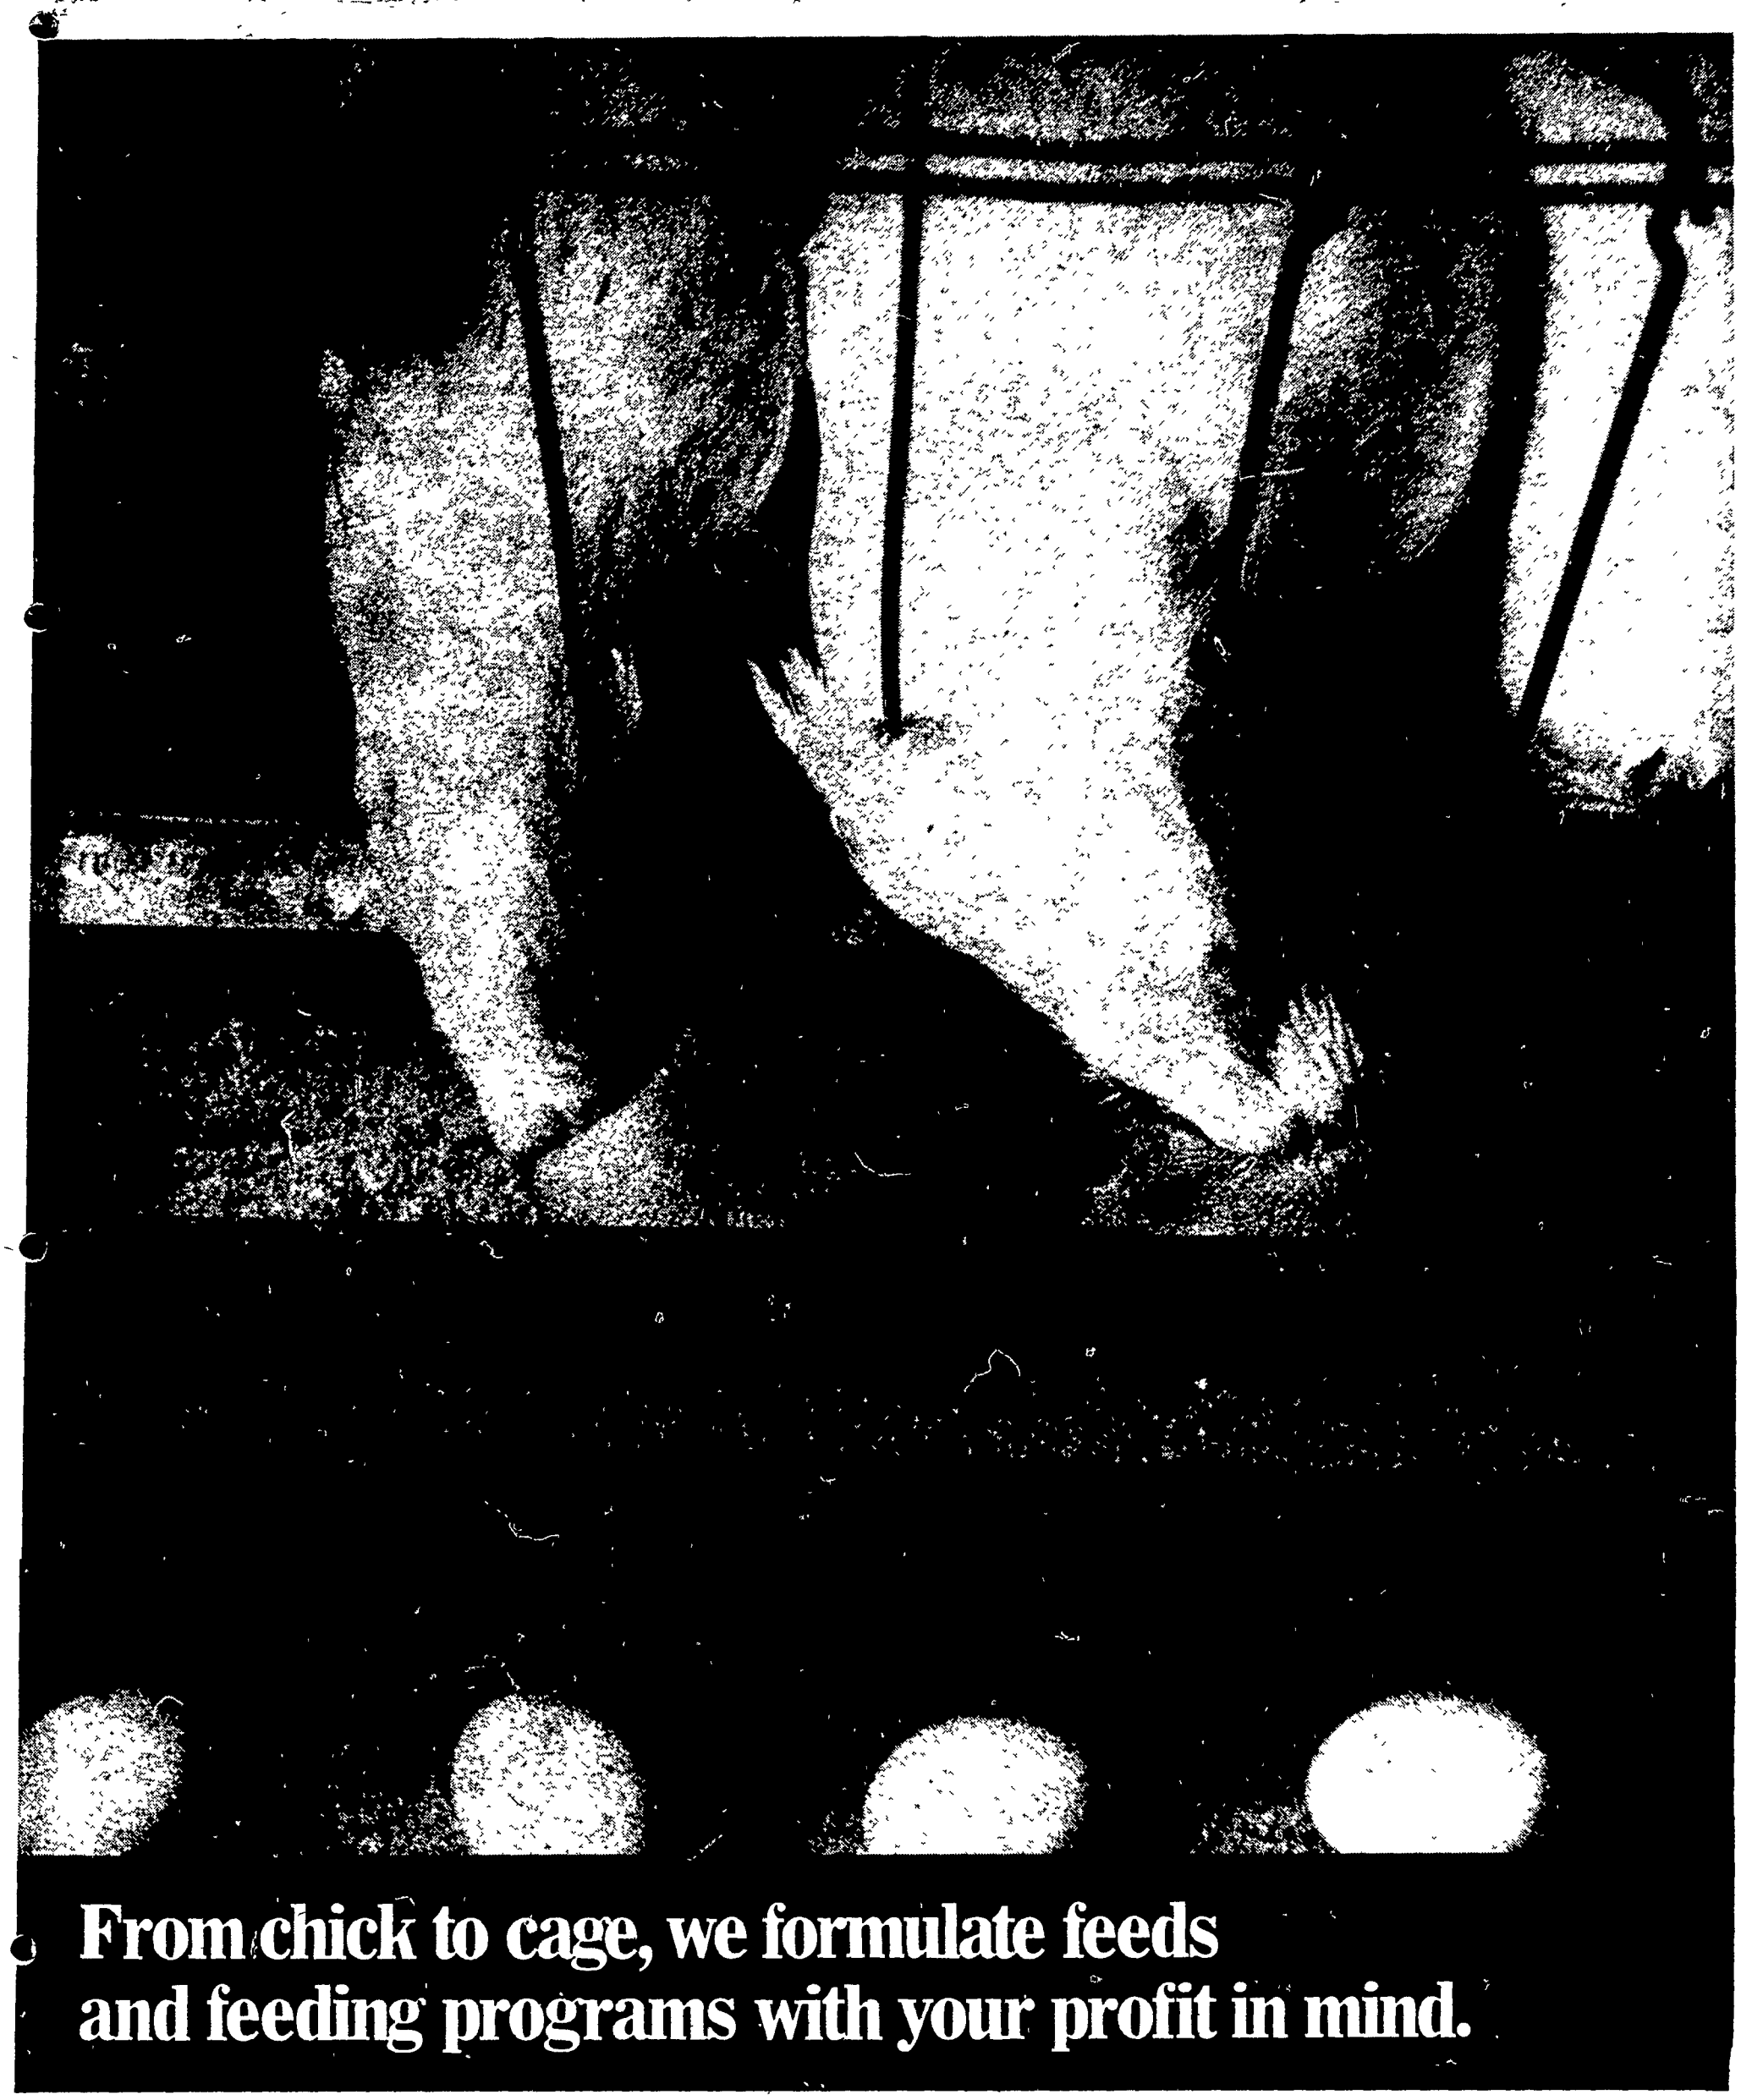
Part of achieving this goal means maintaining a varied fleet of vehicles to meet every need of our expanding business:

- transportation of hatching eggs from our own breeder flocks.
- delivery of baby chicks to our own pullet growing flocks
- pullet flock supervisory visits
- delivery of the ready-to-lay pullet to your farm

Do you know who stands behind your investment of ready-to-lay pullets?

Moyer's CHICKS, INC.

Quakertown, PA. 18951 (215) 536-3155



From chick to cage, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Do you have an open mind?

Are you ready to devote an hour or two of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual operation.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your birds. Whether you grow chicks or buy started pullets. The type of equipment you use. The production potential of your flock. Your management practices. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

With the aid of computers, we then design a feeding program specifically tailored to your birds needs—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, when we recommended producers switch from a competitive 18% protein feed to an optimum-nutrient density Pennfield feed, there was no loss in production—and this one recommendation has saved as much as $12,000 a year depending on flock size.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

MARCH 20-26, 1978

Spring is here!

Spring begins March 20 at 6 34 PM EST Robins and bluebirds returning north now Full moon March 24 Oysters spawn on full tides now Average length of days for the week, 12 hours, 18 minutes Easter is the 26th Woodchucks emerge this week and skunk cabbage blooms Every path has a puddle

Ask the Old Farmer: We found an old history of a New England coastal town from about 1775 Some boys were on a wharf on a Sunday and saw the Tidy Man They ran away fast because of the Sunday Blue Laws Who was a Tidy Man and what did he do? D J K, Concord, N H

We believe that what they saw was the "tithing man," who kept order in the meetinghouse, especially amongst small boys

Home Hints: To remove purple price-mark stains from counter tops, wipe with a damp cloth and a little nail polish remover

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Clear and warm to midweek, remainder of week partly sunny with a few showers

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins clear and warm, then seasonal with some showers through week's end

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Sunny and warm, weekend promises very warm with showers

STAYING COMPETITIVE WILL BE THE ANSWER.

REPEAT — STAY COMPETITIVE. ALL INDICATIONS ARE THAT THINGS WILL BE TIGHT THE NEXT 24 MONTHS, WITH EGG PRICES HOVERING AROUND THE BREAK EVEN POINT FOR PRODUCERS.

1. Good sanitation, insect control, treatment of infection and disease, worming and rodent control all have to be carried on continuously for healthy birds and healthy profits.
2. Simply stated, good pullets peak high; poor ones do not.
3. The move from the pullet house to the layer house can be in some cases a severe stress and depress that potential.
4. A few chickens saved or lost certainly influences the potential return of the house.
5. Since feed intake is a poor guide for pre-peak layers we must seek a substitute and the best substitute is in house temperature.
6. Feed intake and performance fortification levels - The Purina Laying Chow Bio-Rating gives the relative fortification of amino acid, vitamins and minerals. Bio Layena 100 is the base product. For example, Bio-Layena 114 contains 7% more fortification than Bio Layena 107 and 14% more than Bio Layena 100. Each of the above feed intake ranges represent approximately 7% less feed consumption than the previous range. Thus a drop of 7% in feed intake (approximately 1½ pounds/100 hens/day) is compensated for by an increase of 7% in ration fortification.
   In this way daily intake of amino acids, vitamins and minerals remain constant. The correct level of fortification is exactly matched to the hen's feed intakes. If during stress conditions a more highly fortified ration is desired, just choose the amount of extra fortification by checking the Bio-Rating of each Purina Laying Chow. Always use local judgement on whether to change the ration, since feed intakes will vary due to wastage, strain, etc.
7. Failure to reach the highest level of production and to maintain high levels many times is due to disease. Therefore it is essential that prior to this time the flocks should have received sufficient vaccination properly administered to provide full and complete resistance.

CONCLUSION: Nutritional programs and management practices during housing through 36 weeks of age can have considerable effect on peak and subsequent performance. It is our challenge to start with a quality pullet and do nothing that harms its "performance potential". But too we must be concerned about not feeding excesses of nutrients that are costly and hurt income potential.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS By DIETER KRIEG, EDITOR

Keep your medicine

Drug residues in meat and milk are a potential powder keg for farmers Ten of thousands of dollars have been lost in recent weeks in southeastern Pennsylvania alone. The problem is nationwide, however.

A disaster is in the making if farmers aren't careful. If they aren't the federal government's Food and Drug Administration (FDA) will impose some harsh penalties on offenders.

The problem is that farmers are either ignoring or unintentionally missing strict precautionary measures when treating their animals for infections or ailments. Drug residues are showing up in the food supply and Uncle Sam's food inspectors won't stand for it.

Every farmer should be seriously concerned Violations have been found on both dairy and beef farms. If it continues, a dairymen might well be held liable for contaminating a tankerful of milk -- both in market-value and possible court actions The beef producer won't get paid for the affected carcass and must stand all related costs of testing and disposal

What's more, if that won't bring the offending farmers in line, FDA could ban the use of penicillin and other drugs in meat and milk animals. No farmer needs to be told about the powerful healing effects of these drugs

Drugs in milk is now considered to be a major problem. Earlier this year inspectors in a large Pennsylvania city found penicillin in milk that had already reached the store. All supplies were seized, including what was left in the silo at the dairy. Tankerloads of milk were then dumped in a Cumberland County field. It wasn't the first time that happened

Knowledgeable people in the cattle business warn that drugs found in meat -- and this most certainly includes culled dairy cows -- will not be tolerated much longer. FDA will insist on testing each carcass, if necessary, and will hold them in storage until tests are completed Any carcass showing the presence of drug residues will be condemned. The farmer will be held liable for every cent of expense involved and he won't get the check for the animal either.

How critical is the problem? Informed people in the dairy industry say the tests are now available to detect one part per billion That's the equivalent of one drop in an Olympic-size swimming pool or one person in the entire human population on Earth. Obviously, that splits it pretty fine and it leaves the farmer with no margin of error.

Penicillin -- wonderful as it is to cure infections and speed recovery from many illnesses -- can kill a person who is allergic to it. That's why FDA is pushing so hard to clean up the doctoring procedures on the farm.

STALKING IVORY

Lesson for March 19, 1978

Background Scripture:
Acts 3:1 through 4:4.
Devotional Reading:
Acts 3:18-26.

Despite the fact that I had attended Sunday school as a child – or maybe because of it – when I reached my early teens I drifted away from the church. As a maturing eighth-grader I was too busy with other pursuits, including the pursuit of a beautiful eighth-grade girl who had recently moved to our junior high. It wasn't long until we were "going steady."

As I walked her home after school each day she would frequently mention the youth group of her church. From what she said, it was the most interesting group of youth I could imagine. Still, I was resistant, but since it was an extra opportunity to be with her, I consented to go along one Sunday evening.

Something more

From then on I was "hooked." Although the girl and I soon had a parting of the ways, I continued to attend the Sunday night fellowship meetings, as well as the frequent additional activities. Initially, I went because I liked the people in the group. In time, however, I found something even more important: a faith.

It had been an interesting string of circumstances: to be with a girl I had attended in a meeting; because the meeting was fun I joined a group; because I joined the group I found a faith. I got a great deal more than I was looking for.

Often, that's the way it has been with people's spiritual experiences. They have asked for one thing that seemed important and received considerably more than they asked for. This is what happened that day when Peter and John were going up to the temple for prayer and came upon a crippled man lying at the Beautiful Gate. As was his custom, he asked for alms–a hand out (after all, what else was there for a man who was lame from birth?). Unlike many who went up to the temple, these two men stopped and looked at him.

Expecting to receive

Luke tells us that "he fixed his attention upon them, expecting to receive something from them." And he was right, for they would give him something, in fact, more than what he asked for. "I have no silver and gold," said Peter, "but I give you what I have; in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, walk" (Acts 3:6). Immediately the man received what had been denied him since birth: he could walk. In fact, he could run and leap—and he did, praising God!

What happened with that man at the Beautiful Gate is still happening today: we ask for something that seems important, but God responds by giving us something far better. We may come to him with the wrong motives and desires, but if we are receptive, if we expect to receive something, we will and far beyond our expectations.

An old proverb says, "He who goes off hunting ivory ususally finds there's an elephant attached." So we may look for happiness and find it only when we recognize that there's a God attached!

TO BECOME PESTICIDE CERTIFIED

I fear that too many farmers, and other pesticide users, are not going to be able to buy materials this Spring when they want them. The pesticide certification program is in operation, and a certificate with a number is going to be needed to buy many of the materials. Producers should not neglect this certificaction; otherwise, they may not be able to buy the materials when they want them. It takes several weeks to become certified and we urge folks to get this done before the materials are needed. The Penn State correspondence course on pesticides is strongly suggested in order to prepare for the certification examination.

TO TAKE TIME TO BE SAFE

Spring is here and the big rush will be on to get the outside work started. Too much haste can cause all kinds of trouble, including farm and home accidents. Too much speed on farm trucks and tractors have been the cause of many accidents. The permitting of youngsters to ride on tractors and other moving vehicles is risky and should not be permitted. Protection shields and devices should be kept in place in order to protect the operator. We often think that an accident won't happen to me, because I've always been doing things in a similar manner; however, hazards should be removed when recognizied. Also, all safety practices should be stressed to youngsters and employees. The loss of a finger, an arm, a foot, or one's life is not worth too much hurrying.

TO UTILIZE FARM MANURE

This is the time of the year when many barns and feedlots will be cleaned; this livestock by-product is a definite fertilizer item and should be used to grow better crops. Manure that has been outside all Winter no doubt has lost much of it's fertilizing elements; however, it is still useful as soil organic matter and to keep the soil in good condition. Producers should make every effort to spread the manure on good drying days in order to keep odors to a minimum. Also, it is strongly advised to incorporate the manure into the topsoil as soon as possible after spreading. With liquid manure systems. oil-injection spreaders will do an excellent job. The big thing is to use the manure for soil improvement; most soils need it.

TO BE ALERT FOR TERMITES

When warm weather arrives, we can expect activity on the part of both termites and winged ants; these pests will often collect at a sunny window during the Spring months. The first objective should be to identify the insect to be sure it is a termite, and not an ant. The termite will have one elongated body with four large, equal-sized wings. The ant will have a jointed body with two large and two smaller wings. The worker termites do not appear in the open but are small, white insects about ¼ inch long. Publications are available on termites at any of our Extension Offices in Pennsylvania. If swarming termites are found, then prompt action should be taken to locate and eliminate them.

COMMENTS FROM READERS

A farmer's observation of markets and surpluses

Editor, Lancaster Farming: Having read your Feb. 25th editorial in the Lancaster Farming I have a few comments I think farmers should know about.

Your editorial mentioned the farmer's strike and the observations made by a Midwestern observer and I have got to say that I agree

Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council

Join your fellow pork producers in supporting pork promotion and production research to keep hogs a profitable farm enterprise. Tell your market or buyer that you want 10 cents per market hog or 5 cents per feeder pig deducted to support these programs. Most markets and buyers will cooperate fully if you let them know.

The PPPC was formed and is funded and directed by producers. There is no Government Agency involved.

When you shortchange their nutrition, you shortchange yourself.

Looking for ways to cut on down on out-of-pocket feed costs without cutting down on milk production?

Cutting production costs will backfire if you end up shortchanging your herd's nutrition in the process.

But you can cut those costs safely by feeding homegrown grains and grain silage fortified with the right Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mix. These potent pre-mixes contain the proper levels of vitamins, calcium, phosphorus, and other minerals needed to balance your farm's feedstuffs.

Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mixes can be mixed in or metered on any palatable grain or roughage. This lets you change ration content to fit the supplies you have on hand without risking herd performance.

Better herd nutrition means a bigger milk check. Minimum out-of-pocket feed costs mean more in your pocket.

Your figures will prove it.

Dry cow nutrition pays future profits.

Shortchanging your dry cow's nutrition can be risky too. Most problems dairymen experience in getting cows back in the string can be traced to careless treatment during the dry period.

Keep them in top condition until their next lactation. To help you do it, Vigortone has developed unique dairy pre-mixes specially concentrated for dry cow rations.

Now is the time to compare.

See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's cost-saving dairy feeding programs with any other you name.

Livestock market and auction news

Omaha Cattle

March 16, 1978

Cattle - compared with the previous weeks close – closing prices on slaughter steers and heifers were 1.00-1.50 higher cows were mostly steady and bulls firm to 1.00 higher.

Four day receipts 14,600 as-compared 14,100 previous week and 13,500 a year ago. The upward spiral in feed cattle prices extended into the third successive week, and only once in six weeks has a lower trend prevailed for the weekly trading period. Over the past eight weeks steer prices have advanced some 5.00-5.50 and heifers 4.00-4.50 with closing levels the highest since October 1975. Demand was generally good as most interests entered the period with modest live inventories on hand and the upturns were again supported to some extent by higher carcass prices. Best inquiry still centered on choice and prime relatively clean 1100-1300 lb. steers and 950-1100 lb. heifers. Mud was a continuing problem often resulting in 50-1.00 per cwt. discounts in reflection of lowered drsssing per-centages. Steers made up approximately 39 per cent, heifers 40 per cent, cows 10 per cent and feeders 10 per cent.

STEERS: At high time late, load choice with few prime 1232 lbs. 3 with few 4 50.25, three loads and part loads choice and prime 1162-1327 lbs. 50.00, three loads choice with end prime and load choice and prime 3-4 1085 lbs. carrying moderate amount of mud 49.75. Choice 2-4 975-1275 lbs. closed 48.50-49.65, some carrying heavy coating of mud 47.75-48.25. Mixed good and choice 2-3 950-1250 lbs. 47.00-48.25, part load Holsteins 45.00. Good 2-3 44.50-47.00, holsteins 43.50. Standard and Good 2-3 41.50-42.50.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for choice 900-1100 lb. steers this week 48.30; choice 1100-1300 lbs. 48.70. Average weight steers first three days 1131 lbs. as compared 1131 lbs. previous week. Average weight heifers first three days 970 lbs. as compared 981 lbs. previous week.

HEIFERS: Load choice and prime 3-4 1045 lbs. 47.15, six loads same grade 3-4 988-1088 lbs. 47.00. Choice 2-4 900-1100 lbs. 45.25-46.75, some muddy 850-900 lbs. 44.75-45.00. Mixed good and choice 2-3 825-1000 lbs. 43.75-45.25. Good 2-3 40.50-43.00. Small lots standard and good 2-3 37.50-40.00.

COWS: Utility and commercial 2-4 31.00-34.00, few 34.50-35.00. Canner and Cutter 28.00-31.00, some mixed cutter and utility 31.25-31.50.

BULLS: 1-2 1300-2000 lbs. 38.00-42.00, individual 1 43.00-44.00.

cents per hundredweight for the next five years, hoping to build a capital fund of $5 to $7 million during that period of time.

Lehigh Valley, which is coming out from under debts which have burdened them for several years, is not doing it without sacrifice, however. During better times farmers were paid annual dividends on the shares they held in the cooperative. Those payments of interest have ceased and there is some speculation that the face amount of the certificates will go down the drain.

Despite the increasing financial pressures, spokesmen for these and other dairy cooperatives are optimistic about the future. Dairylea is banking on its growth as a consumer products cooperative, Lehigh Valley considers itself to be in an ideal marketing situation with its plants and growing membership, and Eastern has hopes of rolling unhindered once financial stability is established. Another pair of cooperatives – Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers and Inter-State Milk Producers – are waiting to flex their muscles once a powder and butter plant is in operation. The target date for that happening is May 1.

Although the approaches to strength vary from cooperative to cooperative, they all have one thing in common. That is, they need the continued support of their members.

Financial instability among the cooperatives has come more and more to the surface this year due to the increased marketing pressures. Production is up and Class I utilization is down. This situation has not only pressured the cooperatives, it has increased costs for milk handlers. Some of the smaller dairies have closed their doors, many more have notified and continue to notify dairymen that they will no longer accept their milk. The end result is that farmers are being stung.

Bruce Snow, public relations director for the 5000-member Dairylea Cooperative, says that a part of the problem has always been that cooperatives have not insisted on dependable cash flows from milk handlers. He reasons that if dairy cooperatives are expected to have the cash on hand to pay its bills, then the same should be true for milk dealers who buy milk from the cooperatives. He claims this hasn't always been the case. The waiting time between date of delivery of the product and receipt of the payment has cost cooperatives millions of dollars in interest annually. That's a major reason why they're scrambling to build permanent base equity.

Eastern Milk Producers, for example, has been troubled lately by having to send producers' checks out late. Some checks are reportedly covering just a portion of what is due to the dairyman.

Eastern's creditor, the Marine Midland Bank of Syracuse, has suggested that the cooperative's management raise its equity. It's being done through the five-cent deduction. Bolstering current operating costs are dues of 10 cents per hundredweight, three cents of which go into a contingency fund.

The Marine Midland Bank has suggested that Eastern needs an equity equal to 20 to 30 per cent of its total assets. It'll take about five years to raise that amount, according to Eastern's officials.

Eastern's members will receive certificates at the end of each year to show their amount of contribution for that time period. The funds contributed by each patron can be returned in three different ways – 1. at retirement, 2. at death, 3. when ceasing dairying altogether. The funds accumulated in this manner cannot be used to cover operating expenses. Other deductions and the contingency fund are designed for that purpose.

As of December 31, Eastern had $802,000 worth of accumulated marketing costs during the current marketing year, asccording to information released at a recent membership meeting in Lancaster County. The contingency fund has split that figure in half and officials at Eastern predict that the debt will be eliminated by August of this year. Thereafter, the contingency fund will continue to accumulate and be used for capital improvements. It's also speculated that after a number of years, the monies raised through the contingency fund could be returned to producers via revolving funds. Detailed information on this matter will be mailed along with the March 25 milk checks, an Eastern official said.

Eastern's membership is also being told that if marketing costs continue to go up, then deduction will have to go up accordingly. The cooperative is operating on a service at cost program to avoid deeper economic woes.

To further illustrate how delayed payments from dairies are causing a part of the problem being faced by cooperatives, Franklin Wagner, director and dairyman for Eastern, noted that his cooperative is borrowing $7 to $8 million per month because of a lot of their operating needs are tied up in storage and checks from handlers aren't coming soon enough to meet payroll and expense demands.

Snow, speaking from his office in Pearl River, N.Y., told Lancaster Farming during a telephone interview that lending institutions are

EPHRATA – The Cloister FFA Chapter honored its best achievers a week ago at the 16th annual FFA banquet, held near here at the Mt. Airy Fire Hall. Well over 200 members, parents, and guests were on hand for the recognition dinner.

Among the recognized members were Kerry Boyd, Gary Eberly, Jay Oberholtzer and Ron Zimmerman, all of whom captured State Proficiency Awards. Boyd won with his soil and water conservation work, Eberly excelled in beef production, Oberholtzer in agricultural mechanics, and Zimmerman in swine production.

A trio of young dairy judges – Sheryl Bollinger, Curtis Martin, and John Weiler – were called forward to receive their honors for having placed second in the national FFA dairy cattle judging contest held in Kansas City, Mo. last November. They were coached by Lew Ayres, vo-ag instructor at Ephrata High School.

A pair of milk products judges coached by Ernest Orr took the top two places in statewide competition last year. They were Ron Good, winner of a silver medal in the national contest and Barry Herman, who garnered a bronze. Orr teaches vo-ag at the high school.

Ephrata's judging teams are frequently competing on the national level and have brought home distinquished honors. The 1977 dairy cattle judging team, for example, placed second in the nation last November, missing first place by just two points. Team members (front row) were John Weiler, Sharon Bollinger, and Curtis Martin, all of whom received handsome Holstein models for their efforts. In the back row are, left to right: Tony Eberly and Donald Good, national FFA meats judges; Marty Hoover and Will Good, national FFA land judges; Ron Good and Barry Herman, national FFA milk products judges.

Tony Eberly and Donald Good were first and second, respectively, in the State FFA meats Judging Contest held at Penn State University last Summer. Their performance earned them a trip to Kansas City, Mo. Eberly won a gold medal at the national convention site, while Good came home with a bronze. Carl Garl Graybeal, a third vo-ag teacher at Ephrata, coached the young men.

Recognition was also given to the Chapter's eight Keystone Degree recipients and their parents. They are as follows:

Sheryl Bollinger, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bollinger, Lititz R4. She is the first girl at Ephrata to win this distinquished honor. A senior, she holds the office of treasurer of the Chapter, Glen Beiler son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Beiler, Sr., Akron, is a 1977 graduate of Ephrata High School who is presently employed by John F. Martin and Sons.

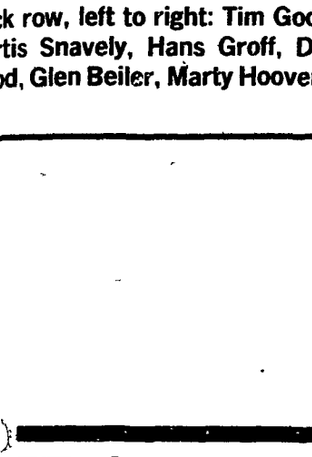
You can't afford not to use Bravo full season.



Look at the university data below. You'll see why leading tomato growers all across the country are using BRAVO® fungicide full season. They're maximizing their tomato yields.

Bravo controls eight different diseases in tomatoes . . . more than any other fungicide. The list includes early blight and late blight . . . anthracnose . . . even blackmold in California.

By protecting your crop early, Bravo promotes vigorous development of young roots, stems and leaves. Healthy plants produce more blossoms and fruit . . . and are better able to survive stress of all kinds throughout the season.

The cost of full-season protection? Growers will tell you that disease prevention can be less costly than a curative program. Reason: You control disease with less frequent and less costly applications all season long. And enjoy bigger yields in the bargain.

Don't wait. See your Bravo dealer now for complete information on full-season protection for your 1978 crop. It's not too early. Big yields start right now.

Horse 4-H club meets

The second meeting of the Boots and Saddles 4-H Horse and Pondy Club was held on Friday, March 10th at the Hempfield High School.

Members were reminded to pay their yearly dues by the April meeting. It was announced the 4-H Expo at Park City has been posponed until May 31 through June 3.

Members were urged to get sponsors for the club's Open House Show to be held on April 22 at the Lower Hopewell Horse Center. On April 23, the club will hold a clinic for members only at the Martingale.

Cindy Wenger presented a demonstration called "Blemishes and Unsoundnesses." Sandy Hamilton gave a demonstration on the topics of "Choosing the Proper Horse," and "Good vs. Bad Conformation."

The next meeting will be held on April 14 at the Farm and Home Center at 7:30 p.m.

no longer interested in working with marketing associations which don't have a strong and permanent base equity. Dairylea, he says, is aiming to raise $30 million with its plan. Basically, what it does, he explained, is to convert dead equity certificates presently being held by members to true equity certificates.

Founded in 1920, Dairylea used to have certificates of indebtedness issued to all of its members. These certificates cost the cooperative millions of dollars in interest and did not represent true equity, Snow said. The new program, which seeks funds equal to 40 per cent of each member's equity, is to be concluded within a six-year period.

As with Eastern's plan, Dairylea has provisions to return respective equity payments to its members. Such payments will be based on a priority system.

Dairylea, with sales last year of $360 million, says that the old certificates of indebtedness were costing them in the neighborhood of $5 million annually. More than $1 million of that amount went for interest alone. The cooperative has about $27 million in outstanding certificates. The $30 million Dairylea wants to raise will come primarily from the membership, with the balance being generated through cooperative business earnings.

Dairylea has 12 plants through which it can market its milk. The co-op is equipped for both processing and manufacturing. Once strong in the powder and butter segment, the co-op took a new direction several years ago and continues to pursue that route. Dairylea believes that marketing consumer dairy products, rather than manufacturing powder and butter, is the way to go in the Northeast. Snow sees no profit or future in the powder/butter route.

According to Snow, Dairylea's burdens were eased when the change was made from powder/butter to consumer products. He credits the cooperative's own facilities for the fact that Dairylea isn't burdened by surpluses as much as some other cooperatives.

Snow attributes some of the Northeast's marketing problems to the fact that Order 2 handlers were faced with increased costs when the Order was amended last year. These additional costs became too much for some dealers and consequently they quit buying from farmers directly. These dealers then told their producers to join cooperatives, knowing that in this way they could receive their milk at lowered

Polled Herefords gaining

YORK – Eastern Pennsylvania's Polled Hereford breeders are helping to take their breed to number one status for nationwide registrations, according to enthusiastic cattlemen in the area. Pennsylvania ranks 27th in numbers of Polled Hereford cattle registered.

Polled Hereford breeders show little surprise for the rise in their numbers. The reasons they give include that Polled Herefords have no horns, grow fast and efficiently on forages with a minimum of grain, and they possess excellent mothering ability.

A thick hair coat allows the Polled Herefords to stay healthy and warm during below-zero Winters. Their disposition is such that it spares fence repairs and extra labor in handling. The white-faced cattle are also easy calvers and great for cross-breeding, including Holstein heifers, say Polled Hereford enthusiasts.

In addition, the Polled Hereford Association is regarded as strong, financially solvent, progressive and offering programs which are unexcelled. Among the services available to Polled Hereford breeders are marketing programs, performance testing, and professional advice through area representatives.

At the recent Southwestern Fat Stock Show held at Fort Worth, Texas, one of the judges, Don M. Anderson of Toowoomba, Australia, said that the Polled Herefords exhibited there were the finest cattle he had seen in his travels about the world judging cattle.

Hog industry

markets are allegedly still somewhat reluctant to cooperate due to the time and costs involved.

Although the rate of occurrence is still very low in relation to the number of hogs slaughtered, it is something to be concerned about. That's especially true since farmers need a market to sell their hogs, and if buyers are threatening to go elsewhere, then hog production could suffer significantly.

Not much is known about the incidents of tuberculosis that have struck during the past six months, which is when significant increases of the disease were first noticed in slaughtered hogs at packing plants. There is some speculation that the disease may have been introduced by starlings and blackbirds which have shared feeding facilities with cattle and hogs during the Winter. Definite increases were noticed during the recent cold months.

Although the starling and blackbird idea hasn't been pinned down, it is known that chickens and hogs are a combination which will encourage the spread of the disease. "Chickens are the biggest carriers of TB there is," says Jerry Clemens of Hatfield Packing Co., Hatfield, Pa. He says some of his slaughtered hogs contained chicken feathers.

The possiblity also exists that some of the lesions being found in hog carcasses aren't really TB at all, says one Lancaster County hog breeder.

At the heart of the problem is the fact that market hogs aren't carrying identification so that infected hogs can be traced to specific farms, whereupon steps can be taken to erase TB. All segments of the industry, however, are actively engaged to do something about it.

The Bureau of Animal Industries sent out letters to each stockyard in Pennsylvania earlier this month urging the management to cooperate in identification programs. Some packers, such as Hatfield, have provided the auctions with tattooting equipment to carry out the identification program. The Lancaster County Pork Producers Association has offered to provide the manpower to make sure the identification get done.

Pennsylvania's Department of Agriculture has been slow in moving on the case because it is reportedly not funded for such projects. A planned program to help was only initiated this week despite the fact that TB has been known to be on the upswing during the past several months.

Hatfield reports they had 135 TB infected hogs during the month of December. They kill about 7000 to 7500 each week, or roughly 30,000 per month. Since then they have looked more and more towards the Midwest for their supply of hogs.

Honors bestowed

Will Good, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob N. Good, Denver R2, is the state's top land judge. Marty Hoover, 1977-78 Chapter president, was the Lancaster County Star Agribusiness man last year. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoover of Stevens.

Dale Martin, has dairy business interests. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Martin of Ephrata. Ron Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald B. Martin, Ephrata R4, is a former winner of the Chapter's agricultural production award.

Incumbent County FFA treasurer Dennis Martin won his Keystone Degree on the strength of his judging scores, farming projects, and community activities. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Stevens. Steve Strauss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strauss, Ephrata, is best known throughout Lancaster County for his expertise with market hogs and market lambs.

Foundation awards, which are funded by the National FFA Foundation, Inc., went to 18 Cloister FFA members. They are:

Agricultural mechanics, John Zimmerman; agricultural processing, Glen Beiler; agricultural sales and service, Curtis Snavely; beef production, Tony Eberly; crop production, Mark Weiler; dairy production, Sheryl Bollinger; home improvement, Dennis Martin; livestock production, Steve Strauss; placement in agricultural production, Rick Strauss; public speaking, Larry Burkholder; safety, Tim Gockley; sheep production, Hans Groff; soil and water conservation, Will Good; swine production, Marty Hoover; Star Greenhand (production) Scott Augsburger; Star Greenhand (agribusiness) James Groff; Star Chapter Farmer, Ray Good; and Star Chapter Agribusinessman, Gary Martin.

Gold medal record book honors went to Ray Good, Steve Strauss, Sheryl Bollinger, Steven Hull, Glen Beiler, and John Weiler. Qualifications for this honor included single or multiple enterprises, or work experience. Silver medalists were Kevin Smoker, Richard Strauss, Gary Martin and Melvin Auker. Picking up a bronze were Allen Ackley, Jim Wenger, Lyn Beiler, Dale Martin, and Marty Hoover.

Chain animals were written up for the following: Dairy calf – Marvin Fox and Marvin Weiler; Market lambs – Troy Gass and Donald Good; Gilts – Tim Gockley and Todd Reed; Capons – Scott Smith and Fred Burkett; Steer – Scott Augsburger.

Adult awards were presented to Robert Lausch, executive vice president of the Brownstown National Bank and Chet Long realtor and auctioneer. Both were cited for their outstanding services to the Cloister FFA Chapter. Honorary Chapter Farmer degrees were given to all fathers of 1978 Keystone Degree recipients and to the Chapter's former student teacher, Lee Spangler.

New role suggested for DER

PHILADELPHIA – Dick Thornburgh, Repbulican candidate for governor, has proposed that the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources (DER) be given a new role of providing business with technological advice in meeting environmental standards.

DER's current emphasis has been almost solely on enforcing pollution-control laws and regulations, he said, and this needs to be "balanced" by an equal emphasis on helping business solve its environmental problems.

Vet school

austere," states Marshak. "But we're used to living with less."

To furnish the necessary funds, Penn has the highest tuition of the 21 vet schools in the nation at $5500 per in-state student year. For a New York resident at Cornell, the fee is $2800 and for a Californian at Davis, the cost is a mere $720 per year.

"We've learned to be very enterprising to raise funds, and we get a great deal from the private sector," Marshak explains.

The school also has fewer instructors per student than Cornell and Davis. Also, Cornell has one-third more supporting staff such as secretaries, stable hands, and technicians. California has two times the supporting staff employed at Penn.

"We're uncomfortable and not as efficient as other schools as far as this is concerned," states Marshak.

Because the school is already operating on an "austere" budget, the $1.2 million deficit is of grave concern. This year the cut has meant reducing costs in every possible way.

"We've done everything from taking out telephones to not replacing faculty when we lose them," says Marshak. The loss of top notch faculty is possibly the most threatening aspect to the vet school's quality.

According to Marshak, veterinary schools across the United States are presently in a stage of great expansion and there is a tremendous demand for the faculty of this revered college.

"I'm always fighting off potential attempts at taking my best people," Marshak

The total accumulated deficit of the University of Pennsylvania as a whole is a great concern for the future of the veterinary school, as well. With a $13 million accumulated deficit, Marshak does not believe the university can support the vet school in the future.

"Next year, alone, the university is looking at a $5 million deficit, and the vet school will be a large part of that," he points out.

For these reasons, Marshak states that two things must happen – the school must get a more reasonable appropriation from the state, and the state must stablilize its commitment to the school. Either that, or lose quality and possibly, the school, itself.

Marshak does have sympathetic ears listening to what he's saying. Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Kent Shelhamer, who is on the bord of overseers for the college, is alarmed with the ramifications should the school be lost.

"This is the only vet school in Pennsylvania," he points out. "Without it, Pennsylvania students have virtually no place to apply." Entrance into vet school is done on a regional basis – Pennsylvanians must stay in the Northeast Region. Therefore, the only alternative is Cornell, which "might take a few" of Penn's 70 per cent in-state student body.

A tuition hike is another of Shelhamer's concerns.

One other ramification of the vet school going out of existence is the loss of New Bolton Veterinary Medical Center in Kennett Square. New Bolton Center is Penn's large animal facility for veterinary medicine. Along with serving as a hospital for farm animals and an educational tool for students it also serves as a research center. Along with all services, New Bolton also runs an ambulatory clinic and provides on-the-farm service with four clinicians. So far, the effect of the budget has not been serious at New Bolton, and Assistant Dean Dr. Richard McFeely reports that next year's budget has not been finalized as yet. He was unable to speculate on what changes might occur in the program should more funding not be appropriated.

"The school has been forced to look carefully at the total program," he commented, "and, we've come to the conclusion that no more reductions can be made without seriously affecting the school."

Several avenues are possible at this point in order to get increased funding for the vet school. Although the governor has made his recommendations for the budget, the legislature actually does the appropriating of monies. A shifting of priorities is still possible when the general assembly considers the recommendations.

Another alternative is a supplemental type of appropriation to the University of Pennsylvania. This appropriation is achieved by sending a separate bill through the House and Senate, passing it in both chambers, and getting the governor's signature. However, the Governor has asked that for the next year, any appropriations beyond the recommendations must be accompanied by a suggestion on which taxes to increase in order to provide the funds for the extra appropriation.

According to Rep. Noah Wenger of the 99th District, many legislators feel more money should be appropriated to higher education. And, steps have been taken to alert the legislators on the state of the vet school.

During the Winter the House Agriculture Committee toured New Bolton Center, and Dean Marshak has met in hearing with that committee. Plans are also being formulated for him to meet with the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"Concern is shared by the total agriculture committee," noted Wenger. "Some attempts on behalf of the school will be made."

Wenger did note, however, that it is important for the university to take a careful look at what it plans to do in the future. Closing the veterinary school could jeopardize the $17 million nonpreferred appropriation they now receive from the state. Wenger reasons that Pennsylvanians are proud of the vet school and to lose it would take away from the prestige of the University of Pennsylvania, since it is one of the respected and essential colleges within the University.

Secreatary Shelhamer has also expressed his views to the governor and assisted with the meeting between the ag committee and Marshak.

Dairy

costs. The reason, says Snow, is because dealers are required to pay freight and other costs when they're receiving milk directly from farmers. More expense enters into the picture if the producers are within certain mileage limits. These costs are cancelled out, however, if the dealer recieves milk from a cooperative. Snow explained that when this happens the dealer and cooperative negotiate a price and the cooperative is stuck with the extra costs of handling the milk. A diary meeting on March 14 in Sussex County, N.J illustrated that, Snow revealed.

"What has happened," Snow said, "is that because of the availability of cheap milk, producers are being forced to absorb the extra costs."

A further observation by Snow is that he strongly believes farmer cooperatives should be more open with their financial record books. He emphasized that the management of each cooperative should release quarterly financial statements to all its members and a CPA audited financial statement at the end of each year. He notes that directors of cooperatives are legally liable for their judgments and could be sued for making decisions which cause members financial harm.

According to information released at a recent meeting of Lehigh Cooperative farmers, the net blend price in Order 2 will sink to as low as $8.40 per hundredweight next month. John York, vice president for the Allentown dairy concern, says prices in Order 4 won't drop that much. One reasons is that Order 4 is not affected by the Louisville Plan which deducts 40 cents per hundredweight during the Spring.

withhold farm production cropland that otherwise would be harvested or planted in wheat, barley, cotton, and soybeans.

Support from the measure has come from a broad cross section of American farm groups, including the American Farm Bureau, largest such organization in the country. (See separate story on page 142).

The bill will also provide for the retirement through a 1-year paid set aside of not less than 31 million acres, with total payments estimated at 2.3 billion, based on a per acre average of $75. The set aside payment would be largely offset by reduced deficiency payments, and the cost to taxpayers could prove minimal.

In the case of wheat and feed grains, farmers would be required to make additional set-asides of acreage over and above those already announced in order to qualify. They would be eligible for payments on the additional set-aside acres.

The bill provides that approximately one-half of a farmer's set-aside payment would be made as soon as the contract is signed. It also requires the rights of tenants and sharecroppers in order to assure their participation in the program. Payment limitations in the 1977 Act would not apply to the emergency set-aside program.

Furthermore, the bill requires the Secretary to administer the program in such a way as to minimize destruction of crops already planted. It also requires him to limit total acreage in any county or community so that the local economies would not be unduly affected.

This emergency legislation would have several beneficial affects, most of which would be felt by farmers and by farm communities in the immediate future.

It will put urgently needed dollars in the pockets of farmers and make it possible for many whose future is now in doubt to make this year's crop.

—It will pump up the rural economy which, in turn, would have a rapid spill-over from the agri-business sectors to the total economy.

—It will reduce surplus stocks which otherwise will be increased to even greater unmanageable levels after this year's harvests.

—It will stimulate cash and future prices for the covered commodities through a lowering of 1978 crop prospects.

—It will serve notice on representatives of other nations participating in the Geneva Conference that the U.S. intends to bring to its grain stocks into line and thus encourage them to with him 100 per cent. Farmers don't know anything about marketing for the most part because they have been led down the garden path to a large degree by the people who make a living working on a margin of profit. In the field of agriculture margin of profit is based on the cheapest prices paid for a raw material and highest prices attainable for its by-products.

In addition to farmers who know very little about the markets, I suggest that 95 per cent of the farm editors only know what the industry has told them and have little, if any, real information out of the market place.

Enough said on that subject. Farmers have got to realize that the products they raise on their farms are raw materials. Milk, grain, meat, and all the food and fibers that come off the land are raw materials from which numerous industries can make one retail item or possibly a million retail items. With this in mind there is no reason to depress raw material prices paid to farmers just because there seems to be a surplus of retail by products in the market place.

I have a dairy farm here in western New York State and have had milk cows since I was big enough to sit on a milk stool. However, I have also worked in the agri-business field enough to see both sides of this agricultural situation. I have also taken a number of trips into the Lancaster County area and I might add that I am fascinated with the neatness of the farms and the sharp fast moving markets. Not only is this area a farmer's garden spot but it is also an agri-businessman's paradise. Why do I like your Lancaster County? Answer: It puts me in mind of waht Orleans County here in western New York State used to be like. The markets in western New York State are now monopolistic. The milk markets are under the control of the co-ops, the outlets for farmers cull cows and bob calves are under the monopolistic control of Empire marketing and most all of the independent outlets have been bought out or forced out of business.

My hat is off to those independent milk juggers who have had the courage to process and market highly nutritional dairy products.

Getting back to milk and the so called surpluses, I feel that if milk is in surplus it is because the people who pretended to be looking after the farmer's welfare sold them down the drain. Farmers have been told to get bigger and become more efficient once they increased in size and debt load they were given the opportunity to prove it over and over again.

In your comments you keep patting the co-ops on the back. I agree that co-ops are good to a degree. Anytime the number and size of the co-ops offsets the number and size of independents, I suggest caution. The manner in which raw materials are handled today is putting all the tools in the hands of the processors.

I shipped milk to one of the largest co-ops here in the northeast for a number of years and I too paid assessments. Although I paid the deductions, it did not make me a faithful member. I had to pay these deductions because credit was extended beyond 30 days, 60 days, and 90 day periods to processors. Anytime I purchased supplies, feed, and so forth I have to pay for those supplies within 30 days or a finance charge is placed on the purchase. However I feel that the co-ops have used their producer contracts to borrow money in an effort to undercut the market and steal the market from their competitors.

There is one thing for certain, if the industry wants more milk all they have got to do is lower the price to the producer. The producer, because of his heavy debt load, will produce more in an effort to pay his bills.

In closing I have one last comment. There are some producers who are saying that the state of affairs isn't so bad but like myself they too have a second income or maybe they are milking 50 cows and 50 farmers.

Sincerely
Walter I. Weatherbee

Swine meeting slated

NEWARK Del. – A series of three special swine meetings with a noted swine specialist from the Midwest will take place this coming Tuesday and Wednesday at the University of Delaware. Interested swine breeders from throughout the area, including neighboring Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, and New Jersey are welcome to attend. The sponsoring Extension Services urge interested people to notify them of their plans, however.

Numbers to call in Maryland are: (all 302 area code) 738-2506, 678-4675, 856-5250, 738-2523.

Dr. B.N. Day, swine reproductive physiologist at the University of Missouri, will give presentations on three different topics. They are: New developments in swine reproduction and breeding management, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Room 116 at the Agricultural Hall, Universtiy of Delaware, here. On Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., Dr. Day will focus on artificial insemination. This meeting will take place at the Georgetown Substation of the University. Again in the Substation Meeting Room, at 8 p.m., the swine specialist will talk about swine breeding management.

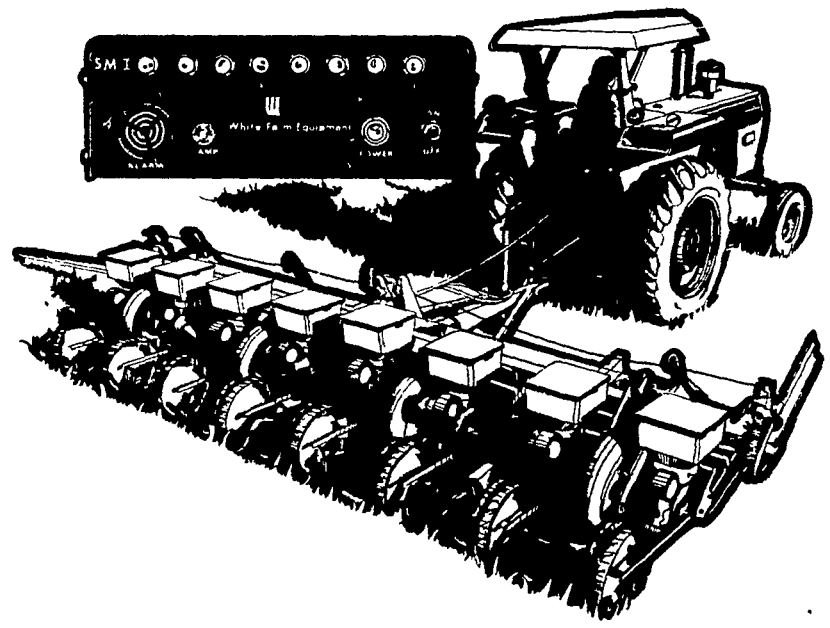
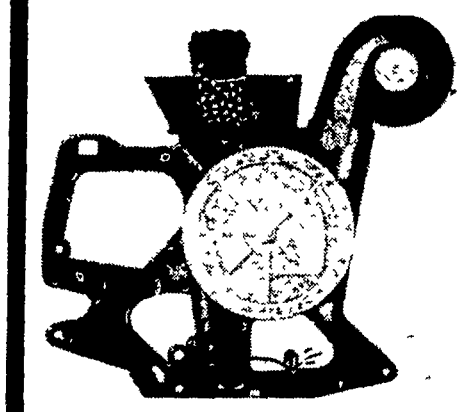
White® Plant/Aire™... the simple planter that provides you with job security.

You can plant with confidence with a White Plant/Aire because the Plant/Aire comes with a standard built-in seed monitoring system. Monitor sensors are built in exactly at the seed drop point for quick, accurate response If there should ever be a planting problem, the Plant/Aire monitor will warn you audibly and visually instantly See us today for planting job security. next fall's harvest depends on it.





Monitors keep close track of planting

Standard equipment monitor SM-1 provides an instant check on planting, through blinking lights which operate continuously Blinking rate is controlled by the seed drop, so the monitor provides a quick visual warning if seed drop in any row falls below normal

If rows completely halt planting, lights stay in the off position. In addition a warning whistle sounds as an audible alert.

Monitors also guard the Plant/Aire's electrical system If voltage falls below normal operating levels a voltage light comes on as well as the whistle warning

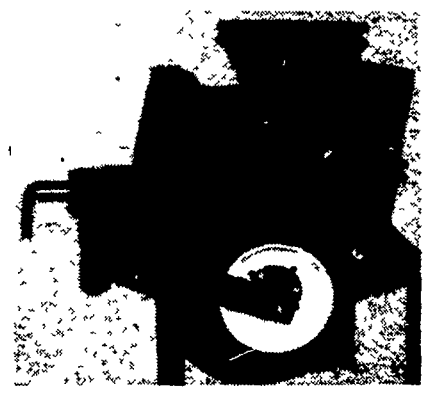
A deluxe model SM-3 monitor is available as optional equipment on the Plant/Aire Features include flexible digital readout, which allows you to check individual rows for seed count

The SM-3 monitor can be set to read each row in progression, giving the seed count for a 15-second planting interval. Then the monitor automatically progresses to the next row and displays the 15-second count. (Total 15-second count is displayed while the monitor automatically reads the next row)

Flexibility built in the SM-3 model allows read out of any individual row, either on a 15-second time check or across the complete length of a field if desired. Two settings, either "time" or "hold" can be used with any row preselected Row monitor lights automatically shut off to indicate the row being read

Digital read-out features on the SM-3 can be shut-off, even while monitor lights remain in operation. Also available is a volume control option for the warning whistle

The SM-3 Monitor is available in a single unit for 4-, 6-, 8-, 12- and 16-row planters.



New For '78: Optional dual gauge wheels, located at the opener for accurate depth control, are spring loaded to prevent trash build up They are easily adjusted with the twist of a single screw. A seed tube deflector (optional) further improves accurate speed placement.

Dr. David Ingraham, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industries in Harrisburg, says that Secretary of Agriculture Kent Shelhamer is very much concerned about the situation and is "very anxious to assist in the program." The Bureau of Animal Industries is coordinating the development of identification and eventually eradication programs, Ingraham says.

In the letters sent to livestock markets earlier this month, Ingraham said: "As you know, a significant number of market swine are showing lesions of swine tuberculosis ... the only way the Bureau of Animal Industries can identify producers is to have each lot of market swine identified by slap tattoos when they arrive at your markets."

The BAI is hopeful of cooperation in the identification program, emphasizing that control of the situation hinges on that fact.

Meanwhile, all hog producers are urged to consider the following precautionary measures:

What can you do to protect your herd? Don't allow poultry of any kind to come in contact with hogs. Keep poultry penned. Don't feed dead poultry, poultry entrails, or poultry litter to hogs. Incinerate dead birds or bury them at least 18 inches deep. Don't use poultry buildings or equipment for swine unless such facilities have been properly cleaned and disinfected. Don't spread poultry litter on fields that are to be used as pasture for hogs or other animals.

Do routinely disinfect swine houses, feeding floors, and similar areas with effective disinfectants. Do protect swine waterers, feed, and feeders from contamination by poultry and wild birds. Do keep wild birds away from swine.

Tuberculosis has been found in crows, starlings, blue jays, pheasants, ducks, and other wild birds.

Should your hogs become infected with tuberculosis, you can help further by cooperating with state or federal veterinarians who visit your farm. They are well qualified to advise you about the disease and methods for erradicating it.

Although cattle have been known to get TB from hogs, it is not a big concern.

Congress

begin serious and realistic negotiations.

Through the stimulation of market prices, the legislation's objectives are to achieve a market price of $3.50 per bushel for wheat, $2.50 for corn, with comparable increases for other grains, 60 cents a pound for cotton, and $6 a bushel for soybeans.

The production and supply objectives are to reduce this year's wheat harvest by at least 15 million acres above the existing 20 per cent set-aside and to reduce carryover from 1.210 million bushels to about 600 million.

For corn, the objective is to reduce plantings by an additional 10 million acres above the announced 10 per cent set-aside. Carryover would be reduced from 1.132 million bushels to about 400 million.

For cotton, the objective is to reduce acreage by 3 million acres and the carryover from 5.8 million bales to around 3 million.

Finally, for soybeans the objective is to cut plantings by 3 million acres in order to maintain a market balance and discourage an excessive shift from other crops.

In addition to the paid set-aside program, the bill contains two other features.

First, it incorporates key provisions of pending amendments to the Farmers Home Administration to liberalize the agency's farm lending authority. Second, it will increase the lending authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation to $25 billion.

Talmadge says a number of bills have been introduced that would do both of these things. Most of them have to do with changing existing loan and target levels. But there is wide disagreement even among farmers and farm groups, as well as among Congressional proponents, on these questions. I do not believe they can be resolved within the time frame under which we must operate.

"This does not mean that legislation to amend the existing Farm Act or to strike out in new directions cannot, or will not, be considered at this session. Indeed, I expect this to take place," Talmadge reports.

"But time is of the essence.

"We need to move immediately to help farmers this year before their crops are in the ground and while there is still time to alter planting intentions.

"I hope that with a crash effort we can move this legislation through the Congress and have it on the President's desk within two or three weeks.

"Under the most ideal circumstances, I realize that this would be a difficult time table. I realize also that the present legislative situation is complicated by the Panama Canal debate in the Senate and the likelihood that Congress may be asked to consider other emergency legislation dealing with the coal crisis.

"But we have a farm crisis as well as a coal crisis.

"The economy already has been damaged severly by both of these crises. Each requires emergency attention.

"It is my hope that the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry will promptly report my emergency farm bill. Certainly I hope this will occur not later than our scheduled meeting on March 15.

"Because of the urgency and immediacy of the farm crisis, I shall ask the leadership of the Senate to lay aside the Panama Canal treaties as soon as my legislation is reported so that it may be considered promptly.

"I also have asked the Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee to be prepared to move expenditiously in the other body as soon as the senate has acted.

"I intend to leave no stone unturned in the effort to pass emergency farm legislation. I urge every member of the Congress to lend their support to this effort. To do less would be to turn our backs on the farmers of the country who are looking to Congress as their last hope."

Spring lamb prices higher

LANCASTER — Lamb prices are climbing, according to a survey of the Lancaster Farming area markets this week, as more lambs are being sent to market for the special Easter sales.

According to Horace Plank, from the Lancaster Stockyards, prices for lambs are slightly higher this year compared to last year's market. With 400 lambs reported at the auction on Monday, prices were reported at $1.00 to $1.30, for the 30 to 35 lb. lambs. Plank noted that there didn't seem to be many light lambs this year.

At the same sale Monday, larger lambs brought the following prices: Choice, 40 to 55 lbs., 75.00 to 105.00; and 60 to 90 lbs., 70.00 to 75.00.

On the auction at the Lancaster Stockyards on Wednesday, choice spring lambs from 22 to 35 lbs. brought between 120.00 to 145.00. Larger spring lambs were also up, 40 to 50 lbs. bringing 90.00 to 110.00; 50 to 60 lbs. selling for 70.00 to 90.00.

At the Vintage Auction, choice lamb prices for those animals weighing 25 to 40 lbs. ranged from 118.00 to 135.00, with one lot weighing 35 lbs. bringing 140.00. Lambs graded good, at the weights of 25 to 55 lbs. were bringing 100.00 to 120.00; with one lot of 19 lb. animals bringing 127.50. Good and choice lambs weighing 55 to 80 lbs. brought 64.00 to 81.00.

MCMP meets today

BALTIMORE, Md. -- Sister Thomas Moore Bertels, a world renowned advocate for agriculture and cooperatives will be the featured speaker at the annual banquet and meeting of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. to be held today, March 18, at the Hunt Valley Inn, Hunt Valley Md.

The annual meeting will convene at 10:00 a.m. with the business meeting being first on the schedule.

Running concurrent with the morning business session will be an informal program for family members or guests who do not wish to attend the business meetings. The alternate program will include an informal presentation by, and discussion with Sister Bertels on the subject, "A Woman's Right to Nag; Inalienable and Essential!" There will also be exhibits on display concerning nutrition education and dairy promotions and advertisements.

The annual banquet, which immediately follows the morning program, will feature Sister Bertels, professor of history and director of public relations for Silver Lake College, Manitowoc, Wis. The banquet program will be emceed by Dr. Gordon Cairns, dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Maryland.

Another highlight of the banquet program will be the presentation of awards in two categories. One category will honor those families who have held membership in the cooperative for 50 years and the other will honor those members who have maintained exceptional quality in their production of milk.

The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. is the largest Maryland based dairy cooperative with over 1,000 members in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Delaware.

Relocated N.Y. farmer makes maple syrup

By JOANNE SPAHR

LANCASTER – "A person who doesn't wear glasses is fortunate in a sugar shanty," said the voice of Arnold Moshier from somewhere out of the thick mist of steam swirling around the little 10 by 18 foot building where he was busily boiling maple syrup.

Although the steam made visibility nearly zero, it didn't stop the other senses from working overtime as the woodsy, homey smell of smoke wafted up from the wood burning evaporator, and the brisk March wind barged in through the shanty door as if to watch the process, too.

When the steam cleared, Moshier was found stoking the fire in the evaporator, (the main piece of equipment used to process maple syrup), making sure the sap from the holding tank was entering the evaporator properly, and checking to make sure the liquid didn't boil over.

"I love this," announced Moshier abruptly as he worked, "making maple syrup is a lot of hard work but it's really enjoyable."

For this music director from Lancaster Mennonite High School, making maple syrup is a tie to the past. After farming for nine years in Lewis County, New York, where maple syrup is the Spring cash crop, Moshier was unable to break totally free from his old profession when he moved to his new home near Smoketown, Lancaster County. As a result, he built a miniature sugar shanty beside his modern home, and treated his residential neighbors to a bit of New York country living.

"Up in New York state we'd tap as many as 1000 to 1400 sugar maples each Spring," says Moshier, "but, here we tap about 15." From those 15 trees, Moshier is hoping to get about eight to 10 gallons of sryup before the season is through.

Unlike New York state where the woodlots abound with the sugar maple, Moshier has found that in Lancaster County the trees have come mostly from nurseries and are yard trees. The maples he taps are scattered around his home area in neighbors' yards, and his brother Elton and a friend tap several maples, as well.

"It takes 40 to 50 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup," points out Moshier, "so, you know it's very weak when it comes from the tree."

Not only is the sugar content very weak, but the sap is very watery and is not sticky like the end syrup product. In order to come up with the syrupy sweet product purchased at the store, the liquid sap must be boiled hard for anywhere from an hour to an hour and a half and on upward.

"If it's very weak, you just keep boiling it until you get it the way you want," notes Moshier.

(Turn to Page 35)

Arnold Moshier, Smoketown, splits wood to stoke the evaporator inside his sugar shack. The steam coming out of the shack is the result of the boiling process which will change the watery maple sap into maple syrup.

After the sap has been boiled for several hours, the syrup becomes the proper density and is then drawn from the evaporator.

Relocated farmer

Right now (at the end of Winter and the beginning of Spring) is the time of the year to tap the trees.

"The temperatures should be from 26 to 28 degrees at night and in the upper 40's to low 50's during the day for ideal conditions," explains Moshier. "But, you shouldn't have rain. Trees don't like rain."

To tap a tree, a hole about two inches deep and 7/16 in diameter is drilled into the bark. Then, a spout or spile is placed in the hole and a bucket is hung onto the hook on the spout. At this point, the tree is ready to be tapped.

The bucket stays on the tree during the entire season until the sap stops flowing, and the farmer visits each tree every day and collects whatever sap has been deposited in the buckets.

"Up in New York State you have to tramp through two to three feet of snow to collect from the trees," says Moshier.

"There are a lot of man hours involved," he continues, referring to the fact that 1000 or 1400 trees are involved.

Processing the sap also takes much work on the part of the farmer. Usually, the main piece of boiling equipment – the evaporator -- is heated with wood, and that requires a lot of chopping and stoking until the job gets done.

Moshier has a miniature evaporator installed in his little sugar shanty. Just like a wood stove, the fire is made in the bottom of the two foot wide, four foot long metal evaporator and the actual boiling is done on top of it. The boiling area is sectioned off into several compartments, and like a labyrinth, the sap flows through the various compartments as the density changes throughout the boiling process.

To keep the cold sap flowing properly from the holding tank into the first compartment of the evaporator, a float is used to insure the liquid stays at a certain height.

The whole time the evaporating process is going on the syrup maker keeps chopping wood and stoking the fire as well as continuing to check the liquid to make sure it doesn't boil over.

"If it starts to boil too much, I put a little cream in it. That calms it down," says Moshier.

When the liquid has boiled a sufficient amount of time, the syrup is drained and filtered through a felt filter to make sure all impurities are removed. It is also checked with a hygrometer for the proper density.

"The two qualities that make a top product are the proper density and light color," says Moshier. "The lighter the color, the better."

The music teacher has found that in Pennsylvania he is unable to get as light a syrup as he could in New York state.

"The color is affected by the temperature, the way you process it, and the trees," he points out.

For good quality maple syrup, New Yorkers are getting anywhere from $11 to $13 per gallon, which may sound expensive, but Moshier points out that it is definitely a pure food product with nothing imitation added.

Of course, there are lots of imitation maple syrup products which Moshier and his family don't like.

"It does taste different," he admits.

Although no one can go into maple syrup making in southeastern Pennsylvania, it is an envigorating hobby.

"It helps me get outside and take out my frustrations," says Moshier.

It also keeps his family stocked with the delicious maple syrup they like so much.

So, for this displaced New York state farmer, the time and the effort involved is worth the eight gallons.

"Nobody could do it for a profit, here," he admits. "But, I like it for a hobby."

This sugar maple in Smoketown has three buckets hanging on it to gather the liquid sap from which maple syrup will be made.

In recent trials... Seven veal feeding programs were compared... and you've got the winner!

In total gains, rate of gain and conversion rate, one program stood out above all others. That's the one on which new Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter, and Finisher are based.

The group on the winning program started at an initial average weight of 111.1 lbs. And finished at 349.00 lbs. An average gain of 237.9 lbs. With a feed conversion rate of 1.66 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

New Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter and Finisher are made from top quality products. From top quality protein, 100% derived from milk products. From 100% animal fat. Because Agway knows that protein quality and fat source are where performance is. As the trials showed . . . quality pays off. Every time.

Every veal grower knows that prime veal depends on the quality and vigor of the calves, on proper housing, feeding management and sanitation. Do all of them right, and the new line-up of Agway Veal Feeds can do a superior job for you.

Carter boosts food aid program

WASHINGTON, D.C. – President Carter has doubled the U.S. food aid commitment to developing nations.

The President has authorized U.S. officials now in Geneva negotiating a new Food Aid Convention (FAC) agreement, to guarantee that the U.S. will deliver up to half of a global food target of 10 million metric tons of grains annually. The World Food Conference set the target in 1974.

Under the new U.S. pledge, developing countries are guaranteed a specific quantity of food aid even in years when supplies are scarce.

Approval of the sharp increase in U.S. food aid guarantees was recommended to the President by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

The new pledge, almost 2½ times greater than the existing U.S. Food Aid Convention commitment which expires on June 30, 1978, will be met under the current level of P.L. 480 shipments. The U.S. commitment had been 1.89 million tons annually since 1967.

U.S. negotiators pledged 4.47 million tons of grain annually to the Food Aid Convention. If other FAC donor countries collectively contribute more than the minimum U.S. pledge, then the U.S. will increase its contribution on a matching ton-for-ton basis. The U.S. will also propose special FAC provisions designed to increase food assistance to meet extraordinary situations in developing countries.

In authorizing the increased U.S. contribution, which was announced earlier this month in Geneva, President Carter said he has taken the step in an effort to solve three major problems affecting food aid programs.

"First, the world level of food aid falls short of the needs of developing countries," the President said. "The international community has agreed that a minimum level of 10 million tons of grain is needed each year. However, this target has not been achieved in recent years. The fight against world hunger through food aid programs cannot be left to the small number of food exporting and traditional donor countries.

"Second, food aid levels have fluctuated without much regard for the needs of developing countries. During 1974, for example, when grain prices were very high and supplies scarce, food aid to developing countries was reduced by 40 per cent just when their need was the greatest.

"Third, the Food Aid Convention has not met the problem of additional emergency needs of the poorer countries. When their crops fail, they need more than the minimum tonnage committed to help them meet their basic food requirements."

Poultry disease

the part of a poultry serviceman. That serviceman allegedly entered an infected building and then proceeded on to a clean flock.

The Lancaster County Poultry Association urges poultrymen to keep their chicken houses locked and to disallow all entries unless they're absolutely essential and then only if all precautions for disease have been taken. "If you must do business with a poultryman, do it in a coffee shop or over the phone," suggests one egg producer who is taking every step to assure the well-being of his flock.

Another area that is being stressed concerns stray dogs and cats, and even rodents. Animals can carry the disease from flock to flock. It's not at all inconceivable considering the close distances between Lancaster County farms.

The Lancaster County Poultry Association's recently formed Larynogtracheitis Task Force is aiming to stop the spread of the disease immediately and to offer safeguards for future years. It cannot accomplish its goals without the cooperation of all of Lancaster County's poultrymen -- large or small. They urge participation in check, vaccination, and control programs.

Lancaster County Conservation

Columbia R2, received the awards.

Steven E. Huber, acting district administrator, gave the annual report of the organization. Highlights of the 1977 year included a record tree seedling sale of 114,000 young trees, an attendance record of the board of directors of 98 per cent, and the adaption of a storm water management resolution. Huber told the audience that the conservation district gave technical service to 153 cooperators, and eight miles of terraces, 6.5 miles of pipe outlet terraces, and 14.7 miles of grassland waterways were constructed.

Speaker for the evening was Noah Wenger, state representative from the 99th district. Praising the group for their part in conservation, Wenger related that he believes that farmers and agri-business people are the kind of people who will work for a living, self-reliant people.

Speaking of the duties of a representative, Wenger explained that he thinks of himself as the closest link between the people and Harrisburg. He helps people with their problem, votes on bills, and his biggest challenge, he related, is providing leadership to the people. Getting involved, he related, does pay off.

Talking on conservation problems, he told that he thinks all the people should try to conserve their natural resources. "The greatest problem," he stated, "is to try and convince people of the need to protect the land and get them involved in the fight to do so."

Touching the various problems of soil erosion, water runoff, and the preservation of farmland, Wenger praised the Lancaster County Soil Conservation District for their efforts. Among those he cited as working long and hard for the preservation of the soil were Amos Funk, Aaron Z. Stauffer, and Henry Hackman, who all have served as former presidents of the state soil conservation commission.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Solanco mixed Octet who sang a medley of songs for the group.

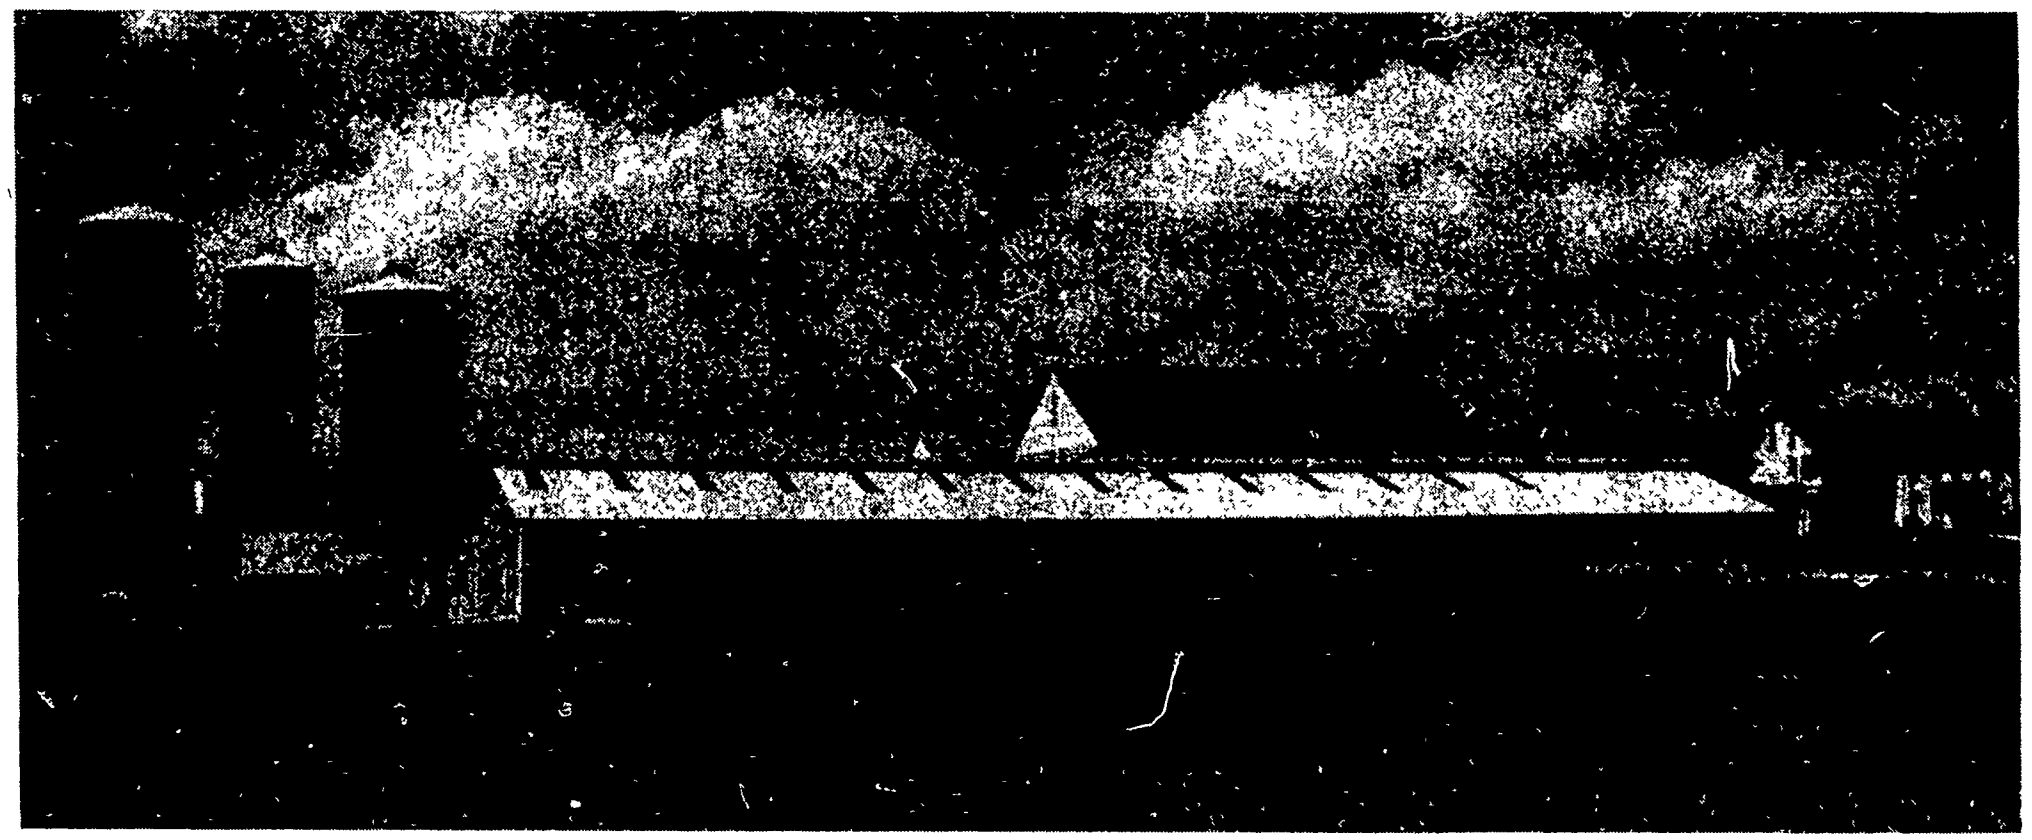
When your son comes home to farm...



You're ready

Expand up

You hoped it would work out this way. The family farm just added another family.

But, now it'll have to support two families. Maybe you can expand outward. But how easy is it going to be to buy or rent more land? And then farm it?

Or, you can expand up.

With a Harvestore® system, you expand by feeding more of what you grow. You fill at the top and feed from the bottom. There are no abrupt ration changes or unfermented feed. You harvest and store forage crops one right on top of the other.

With a Harvestore grain structure, you can expand up by harvesting earlier for reduced field losses. You go directly from the field to storage and avoid the high cost of drying, shrink and extra handling.

Read how other farm families are expanding up with the Harvestore system. Write for a new, free book...You're Ready.

New Wayne Tail Curler Rockets

all the features you want in one pre-starter

New Wayne Tail Curler Rockets is a totally new formula. It contains 18% crude protein with added lysine and fiber for superior performance without a looseness problem.

Added fat, 5% of the total ration, improves palatability and performance. New flavor and aroma ingredients also help make this the most palatable pre-starter ever.

We've also added Wayne's exclusive Boost 'N Iron to help give pigs the extra nutritional boost they need.

A new bag with a special liner helps keep the feed mill-fresh until used.

All of these benefits combine to make new Tail Curler Rockets the most palatable, best-performing pre-starter you ever fed. Whether you wean at 3 weeks, 6 weeks or in between, it's the only pre-starter you need to get pigs to 30 lbs. in record time.

Stormwater runoff takes toll in crops

LANCASTER – Aaron Z. Stauffer, Chairman of the Lancaster Conservation District alerted farmers to losses in crop yields, crop quality and farm income that are caused by uncontrolled stormwater runoff from farm fields. The official stated that the amount of rainfall is the deciding factor as to the crops that can be grown in the area. The crop must draw from water stored in the soil to maintain growth between rains. When rain water is allowed to run from farm fields instead of percolating into the soil, the water is lost to the growing crop. In the times between rains, these crops can experience drought stresses. Quality and yield will be reduced unless water is applied by artified means through irrigation. The costs in labor, equipment and energy to irrigate a crop can be substantial and many farmers accept reduced yields and quality rather than incur the added costs.

Other considerations noted by the Conservation District Chairman were the nutrients and presticides that are absorbed by rainwater and are carried from the field with stormwater runoff. Nitrates, particularly, other crop nutrients, chemicals for crop disease control, pesticides, herbicides and soil additives are water soluble and will disappear down the slopes with the runoff. These elements, vitally needed for crop production, are lost to the crop but the cost of applying them must be deducted from the gross farm income.

Losses in crop yields, crop quality, and farm income are caused by uncontrolled stormwater runoff from farm fields.

The conservationist cautioned all landowners about the toxic properties of some of the pesticides that are applied to crops and home gardens and ornamentals. When these chemicals are washed into streams they can retain much of their toxicity and create hazards downstream.

In addition the official stressed soil loss, the main concern farmers should have in controlling the stormwater runoff from fields that are plowed and tilled for crop production. When soil on sloping farm fields is unprotected because surface vegetation has been removed the soil is subject to the bombing action of raindrops. The raindrops loosen the soil particles, lift them above the surface, place the clay and silt particles in suspension and then the collected rainwater and soil washes from the fields and off of the farm. This process in Pennsylvania has removed over 60 per cent of the topsoil from our farms, and, where it continues, will eventually destroy the source of every farmer's livelihood.

The Conservation District official offered the services of technicians, who work with the District, to farmers and other landowners to assist them in developing a soil and water conservation plan. Persons who have noticed excessive stormwater runoff, muddy water or erosion gullies on their farm or property should contact the Conservation District at the Farm & Home Center, Room 6, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster, PA 17601, telephone: 717: 299-5361, to learn how they can improve or correct their soil and water conditions.

DER committee meets

HARRISBURG – The Agriculture Advisory Committee of the Department of Environmental Resources heard at its March 2 meeting of plans for stormwater management legislation sponsored by Rep. Frank J. O'Connell.

O'Connell explained his desire to have control over stormwater management vested in local governments with advice and guidance from counties and Conservation Districts.

Local governments would be encouraged to accept their responsibilities and would face withdrawal of various forms of state funds if they did not.

Committee members and O'Connell engaged in a wide-ranging discussion of the problem and O'Connell promised to supply Committee members with copies of the draft legislation.

The Committee's Sewage Sludge Work Group reported it has completed half of its assignment with development of a manual on septage, suggested revisions to State regulations on land application of the septic and holding tank wastes and a revised set of Interim Guidelines for Sewage, Septic Tank and Holding Tank Waste Use on Agricultural Lands.

Christopher H. Allen, of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, Work Group Chairman, said the draft manual is an explanation of the Interim Guidelines document with simplified language and additional information for the farmer/user.

It will be submitted to the Department for its use along with the Guidelines. The proposed regulation change will be given to DER for consideration for presentation to the Environmental Quality Board.

The Education and Training Work Group completed a slide series on the Manure Management Manual prepared by the Advisory Committee and will use it to train farmers and government agency personnel in the recommended techniques for manure management.

Grain advisors to meet

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The next meeting of the Federal Grain Standards Act Advisory Committee will be held here April 4 at 9 a.m. in Room 206, South Building, USDA.

Leland E. Bartelt, administrator of USDA's Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS), said the purpose of the meeting is for members to make recommendations on issues discussed at the first meeting of the advisory group on Dec. 14.

The meeting is open to the public. However, participation by persons other than committee members will be limited to written statements, unless their participation is otherwise requested by the chairman.

Persons who wish to address the committee at the meeting should contact Dr. Bartelt, Administrator, FGIS, USDA, Washington, DC 20250; phone (202) 447-9170.

Maryland 4-H graduate is top state corn grower

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – Statewide 4-H programs of the Cooperative Extension Service at land-grant universities throughout the South can trace their origins to the Corn Club organized for rural schoolchildren during 1907 in Holmes county, Mississippi.

So it seems appropriate that, exactly 70 years later, a 19-year-old farmer and vocational school student from Maryland with several years of 4-H crop project experience should be honored as the state winner among farmers of all ages who participated in the 1977 official Maryland corn yield contest.

And the method he used might well serve to remind farmers of a lesson from the past regarding soil fertility.

The young man described is Matthew L. Sauter, Woodstock, who farms with his father, C. Douglas Sauter, on rolling land near the Patapsco river in southwest Baltimore county.

Matthew was honored for his achievement last month during the seventy-first annual meeting of the Maryland Crop Improvement Association, held at the Tidewater Inn at Easton. His winning yield was 191.86 bushels per acre Earning high achievement recognition is nothing new for young Sauter. In early December 1976 he was honored during the fifty-fifth National 4-H Congress in Chicago as one of eight $1,000 automotive project national 4-H scholarship winners. He is now using that scholarship to attend Lincoln Technical Institute in southwest Baltimore.

Appropriately, Matthew's father ended up third in the 1977 state corn yield standings with an official, calculated yield of 180.68 bushels per acre.

Father and son planted their corn in 36-inch rows at approximately the same time last year in late April-early May. Both utilized the no-tillage cultural method, and they applied the same agrichemicals for weed and soil insect control. In addition, their separate fields had identical pH levels of 6.2 (a measure of soil acidity), as determined by samples sent by their county Extension agricultural agent to the University of Maryland soil testing laboratory at College Park.

Since the difference in their yields enters the realm of statistical significance, it might be interesting to try isolating the factor which was the major contributor to Matthew's higher yield. Some of these variables showed up in the 1977 summary sheet of the Baltimore County Corn Club, prepared by G. Richard Curran, Extension agricultural agent. They included the following: different commercial varieties of hybrid seed corn; differences in plant population; and different crop histories in the two fields.

According to Dr. Neri A. Clark, Extension agronomist at the University of Maryland, no conclusion can be drawn by comparing the two commercial corn varieties used, since both are late-season hyrids from reputable companies. Dr. Clark also downgraded the importance of differences in plant population (18,500 per acre in Matthew's field vs. 20,300 in his father's field).

The major factor would seem to be the different crop histories in the two fields, Dr. Clark said. He noted that Matthew's field was planted into timothy sod, while his father's field was a case of corn following corn.

Even with today's array of fertilizer and agrichemical products available, Dr. Clark observed that many modern farmers are relearning the reason for something that most of their fathers and grandfathers practiced. That is the fact that there are definite benefits to be derived from increased organic matter in the soil which results from at least occasional rotation of grain and forage crops.

With market prices for corn somewhat depressed in recent months and the price of hay fairly high, Dr. Clark points out, now is a good time for many farmers to rethink the cropping policy of intensive corn production which has been widely practiced throughout the U.S. in the last decade or two.

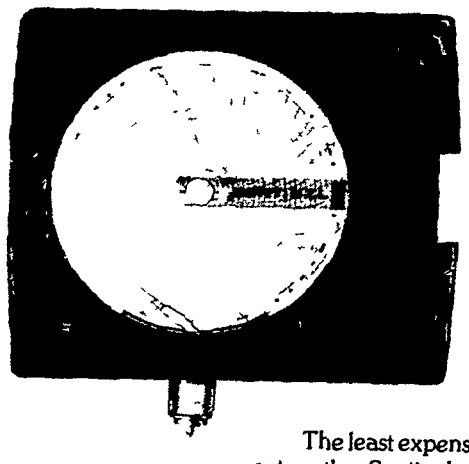
WHO'S MINDING THE MILK?



If you depend upon your milk check for a living, who's minding your milk?

The least expensive, one-shot insurance you can get is the Sentinel — the 10-inch recorder which charts temperature of your milk-cooling or holding tank Here's what it provides

- Permanent proof that proper temperature was maintained
- Record of cooling equipment efficiency
- Cleaning temperature recording on the same chart.

The Sentinel is also available with provision for actuating an alarm or warning light if pre-set temperature is exceeded

Remember — if it prevents the loss of only one tank of product, the Sentinel has paid for itself It minds your milk

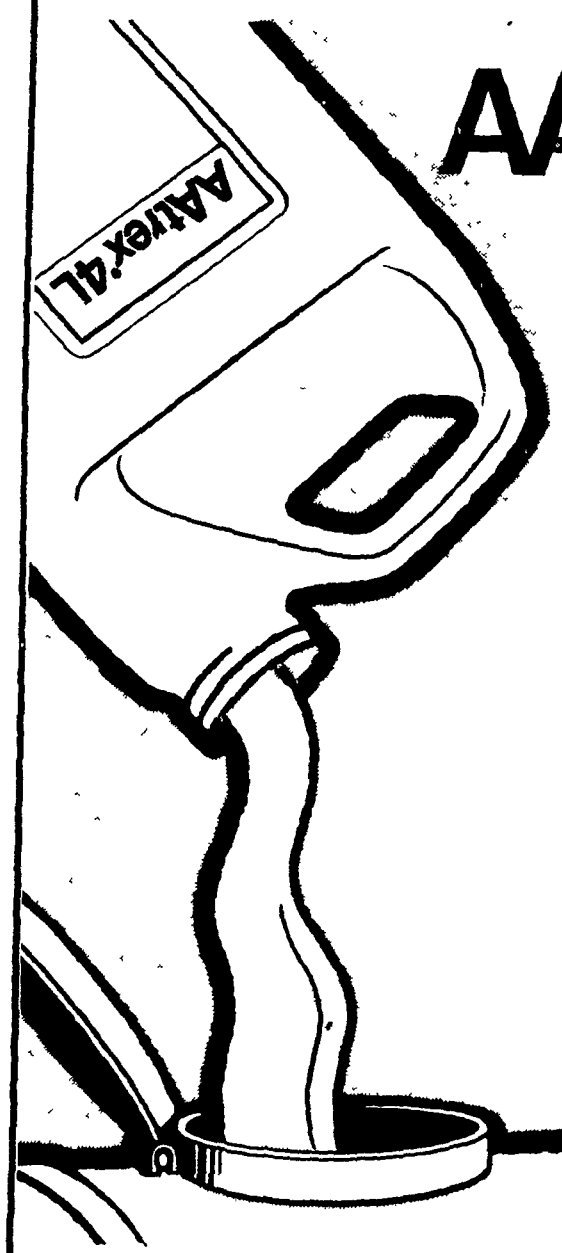
AAtrex® 4L offers you added convenience



The same smooth, pourable, easy to handle AAtrex . . . but in a more convenient, easier to handle 2½ gallon jug. This new jug does two things. It gives you fewer jugs to handle than the 1 gallon size. And it's only half the weight of the 5 gallon jug, obviously. Not so obvious is the fact it empties in 13 seconds and it's completely burnable, for easy disposal. AAtrex 4L. For weed and grass control you can count on. Won't hurt corn; just the weeds. Shouldn't AAtrex 4L be your herbicide of choice?

Part-time farming can be overwhelming, costly

By JERRY WEBB
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. – Factors that combined to make 1977 a disastrous year for many farmers are causing some of them to think about off-farm jobs. Those farmers caught in a real economic wringer don't have many good choices. If the cash flow just isn't there to pay the bills and get the farm started up again in the Spring, a regular job may be the only choice. What else can they do – give up expensive farm machinery that isn't paid for or, worse yet, farmland with an overdue mortage, tighten the belt, stall some creditors and perhaps even search out some new sources of capital for this year's operating expenses.

The temptation of a regular paycheck from a nonfarm job can be almost overwhelming in this situation. Why not take a regular job? Maybe give up some rented land and take care of the rest of it on evenings and weekends. Judging from the number of part-time farmers and the number of full-time farmers who report off-farm income, this is an important economic consideration. But is it the best answer for a farmer who has gone through a disastrous crop year but who is otherwise organized to be a full-time farmer?

The experts say that an off-farm job can actually hurt a full-time farming operation. No matter how dedicated he is, a farmer just can't serve two masters. If he has a full-time farming operation, even though it may not be very profitable, he won't be able to do it justice in a part-time situation. On the other hand, a lot of farmers are underemployed in their present farming activities and might be able to work in a seasonal off-farm job or some kind of part-time, off-farm work quite readily.

It's a decision that should be made very carefully. If the real intent of an off-farm job is to strengthen the financial status of a farming operation, it may in fact do just the opposite. Sure it will provide that extra income to feed the family and pay some bills during a difficult time, but it will also siphon off much needed time, energy and concentration from the farm business.

So instead of solving a problem, in the long run it may just make it worse. Instead of being ready for the Spring farming rush, the now part-time farmer finds himself too busy to do things when they should be done, too tired to work at peak efficiency and he may also be more accident prone because of the rush of a very demanding schedule.

There's another factor that must be dealt with That is, the economic theory that expenses tend to rise to meet increased income. Suddenly that extra job that was only going to be needed for a little while to pay off some overdue bills becomes a necessity, something that can't be given up. That off-farm money can also lull a farmer into sloppy management, indecision and other bad practices that will keep his farming operation in the red for years to come

The real test, it would seem to me, for a farmer who is contemplating off-farm work would be to ask himself what does he really want to do. If he yearns for the security of regular employment with the opportunity to do a little farming on weekends, then the answer is obvious. But on the other hand, if his whole heart and soul are in his farm business and if he can honestly say he would rather do that than anything else, then an off-farm job would probably be a mistake. How could he do justice to his new employment when mentally he's still back on the farm? And on the other side, how can he do his farming job when he must suddenly drop everything, change clothes and roar off to town?

Thinking of the many success stories of agriculture that I read in farm magazines, I'm reminded that many of them started with a small farming operation, supplemented by off-farm income by perhaps both husband and wife. Then as the farming improved, the husband gave up his off-farm job to devote his full attention to his growing business. Then, perhaps a year or so later, the wife gave up her job becuase the farm required her time and attention. And usually these successful farm couples say they're glad they did it that way, and that they wouldn't want to go back to off-farm jobs. So they devote their time and energies to doing what they want to do, building a farm business that is profitable and developing a lifestyle that they enjoy.

• Manheim FFA cites members for achievements

By KENDACE BORRY

MANHEIM – Parents, members, and guests gathered for the Manheim Chapters 25th Annual FFA banquet held March 10 at the Manheim Central High School cafeteria. After a dinner of ham, with all the trimmings, awards were given to the chapter members for outstanding accomplishments in the past year.

The Lancaster County Bankers Award, presented by Harry Sherer, of the Manheim National Bank, was given to Jay Gainer, president of the Club. The Manheim R4 youth won the award for being the outstanding senior in the chapter.

An Honarary Chapter Farmer Degree was given to Lloyd H. Kreider, Manheim R4; for his involvement in the chapter's food sale, and to Abram Faus, also of Manheim R4; for his general support of the group.

Two citation awards were handed out to area business. White Oak Feed Mills, run by John and Mark Wagner, and Messicks Farm Equipment, Rheems, were cited for services and cooperation extended throughout the past year.

The Pa. state proficiency award was won by Earl Geib, Manheim R5. The youth won for his work in diversified livestock production.

One award announced at the meeting was the National Gold Medal Award, won for the first time by the Manheim Chapter. Manheim FFA was one of only five chapters in the state of Pa. to win the coveted distinction.

Foundation awards were presented to members by Earl Geib. Winners included: Crystal Givler, Manheim R5, ag. processing and ag. mechanics; Jay Gainer, ag. mechanics; Dean Ziegler, Manheim R3, sheep production; Steve Miller, ag. electrification; Dennis Wolgemuth, beef production; Tom Good, Lititz R2, livestock production; Clyde Peters, poultry production; Dale Balmer, Manheim R2, dairy production; Larry Hershey, Manheim R6, crop production; Glenn Shenk, crop production; and Glenn Miller, swine production.

Several members were awarded for their placings in county contests. Crystal Givler was recognized for her expertise in meats judging, and Troy Gibble and Barry Geib received recognition for their work in county livestock judging contests.

Winners at the state FFA contest held at Penn State were also recognized. Winners included: Larry Hershey, tractor driving; Tom Good, livestock judging; Jim Saylor, land judging; Jay Gainer, Ag. mechanics; Dave Stehman, small gasoline engines; Dave Farmer, small gasoline engines; and Stephen Hershey, agronomy.

Honor roll recognition was given to the following members: Crystal Givler, Jay Gainer, Dale Balmer, Steve Miller, Clyde Peters, Stephen Hershey, Dave Farmer, Bill Landis, Barry Geib, Jim Hess, and Duane Martin.

Keystone degree awards which had been announced recently were also mentioned. Those chapter members who had won the state title included Jay Gainer, Gerry Kready, Dean Ziegler, and Dale Balmer.

In the county project book contest, gold winners included Dale Balmer, Tom Good, and Stephen Hershey. Silver winners were Glenn Miller, and Glenn Shenk, and bronze was awarded to Crystal Givler and Dennis Wolgemuth.

There were also four state project book contest winners. Gold was awarded to Tom Good, Glenn Shenk, and

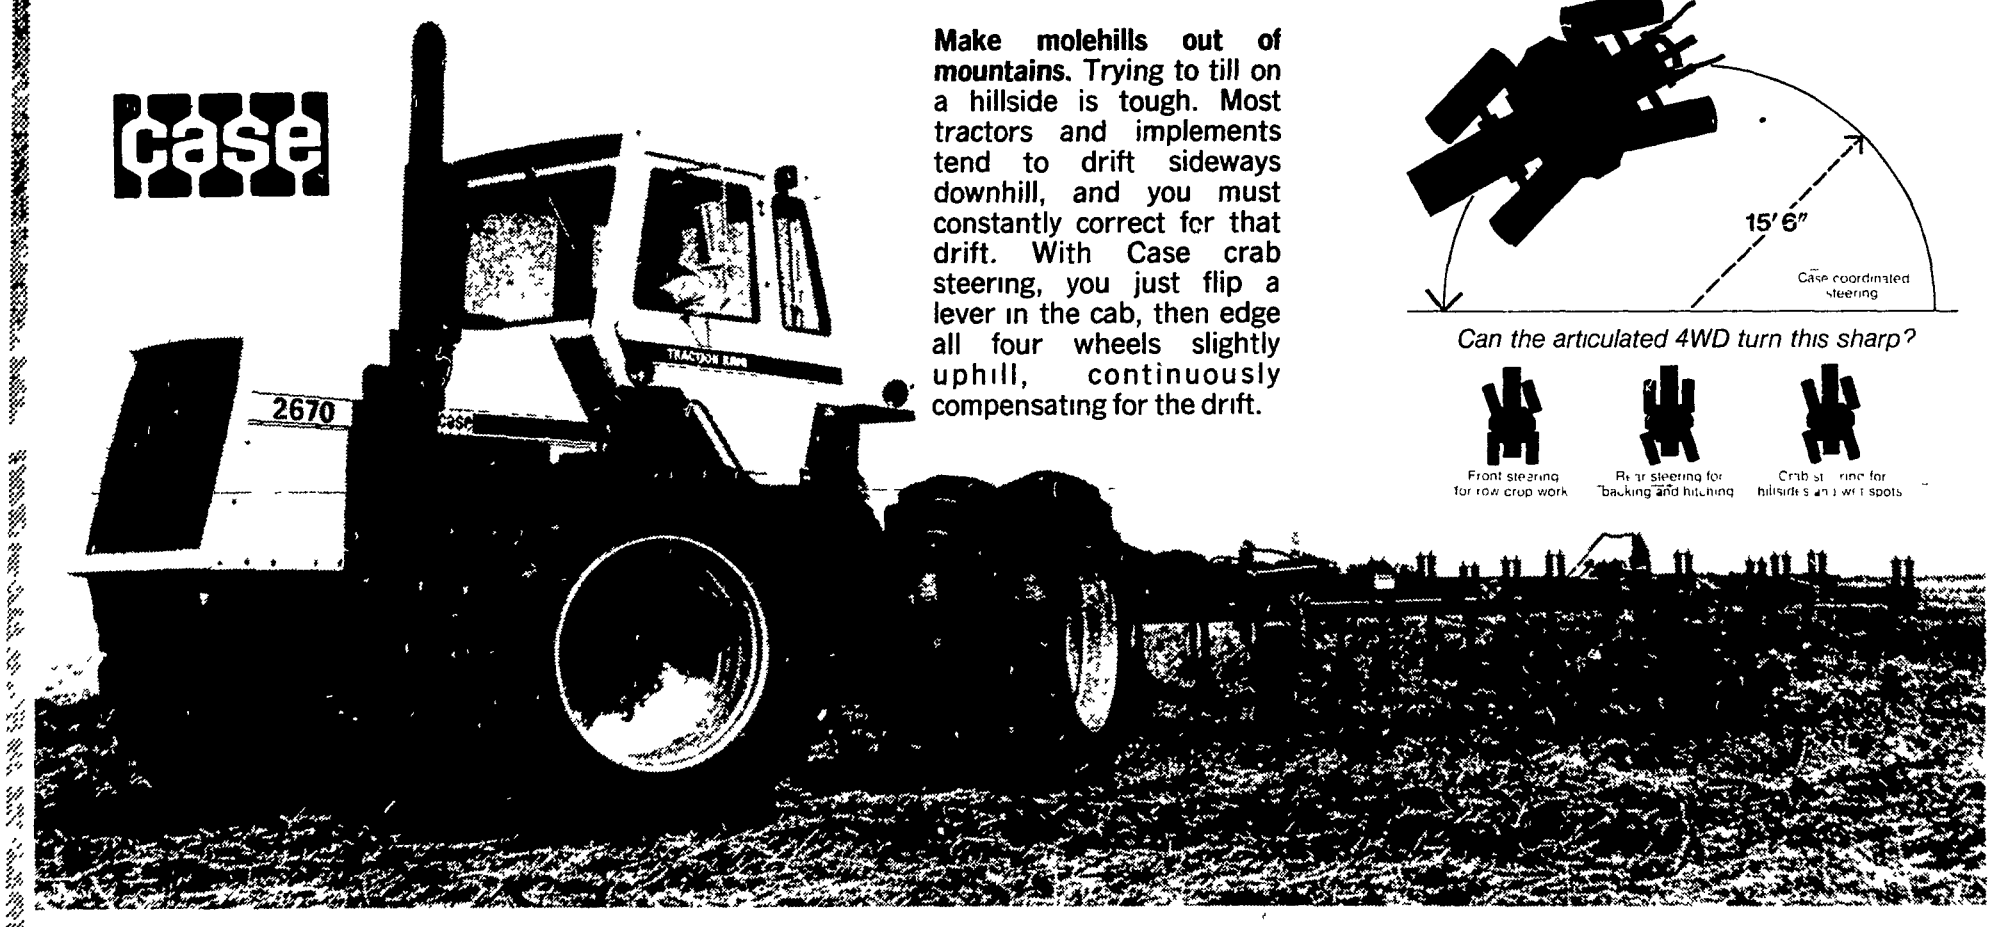
case



Case does it all! If you have a large farm, you've probably thought about 4-wheel-drive power, but were afraid you'd have to sacrifice 2-wheel versatility and maneuverability. With Case you can enjoy both. First of all, with the 2670 you can get a 3-point hitch as well as independent power takeoff for your row crop farming needs. Plus 4-way, 4-wheel steering that works equally well for tillage, row crop and pto jobs.

Make molehills out of mountains. Trying to till on a hillside is tough. Most tractors and implements tend to drift sideways downhill, and you must constantly correct for that drift. With Case crab steering, you just flip a lever in the cab, then edge all four wheels slightly uphill, continuously compensating for the drift.

Get hitched fast. Just flip the control lever to rear wheel steer. You can maneuver right up to your implement, and with the optional quick coupler be hooked on and moving in seconds. With the inching pedal, you have positive control even in the confines of a machinery shed.

Tight Spots? Not with Case! Get in too close to a fence? Or maybe just trying to get that big tractor and wide implement through a narrow gate gets you all tied up? Not so with a rigid frame Case. Use coordinated steering for tight turns, or crab steering to pull away from a border, fence or ditch, or trying to line up a forage unloading box with a blower. When you pay for 4-wheel-drive power, you deserve this versatility and maneuverability.

Can the articulated 4WD turn this sharp?

Front steering for row crop work

Rear steering for backing and hitching

Crab steering for hillsides and wet spots

550 converge for Penn Manor FFA banquet

By JOANNE SPAHR

MILLERSVILLE – Five hundred fifty blue jacketed Future Farmers of America members, their parents, and guests filled the cafeteria of the Penn Manor High School last Thursday evening to celebrate that chapter's annual FFA banquet.

This year, a total of 155 members were enrolled in the Manor chapter. Of that 155, 63 greenhands, 29 chapter farmers, 10 Red Rose farmers, and 10 Keystone Farmer degress were given out to members.

Out of all the greenhands, one young man, Doug Ostberg, was chosen this year's star greenhand, or the most outstanding freshman member of the FFA. Ostberg also earned this year's award for best performance in the FFA creed contest.

Nelson Breneman, 1977-78 parliamentarian for the chapter, earned the title of star chapter farmer, and winning the star red rose farmer award was Fred Charles.

Among other top awards handed out on Thursday evening was the Bankers Award which was bestowed upon Robert Bachman, who also took the FFA proficiency award in beef production.

Garnering the honors for the outstanding farm program of the Manor FFA was Steven Shertzer, a foundation award, proficiency award, and trophy winner in crop production.

Jim Breneman, the 1977-78 chapter treasurer, earned this year's Dekalb Award. Breneman also earned a foundation medal in dairy

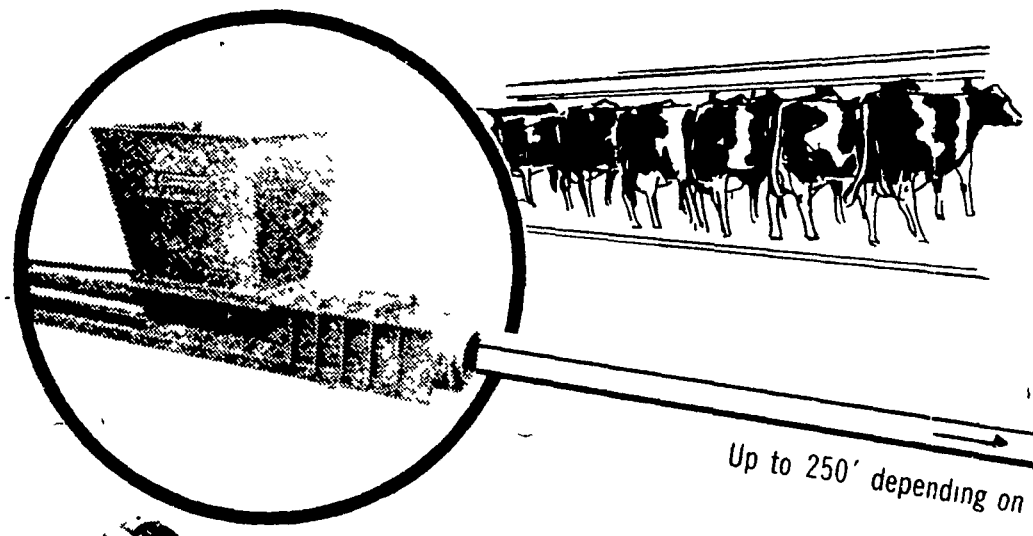
SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE
HYDRAULIC MANURE PUMP



Check these Agromatic features before you buy any other manure moving system.

- Agromatic efficiency. Moves manure from your barn to storage the efficient way. Hydraulic pumps have less moving parts giving you longer equipment life. No chain freeze-ups in winter, no unsightly equipment at your barn.
- Agromatic exclusive shear bar designed to handle manure with long straw.
- Big capacity to handle output from long gutter cleaners or any other barn cleaning equipment. Large 12" x 12" plunger moves material at six strokes per minute.
- Simplicity of installation and servicing. Agromatic moving parts are easily and independently removable. Pump is completely exposed for inspection at any time.
- Choice of 7½ or 10 HP drive unit.

Reliable Power Pack with high quality components. Compactness allows unit to be installed away from the manure pump pit.

Shear bar action handles manure with long straw. Notice the straight line push. No elbows on pump to increase resistance. Straight push to PVC pipe increases pump efficiency. Depending on the type of manure, the length of stroke is easily adjustable.

production and a proficiency award in poultry production.

Special agriculture awards went to Art Reixinger and John Walker. Reixinger also won proficiency laurels in agriculture sales and service and received a foundation award for ag mechanics.

Other proficiency winners were: Kevin Kilheffer, farm and home improvement; Janie Peiffer, public speaking; Lewis Witmer, ag processing; Steven Todd, swine production; and Jay Neff, placement in agriculture production.

Those earning foundation awards were: Janie Peiffer, public speaking; Philip Shertzer, soil and water management; Lewis Witmer, placement in processing; Doug Zimmerman, placement in ag production; Richard Haines, swine production; Coleen Harnish, poultry; Jay McMichael, beef; Tim Fry, sheep production; Steve McMichael, diversified farming; and Tim Kreider, sales and service.

Another coveted title, most improved senior, went to Lewis Witmer.

Winning this year's chain animals were Jim Harnish, Wayne Hess, and Bob Herr, chain gilts; Wayne Hess, chain lamb; Jay Musser, chain calf; and Bob Herr, chain bees.

Junior FFA awards went to Shawn Charles and Gerald Hess.

Certificates of appreciation went to Madeline Elicker, secretary; Randy Walker, local fair supporter; Rohrer Witmer, livestock judge; Wilmer Shertzer, supporter of local fair; and Ken Garber, judge.

Inducted into the Manor Chapter as honoary chapter farmers were Robert Kendig, Elvin Hess, and The Washington Boro Lions Club.

Also honored on Thursday evening were the chapter's 10 Keystone Farmers. Those seniors include: Robert Bachman, Lewis Witmer, Steven Todd, Doug Zimmerman, Jim Breneman, Richard Falk, Carl Lindeman, Jay Neff, Steven Shertzer, and Philip Shertzer.

Advisors to the chapter are August Birchler, Michael Burton, Stephen Smith, and Douglas Stoner.

Officers for next year will be Janie Peiffer, president; Gordon Long, vice president; Ramon Hunt, vice president; Kay Shertzer, secretary; Nelson Breneman, treasurer; Jay McMichael, reporter; Fred Charles, sentinel; Jeff Risser, corresponding secretary; Steve McMichael, parliamentarian; Coleen Harnish, historian; Chris Riggs, chaplain; and Dave Wiker, advisor.

Peach industry hears about USDA marketing services

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. – "We must make every attempt to keep our programs in tune with the changing needs of agriculture and the peach industry because we are aware of your industry's contribution to national agriculture," U.S. Department of Agriculture official Barbara Lindemann Schlei told members of the National Peach Council meeting here last month.

Ms. Schlei is the administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

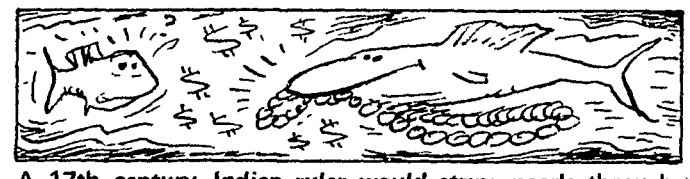
Ms. Schlei discussed AMS services with the peach industry. "In cooperation with state departments of agriculture, AMS provides shipping point market news reports during the active marketing seasons for mot of the major commercial peach crops grown in the U.S."

AMS attempts to stay up-to-date with developments in the peach industry. "For example," Ms. Schlei said, "reporters are quoting peaches by flesh color rather than by variety, where prices are not affected by variety.

"Also, on Jan. 1, we began measuring supply in 10,000-pound units for daily reports and 1,000 hundredweight units for seasonal reports. Rail cars will be converted on the basis of 48,000 pounds for refrigerator cars and 35,000 pounds for piggyback vans."

Ms. Schlei also discussed the Direct Marketing Act, which AMS administers. "Three of the seven direct marketing grant recipients in 1977 – Georgia, South Carolina, and New Jersey – are among the five largest peach producing states."

Marketing orders are another important service AMS provides the peach industry, she said. "The limited control of marketing orders, in providing an orderly flow of the commodity to market, is of significant value to both farmers and the public."



A 17th century Indian ruler would string pearls through the gills of fish he caught and throw them back.

WANTED:

tractor dealers to make and sell profit!

Case Franchises Available In The Reading & Everett, Pa Areas.

When you're selling farm machinery, your customers rightfully demand products that will turn them a profit And being a businessman, you in turn expect a profit from your services

You both profit with a Case tractor franchise As a Tractor Specialist, you will sell 14 sizes of farm tractors and a line of heavy-duty tillage tools Period You needn't scatter your selling power over the full range of farm machinery Your service shop is expert on one commodity farm power Your parts inventory is cleaner and more financially manageable Your used equipment lot consists largely of faster moving used tractors

Light construction power too if the Case utility tractor franchise is available in your territory Call or write us We'll be glad to outline the full potential of a Case franchise in your area

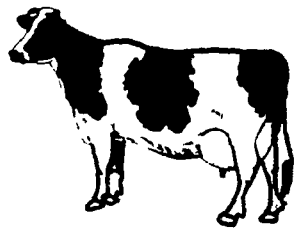
ATTENTION



DAIRYMEN AND LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS

Are you getting maximum production and profit from your livestock? Is your herd healthy, or are you having endless problems: It is a known fact that 90 - 95 per cent of all the problems with livestock are nutritional, improperly balanced diets. That is why SYMO-LIFE, INC. has developed a program to make your livestock operation more profitable whether it be Dairy, Beef or Swine. We test your forages and grains and computer formulate your rations for maximum production and feed efficiency. For further information contact:

ATTENTION CORN GROWERS

It's corn planting time again and we have fine quality hybrid seed corn to offer this year. If you pick and shell, we invite you to try 80X, 791, 800 or 790A. These are medium season corns with high yields. If you like full season try PA 8703, 815 or 808. These numbers did extremely well last year. 806 has been a well liked hybrid for many years. For silage we recommend 900 with lots of grain We also have short season corn. Prices range from $20 to $25 for flats and $11 to $21 for rounds. We give quantity discounts. We have been growing seed corn for thirty years. We also have clover, alfalfa and oats seeds We also sell Atrazine, Princep and other spray materials.

AUCTION

The community phenomenon

By SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: Typically, "Homestead Notes" recounts items of interest to rural homemakers, but today's article deviates from that theme slightly to reflect and capture the essence of a community phenomenon flourishing at this time of year in the country. The last few weeks before Spring planting gets into full swing are filled with a type of activity which offers a wide variety of enjoyment for the farm family from the toddler to the grandfather. This phonomenon is known as the public sale.

Although the purpose of the public sale is to sell equipment, cattle, and farm produce such as stored grain and silage, a lot more than financial transactions takes place. A majority of public farm sales occur right after farm taxes are paid and at the same time that arriving seed corn, fertilizer bills, and insurance premiums are forecasting the coming of Spring. With money matters as stretched as they are this time of year, the farmer attends a sale with a keen eye for a bargain and an even keener ear tuned for some friendly conversation, local news swapping, and general complaining about the state of the economy, farm commodity prices, and legislative action.

Most farmers spend more time talking than bidding at these sales and some spend as much time eating as talking if the supply of homemade chicken corn soup and pies hold out long enough. For those who have never been to a farm dispersal sale, this article will outline the basic characteristics of such enterprises and for those veteran sale goers, will hopefully point out the specific drawing points of these ventures.

On the day of the sale long rows of pickup trucks with licenses from several states line the lane and public roads. In muddy conditions, the vehicles stay along the roads rather than spread out over the hay field closest to the site of the bidding.

Once parked the sale-goer inspects the lines of equipment and rows of old barrels, locust posts, chicken crates, and other items too large to pile on a flatbed wagon. A quick look at the whole display precedes a more careful scrutiny of specific items of personal interest such as the condition of the gears on the chuck wagon or the production record of a cow.

Dispersed throughout the assessment process are welcome interruptions from acquaintances:

"How are things at your place, Joe?" This opens the way to more:

"My cousin was telling me that your neighbor sold his farm to a guy from up country. Is that right?"

And:

"I was at a sale two weeks ago and every farmer in the county must have been there. It was a terrible crowd. Stuff really sold high, too."

Or:

"I just bought one like that last week for half that price and it was in better shape than that."

Of couse, there is also a lot of conversation in Dutch which when translated probably says the same things.

Sometime during the day's business, the sale-goer purchases his lunch, as well as his mid-afternoon-snack, and before-milking-or feeding-bite at the food stand run by a local women's auxiliary or church or Farm Women's group. Garages or sheds are proverbial sites for these food stands and a steady stream of customers select from the shoofly, cherry, apple pies, hot dogs, corn soup, coffee, and punch.

Most farmers spend more time talking than bidding at these sales, and some spend as much time eating as talking if the supply of homemade chicken corn soup and pies holds out long enough.

Homestead Notes

Meanwhile, the auctioneers are perched atop a sturdy box or on top of a wagon calling off numbers as fast as winks or nods or flicking index fingers signal competitive bids. Now and then the auctioneer will address the reluctant crowd concerning the merits of a particular item:

"Now, I know for a fact that this second cutting alfalfa is worth a lot more than that."

"Summer's coming, John, You'll be needing that tan, and you know it!"

While men are bidding and women are selling food, the younger children play tag or scramble over walls or piles of hay or straw and older boys stand in bunches with their hands in their pockets leaning against tractor tires talking much like their dads do.

All the while these activities are taking place, the clerks are busy registering patrons as they arrive for a number – a practice which reduces a lot of confusion when recording purchases since there could be two dozen Beilers, Stoltzfus's, Hess's or Herr's. The clerks keep recording purchases as sheets arrive via an energetic young runner making frequent speedy trips from the auctioneer to the clerk's table and back to the auctioneer throughout the day. Adding up purchases and settling accounts take up much of the last part of the day's work for the clerks.

After it is all over and everything loose on the homestead has been knocked down to the highest bidder and the women have long since packed up their empty pie pans and soup kettles and gone home with a nice treasury for some charitable cause, the last of the crowd goes home, too.

The clerk have figures whizzing through their heads.

Small, weary children, with stomachs full of punch and hot dogs, children with soggy shoes or tired feet from dragging boots around all day are happy from the day's play with cousins and old and new friends.

Happy buyers with smiles on their faces turn onto the main highway with a good bargain or two in the back of the truck and maybe a not-so-happy wife sitting in the front who could smile more readily over a new sofa than over that speckled cow waiting to be hauled home.

Disappointed bidders sour grape to a companion:

"If I had raised him five he'd probably have gone on a long time anyhow. Oh well, maybe I'll get it at that sale next week."

A quick glance back through the rear window will show the remains of a career's inventory. Scattered pieces of machinery awaiting transporting to a new homestead present a dismal sight. Hopefully, the Spring is coming! I know it for I could smell it in the air this week and as a result, I came down with a fevered attack of Spring Fever Much as I like Winter I'm ready for the green stuff, and looking forward to seeing real grass

Spring Fever means I start rummaging in the closet, looking for the old tennis racket, my baseball bat, and jogging shoes. Away go the ice skates, the ski jacket, and the long underwear

I go out to the barn and start making lectures to the animals about getting more exercise Spring to me means activity, and I can't stand to see those lazy beasts just hanging around the barn, wasting the day

Then it's out to the garden where it waits, neglected I try to picture how it will look in a few short months when the strawberries are ripe, and the battle to beat the weeds is in full swing My mouth waters thinking of fresh salads with real lettuce and tomatoes

Up in the tack barn I drag the blankets and horse equipment out of the trunk and start dusting them off Soon it will be time for those long trail rides, shows, and fun jaunts across the countryside.

But what's that I hear? More snow coming? Oh, come on, you've got to be kidding! I just had my first glimpse of the ground this week since December! Rats!

Now if I could only remember where I threw that snow shovel.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Co. Society 8

The February meeting of Berks County Farm Women Society 8 was held at the home of Shirley Lesher, Bernville R1. Fourteen members were present.

The group's first ham on roll sale for this year will be held April 1. Orders must be handed in at the March meeting.

President Helen Shirey will be sending for reservations to the Spring Rally. Also at the meeting, plans were discussed for the group's tenth anniversary celebration.

After the meeting baby pictures of the members were shown. Each member tried to guess who each picture was.

For the March meeting, members are to meet at Bernville.

Lancaster Co. Society1

The monthly meeting of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 1 was held at the home of Mrs. Hazel Ulrich, with Miss Rachel Bollinger, cohostess. Twentyfive members were present

A quilting demonstration was given by Mrs. Ray Eshleman

During the business meeting, the group decided to have a garage sale on April 15, at the home of Mary Kurtz, Rothsville.

Following the meeting, an auction of food was held.

The next meeting will be held April 1 at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center. The group will entertain Society 21 with a covered dish luncheon starting at 12:30 p.m.

Lancaster Co. Society 9

Dessert in a St. Patrick's Day theme was served prior to the March 9 meeting of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 9. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Huber, Sr., with Mrs. Florie McClenaghan acting as cohostess.

President Rosalee Swearingen presided at the business meeting. Donations were motioned to be given to the Easter Seals, Cerebral Palsy, and Emergency Fuel Committee.

On April 6, Society 20 will entertain Society 9, at noon, at the United Methodist Church, Quarryville. Next meeting of the group will be April 14 at the Conestoga Community Center, Conestoga. Society 9 will be entertaining Society 29.

Lancaster Co. Society 14

Lancaster County Society of Farm Women 14 held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Clara Rohrer, Smoketown. An organ recital welcomed the members. A luncheon dessert was served by cohostesses, Mrs. Elma Barge, Mrs. Helen Breneman, and Mrs. Ruth Longenecker.

Lancaster Farming's assistant editor, Joanne Spahr, spoke on "Why I write a Humorous Column" to the group.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs Violet Hostetter. Twenty dollars was donated to Easter Seal. The group's 1978 State project will be 'Reading for the Blind'. Vote for County project favored Lancaster Youth Camp sponsored by Teen Haven with a close second in favor of Welsh Mt. Dental Clinic.

Announcements were made concerning: Spring Rally, May 17, 1978 at Hershey, Society 25's invitation to a covered dish luncheon April 8, noon, at the Farm and Home Center, Craft Show at Park City, April 7 and 8, sponsored by LARC.

A Freezer Fill Sale followed the Business Meeting.

The next meeting will be a dinner with husbands and friends invited. It will be held April 11, at 6:30 p.m. at Indian Springs Golf Club Restaurant, Landisville, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Denlinger will show slides and narrate their trip around the world.

Lancaster Co. Society 19

On March 11, Lancaster County Farm Women Society 19 entertained Society 8 at the Landisville Church of God. A shared meal was served in the social room followed by a time of getting acquainted.

Amos Herr, Landisville, entertained the group by showing pictures from his trips to Europe. The pictures taken were from the Alps, France.

Society 19 has decided to accept as a project the opportunity of helping with a nutrition program in the special education class at Centerville. It was also decided to donate $25 to the Easter Seals.

Lancaster Co. Society 25

Members of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 25 met March 11 at the home of Mrs. Labon Byers, Lancaster R6.

Home on The Range

Golden broccoli

This week in honor of St. Patrick's Day "Home on the Range" is featuring cooking with greens. Although this is not one of the more popular type's of food to cook with, it is a complement to any meal.

As a buying guide for greens, the homemaker should look for young, tender, crisp leaves free from bruises, excess dirt, and coarse stems.

To prepare the greens, she should cut off the root ends, wash them several times, lifting them out of the water. In this way, the sand sinks to the bottom of the vessel.

Af far as when greens are in season, some types are available all year round.

GOLDEN BROCCOLI

2 (10 oz.) packages frozen broccoli
1 can cheddar cheese soup
¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs
4 slices cooked bacon

Cook vegetable. Place in 1½ quart dish. Pour in blended soup and milk. Top with crumbs and bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Add crumbled bacon.

CREAMY PEAR-LIME MOLD

1 (4 serving) envelope low calorie flavored geletin
1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons skim milk
1 (16 oz.) can dietetic packed pear halves, drained and diced
1 medium banana, peeled and sliced

Prepare gelatin following package directions. Beat cheese with milk, slowly add gelatin beating until light and fluffy. Chill until partially set. Fold in pear and banana. Pour into 4½ cup mold. Chill until firm. Serves six.

ASPARAGUS PARMESAN

1½ pounds asparagus
½ cup butter, melted
½ cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Wash asparagus. Put into a small amount of boiling water (salted) in a skillet. Bring to boiling, reduce heat, and cook for five minutes, uncovered; cover and cook 10 minutes or until just tender. Pour melted butter into a greased 1½ quart casserole. Put cooked asparagus into casserole and sprinkle with mixture of grated cheese, salt, and pepper. Bake at 450 degrees F. for five to 10 minutes, or until cheese is melted. Makes about six servings

SPINACH WITH SCRAMBLED EGGS

2 pounds fresh spinach
1 tablespoon oil
5 tablespoons chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
4 eggs
2 tablespoons butter

Pick over the spinach very carefully, wash in several changes of water. Leave to drain in a colander. Heat the oil in a pan; add the spinach and cook for 10 minutes. Drain thoroughly, squeezing out all the liquid. Stir in half the parsley and season with salt. Keep warm. Beat the eggs in a bowl with the remaining parsley and season with salt and pepper. Melt the butter in a pan and, stirring, cook the eggs until lightly scrambled. Arrange the spinach in a serving dish and spoon the scrambled egg in the center. Serve at once with freshly made toast. Makes four servings. Cook's tip: Spinach needs careful handling as the tender dark green leaves bruise easily. Choose crisp leaves and reject limp ones which will be stale.

WILTED LETTUCE

2 quarts torn leaf lettuce
1 cup sliced green onions (or less according to taste)
3 slices bacon, cut in pieces
¼ cup vinegar
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Combine lettuce and onions. Fry bacon until crisp. Add vinegar, seasonings, and sugar. Heat to boiling. Pour quickly over lettuce mixture. Toss until partially wilted. Trim with egg slices.

PEAS, FRENCH STYLE

3 pounds fresh green peas
Lettuce leaves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons margarine or butter

Line medium saucepan with lettuce leaves, add peas. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and nutmeg. Dot with margarine. Cover peas with more lettuce leaves. Cover; cook over low heat for 15 to 18 minutes or until peas are tender. Discard lettuce leaves Makes four servings.

TURNIP GREENS WITH CORN MEAL

4 oz. salt pork with rind
3 quarts turnip greens
1 pound turnips
2½ quarts boiling water (10 cups)
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups white corn meal
½ cup all purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 beaten egg

Dice the salt pork, cutting but not through the pork rind. Wash and trim greens, pare and quarter turnips. In large kettle, bring 2½ quarts of water to boiling. Add salt pork, greens, turnips, and one teaspoon salt. Simmer covered for two hours. Remove one cup pot liquor from kettle. Thoroughly stir together corn meal, flour, and the ½ teaspoon salt; stir in butter or margarine and the one cup pot liquor. Stir in egg and spoon one rounded tablespoon at a time onto simmering greens. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

ENDIVE SALAD

1 head of endive, well bleached
2 hard-cooked eggs
3 slices bacon
2 teaspoons sugar
1½ teaspoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons vinegar
¾ cup cream

Wash and chop the endive. Chop bacon and fry until crisp. Remove from drippings. Mix salt, sugar, and flour; add vinegar and cream. Stir until well blended. Cook sauce in two tablespoons bacon drippings until thickened. Pour hot mixture over endive and mix together lightly. Garnish with eggs and bacon. Serves six.

xxx

DANDELION SALAD

4 cups chopped dandelion
3 hard-cooked eggs
3 slices bacon
Dressing:
1½ teaspoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup vinegar
2 cups milk or water

Wash and chop dandelion. Cut bacon in pieces and fry until crisp. Remove bacon from drippings. To make dressing, mix together the dry ingredients, add egg, vinegar, and water. Stir until well blended. Cook in bacon drippings until thickened and cool slightly. Pour dressing over dandelion and mix lightly. Garnish with sliced or chopped eggs and the crisp bacon. Serves six.

HONEY BROOK MOLASSES

- BAKING MOLASSES • TABLE SYRUP
- BLACKSTRAP MOLASSES
- CLIP & SAVE FOR YOUR RECIPE FILES:

MOLASSES BREAD

2 pkg. active dry yeast
½ c. warm water (105-115°)
1½ c. milk, scalded
1/3 c. shortening
1/3 c. Honey Brook Baking Molasses
3 Tbsp. firmly packed brown sugar
1 Tbsp. salt
1½ c. natural cereal or granola
2 c. whole wheat flour
3½-4 c. sifted all purpose flour
Butter or margarine, melted

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Pour scalded milk over shortening, molasses, sugar & salt, stir 'till shortening is melted & sugar dissolved. Stir in cereal, cool to lukewarm. Mix in about 1 c. whole wheat flour, stir in yeast. Add remaining whole wheat flour & enough all purpose flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured surface, knead 'till smooth & elastic (8-10 min.) Place in greased bowl, lightly grease top of dough Cover, let rise in warm (85°) place until double (1½ hr.) Punch down & divide in ½, let rest 10 min. Roll into 2 14"x7" rectangles. Start at narrow end, roll up, press ends & seam together to seal. Place seam down in 2 8½x4½ loaf pans. Brush w/butter, cover and let rise 'till double (1 hr.) Bake 40-45 min. at 350°. Remove from pan & cool on wire rack. Cool completely before slicing.

Doris Thomas, Lancaster Co. Extension home economist, presented a program on home safety. Discussion was carried on by the members on the importance of home safety, with personal experiences given.

It was announced that members will help fill envelopes for the Heart Association. Plans are also begin made to attend the Spring Rally at the Hershey Convention Center.

On April 8, Society 25 will entertain Society 14 and the county officers with a covered dish luncheon at the Farm and Home Center. The meeting is to start at noon.

York Co. Society 1

The 48th anniversary of York County Farm Women Society 1 was observed at the home of Mrs. Edison Baker.

Mrs. Karol O'Neal and Mrs. Oren Yeager were appointed to purchase a receptacle to house and preserve the society's scrapbooks. It will be a memorial gift in memory of Mrs. Catherine May Kurtz, presented by her granddaughters.

Mrs. Lloyd Rishel presented a reading entitled "No Fee to Pay" that was written by Jody Updegraff, a sixth grade student from Manchester.

Next month's meeting will focus on cancer and will be held April 5 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Decker, 320 Woodland View Drive, York.

A HAM FOR EASTER

Easter's coming and it's time to think about the festive Easter ham.

Choosing a ham to fit your taste and budget isn't always easy. But once you've made your decision and the ham is in your grocery cart, maintaining its wholesomeness is up to you. Ham, like all meat, naturally contains certain bacteria. Keeping it safe to eat means:

*Storing it properly

*Cooking it thoroughly, and

*Handling leftovers with care.

With the exception of small (1-½-3 lb.) canned ham, (not labeled "Perishable, keep under Refrigeration"), and dry cured ham - such as country style, and Smithfield - all ham must be refrigerated before cooking.

For best quality, a cured whole ham should be kept in the refrigerator no longer than 7 days. Any cured ham cut smaller than a whole ham will keep in the refrigerator safely for 3-5 days. Unopened canned hams labeled "Perishable - keep under refrigeration" can be kept in the refrigerator up to six months without loss of quality.

Freezing is not recommended as a routine procedure for cured hams because of possible changes in flavor and texture. When necessary, cured hams may be frozen for 1-2 months if wrapped closely, sealed tightly in moisture-resistant wrap and stored at 0 degrees F. or lower.

When it comes to cooking ham, there are three temperatures to remember, depending on the kind of ham you select:

*If the ham is a canned or fully-cooked type, it may be eaten cold without any kind of advanced preparation. Or, if you prefer it warm, heat it to an internal temperature of 140 degrees F.

*If the ham is the cook-before-eating kind, simmer or bake it to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F.

But if you are cooking shoulder cuts of pork like cured picnics or shoulder butts, heat them to an internal temperature of 170 degrees F. Fresh ham, an uncured product, should be treated like fresh pork and heated to 170 degrees F. internal temperature, too.

Here are some tips for roasting your Easter ham: Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. (slow). Place roast with fat side up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Ham halves or quarters should be roasted cut side down. Insert meat thermometer into roast so that tip is in center but not touching bone or fat. Roast uncovered, without added liquid, until meat thermometer registers appropriate internal temperature for the type of ham you are baking.

Don't bother to remove the rind from your ham before roasting. It's easier to do when the meat is hot. If you wish to glaze the ham, remove the rind before glazing - about half an hour before the end of the cooking period.

For easier slicing, allow roast ham to stand 15 to 20 minutes after removing it from the oven before carving. This will allow the ham to become firm and your slices will be more attractive and appetizing!

Edgar Bergen and 'friends' to entertain poultrymen

LANCASTER – Pennsylvania poultrymen will enjoy the celebrated antics of Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd at the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation's annual fund raising banquet on March 30 at the Host Farm in Lancaster, Pa. Edgar Bergen and his two famous cohorts are known throughout the world and have delighted millions of people including world dignitaries and royalty.

Bergen's career actually began back on his parent's dairy farm where as a young boy he discovered he could "throw" his voice, and confuse his parents as to his actual whereabouts. Sharing the stage with the star of the evening will be Your Father's Mustache, a young, talented, banjo sing-along group.

Over 1200 tickets have already been sold to the big evening for the poultry industry which surpasses last year's record sales. Because of limited seating capacity, only 200 more tickets are available after which the banquet will be sold out. Banquet co-chairmen Bill Carlin, Hubbard Farms, Bob Graybill, Pennfield Corporation, and Dale M. Weaver, Victor F. Weaver, Inc., report that tentative plans have already been made for next year so that there will be no limit on sales. Proceeds after expenses are used to support the state's poultry organization, the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, which serves as the organized voice of the Pennsylvania poultry industry.

The banquet has become the single largest gathering of the poultry industry in the entire Northeast. For information or tickets contact the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, 500 N. Progress Ave., Harrisburg, Pa 17109 or call (717) 652-7530.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

An organization calling itself Rural American Women, RAW, recently arranged a conference in Washington, D.C., to examine the "unique problems of women in the country."

The topic caught my interest - until I discovered that each session carried a tab of $20. With several sessions a day. And meals similarly overpriced. On our mortgaged-to-the-hilt farm budget, attendance was out of the question. I chucked the idea and forgot about the conference.

But a few weeks later it caught my interest again when I read a newspaper headline on RAW. It seems the conference had reached a zinger of a conclusion to my biggest problem as a rural women: isolation. Ha! That'll be the day!

Heavenly isolation for me would be an hour that the telephone doesn't ring. Wonderful isolation might be the opportunity to just sit and read for one solid day. Glorious isolation would be never hearing that the cows are out munching the neighbor's petunias or down on the interstate bank dancing through the crownvetch.

On second thought, though, isolation would mean missing the chance to visit with all those interesting people that stop by the farm regularly.

How would I know who is moving in, or moving out, or increasing their farm operation, or who left their farm lane in a miserable mess of mud and snow, if I never got to talk to the milk truck driver?

Seed corn salesmen, fertilizer dealers and feed company representatives are prime targets for a debate on the national economic situation when they make a delivery that's jumped $10 a ton since your last purchase. At least they help soften the blow with a new hat or a thermometer for the barn door.

And of course, there's the artificial breeder, stopping by the herd frequently to keep those calves appearing on a regular basis. Topics of discussion with these visitors include dairy news, so-and-so's show winnings, which popular dairy bull is the best, and a sprinkling of friendly insult-trading.

Well, maybe it isn't quite the same as the six o'clock nightly news, but at least I don't have to sit through the commercials.....

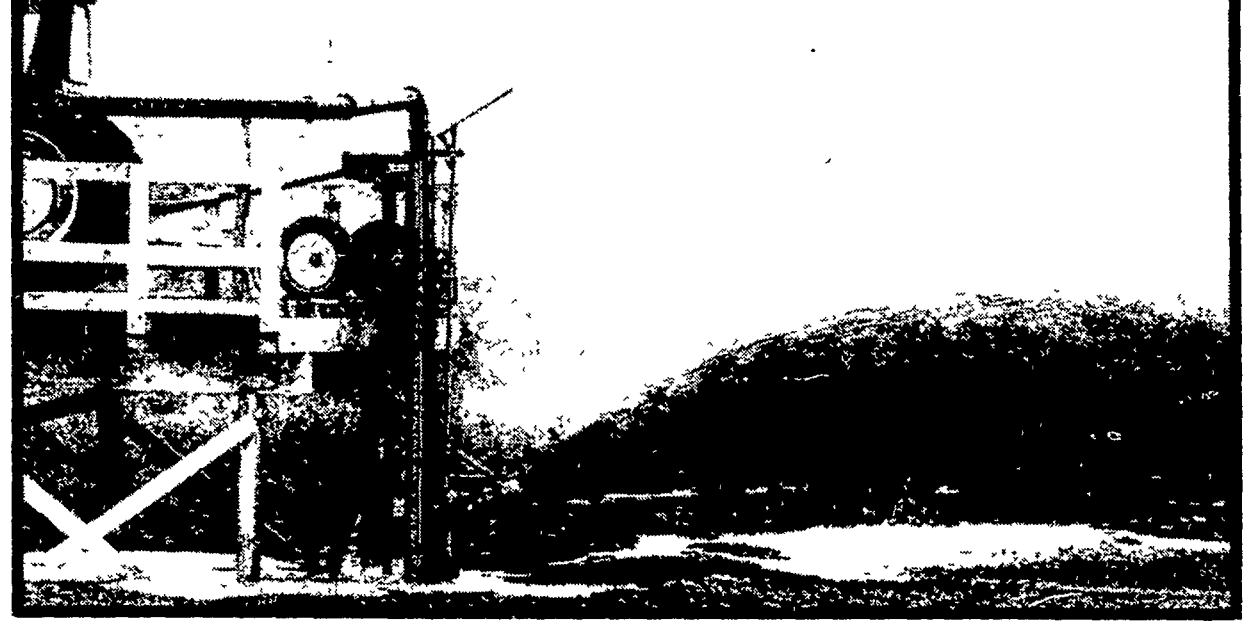
Barley fills two roles

WASHINGTON, D.C. – As barley's use for livestock feed declines, the American appetite for beer helps maintain the grain's position as a major crop in the country, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture economists.

A report of the barley industry by agricultural economists, shows livestock and poultry feed is the major domestic use for barley. However, this use has declined in recent years in favor of other feed grains, dropping from 254 million bushels in 1960 to 190 million bushels in 1975.

In contrast, the production of malting barley, the major grain used in making alcohol and alcoholic beverages, increased 1.2 million acres over the previous year, the economists note. This produced an additional 27.6 million bushels of the grain.

Single free copies of U.S. Barley Industry (AER-395) are available from ESCS Publications, Room 0054-S, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. One should please indicate zip code.



New! Super-Charged!

Badger BN 103 will out-agitate, out-pump and out-last any other pump/agitator.

Powerful words? You Bet! Because we combined capacity, durability and versatility in the same machine. The new BN 103 is a capacity leader. In less than a minute, it can fill a 3000 gallon tank...or thoroughly agitate over 4000 gallons of material. The BN 103 is "Super-Charged" by special external cutter blades that force more material into the impeller, for a smoother, more uniform flow.

The BN 103 has the big capacity to handle your liquid manure chores today...and the durability to handle them for years to come. Rugged, long-lasting construction is a Badger trademark. The BN 103 is built for long hours of continuous running, even in the heaviest materials.

Pump...agitate...fill. The BN 103 does it all. You can pump from barn or pit, to lagoon or above-ground storage...thoroughly agitate a pit or lagoon up to 12-feet deep...and fill a 3000 gallon tank in under a minute. The BN 103 adapts to any 60/120 HP tractor, with 540/1000 PTO RPM.

Get details on the new portable BN 103 pump/agitator, at your dealer NOW.

The satisfaction that comes from doing a good job of farming

It's a great feeling to know that you are the master of your farmlands . . . that when you treat your soil right, it will treat you right. Liming is one of the most important factors in keeping your soil in the highest productive range. By raising the pH from a level below 6 0 to 6.5 or higher, you can expect to harvest as much as 5 more bushels of corn per acre, with similar increases for all other forage and cash crops

Junior Cooking Edition

Rounded oat cereal squares, Hawaiian salad, pineapple salad, grandma's shoo-fly pie, snowy fudge, Texas sheet cake, and chocolate cake are all featured in this week's recipes of the Junior Cooking Edition.

Junior cookers who send in recipes should be careful to try to include all the necessary information needed if they want to be sure their recipes are printed. A list of all the ingredients and complete directions is essential. Also the size of the pan used, how many the recipe makes, how long it should be in the oven should be included.

Send your recipes to-Lancaster Farming, Junior Cooking Edition, Box 366, Lititz, Pa., 17543. Don't forget to include your name, address, phone and age.

ROUNDED OAT CEREAL SQUARES

½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup corn syrup
1/3 cup butter
½ cup peanut butter
2 cups rounded oat cereal
1 cup corn flakes
1 cup peanuts

Combine sugar, syrup, and butter in saucepan and bring to boiling. Remove from heat and add peanut butter. Combine oat cereal, corn flakes and peanuts in mixing bowl. Pour boiled mixture over cereal and mix well. Pour into buttered pan, cool and cut into squares.

PINEAPPLE SALAD

1 small box lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup granulated sugar
8 oz. creamed cheese
1 can crushed pineapple
1 can condensed milk
3 cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ lb. margarine
½ cup brown sugar

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add sugar and cool until syrupy. Beat with egg beater until light and fluffy. Mash creamed cheese and pineapples. Whip milk and add to pineapples and gelatin. Mix crumbs, sugar and margarine together and line dishes with mixture. Add gelatin on top. Save a few crumbs to sprinkle on the top. Best to refrigerate overnight.

GRANDMA'S SHOO-FLY PIE

¾ cup molasses
¾ cup cold water
½ teaspoon baking soda
1¼ cups flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup butter

Combine molasses, water, and baking soda. Pour into unbaked nine inch pastry shell. Combine flour, sugar, and spices. Add butter and work together to make crumb consistancy. Sprinkle over liquid. Bake 15 minutes in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.). Reduce to 375 degrees F. and bake 40 additional minutes.

Fall-plowed
UNIPEL® 20-10-10
fertilizer
yields benefits all other three seasons.

A Unipel Single Application for Fall plowdown provides basic corn fertility for the next growing season with these benefits:

- Eliminates Spring soil compaction (often responsible for significant yield reductions), saves your valuable Spring time for planting;
- Two forms of Nitrogen provide both quick response and continuous feeding for corn plants through planting and growing seasons;
- Long-lasting form of Phosphate resists fixation in acid soils, remains readily available for plant use during the growing season;
- The chemical combination of Nitrogen and Phosphorus in a pellet enhances Phosphate uptake by the plant and increases overall fertilizer efficiency;
- Low calcium-carbonate equivalent helps maintain more favorable soil pH and reduces liming costs.

Let's discuss these and other benefits of Fall-applied Unipel 20-10-10 complete pelleted fertilizer for corn

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

As I write this article, there is still a deep snow cover over all the fields. Hoarfrost covers all the blueberry bushes in the early morning and makes me want to snap picture after picture in order to remember their beauty.

At night, snowmobiles zip through our fields and somehow get into the meadow where they wind around clumps of trees. Are they going over or through our fences??

The temperature and Winter scenes certainly don't lend themselves to planning a garden. As I save all my own sugar pea seed (they are early and different varieties that can't be bought), there is no need to rush out and buy seeds. We've received a big packet in the mail containing many kinds of flowers which we ordered and expect to try this year. But not before the snow melts.

At Christmas time, our daughter who lives in Portland, Oregon sent us a plastic puzzle board among many other things. During the past weeks, the menfolk have spent many leisure minutes trying to better the number of moves needed to complete the game. And, when Philip finally did the "impossible", he wrote to the company in California and told them. He jokingly said that $100 would be a nice prize.

Well, to his surprise a package was delivered to our door. I teased him and said that it contained the money and all in ones. Actually, it contained not only two brand new and different puzzles but also a personal letter from the owner. He stated that Philip's letter was the first reply they'd gotten since selling thousands of puzzles and that he was so excited that he immediately phoned his brother in Buffalo to tell him. He added a note saying that one of the new puzzles could be completed in 29 moves instead of 31 as the printed instructions stated. Probably, so he wouldn't get another letter.

NFO leader flattens Ag Day

CORNING, Iowa -- National Farmers Association president Oren Lee Staley says farmers need fair prices more than honor days. He made the remark in reference to the nationwide Agriculture Day, scheduled for this coming Monday.

"I favor honoring farmers and ranchers, not with special days to flatter our egos, but with fair prices for raw food and fiber so we can pay our bills and stay in business."

"After 150 years of protest movements and beating at the government's door for equity, many farmers today are in financial trouble. Many will not survive the year. It is a disgrace that those of us who produce the nation's food and fiber all face ultimate bankruptcy at current price levels."

"The farm strike has made it clear to everyone that farmers are in trouble. But they are knocking on the doors in Washington again, asking 'others' to save us, and 'others' never have."

"The National Farmers Organization started as a protest in the Fifties. We soon learned, that a government with over 90 per cent consumers isn't going to legislate parity prices for farmers. In 1958, we faced up to the facts. We voted to organize for Collective Bargaining for Agriculture under the Capper-Volstead Act."

"NFO has come a long way since. We had to engage in holding actions to get buyers to deal with organized farmers at all. We won oral agreements. More holding actions won us written, enforceable contracts."

Staley claimed that major processors have assured the NFO they will negotiate for cost of production plus a profit contracts when the NFO gets 30 per cent of U.S. agricultural production committed to bargaining.

Staley challenged farmers to quit pleading with government to give them parity prices, to organize, unite their production for collective bargaining and get fair prices for themselves.

A Cage isn't enough

It takes more than wire to make a cage system More than anything else it takes a feeder

Sure, other components are important, but mainly it's the feeder that makes the system That's why the Big Dutchman Tri-Deck system outsells the others. Tri-Deck is equipped with our SPEED FEED chain feeder that feeds every bird the right amount at the right time, without waste.

When you compare poultry equipment remember that the real test of a cage system is its feeder Big Dutchman is ready for the test.

Beef industry council chairman pushes 25c investment program

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. – Cattlemen have two good reasons to be optimistic about 1978 and the years to come, the chairman of the Meat Board's Beef Industry Council says.

William G. Amstein, Jr., a rancher and cattle feeder from Clifton, Kan., told industry leaders in remarks made during the Winter meeting of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, here, that he believes there is a bright future ahead.

"First, it appears the cattle industry has taken the necessary steps to bring supply into line with demand," Amstein said. "This means we are at the end of the liquidation phase of the cattle cycle and entering a phase where the cattleman can recover some of his losses of recent years.

"Second, there has been a great deal of support shown by the beef industry recently in stepping-up funding of beef research, promotion, education and information activities," he said.

"At least 12 states have started action toward meeting the Meat Board's goals of 25 cents per head investment in market development," Amstein reported. "The National Cattlemen's Assn. and American Farm Bureau Federation Board of Directors have also endorsed the plan."

The Meat Board's goals call for a 25 cents per head investment rate on cattle and calves, with a minimum of 10 cents going for national programs through the Meat Board's Beef Industry Council.

"In my home state, we're proud of the fact that the Kansas Beef Council has adopted the 25 cents program on a voluntary basis. When the new rate is implemented, 70 per cent of this will be invested in Meat Board national programs, since over 70 per cent of all Kansas beef is sold out of state," Amstein said.

As far as plans for another national beef referendum are concerned, Amstein said the Meat Board will support the industry's efforts to change voting requirements to a simple majority or weighted vote. The previous referendum required 2/3 "yes" vote for passage.

"The Meat Board's goals will enable the beef industry to increase its research and promotion power until another referendum can be organized," Amstein said. "For example, if the entire industry adopted the 25 cents rate, it would increase market development funding to almost $17 million. About $2.3 million is invested in the Meat Board by the beef industry now, and another $2.7 million in the states."

Investment to maintain and expand markets pays off for producers, feeders and all others in the beef industry, Amstein said.

WHITE TRANSLATES THE FACTS INTO PERFORMANCE.

The key to planter accuracy is simplicity in design.

When the facts are all considered the one most important area on which you judge your planter's performance is accuracy And planter accuracy is the product of working reliability and design simplicity FACT: Fewer moving parts mean fewer working problems.

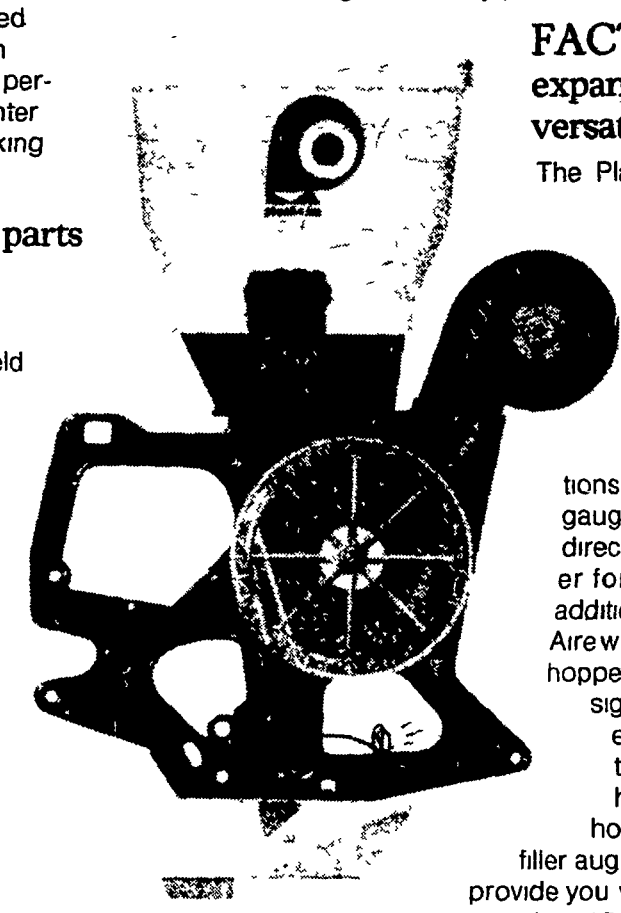
With more than four years of field experience to its credit the White® Plant/Aire® has proven its simple design The Plant/Aire has only two moving parts per row for absolute design simplicity Inside each Plant/Aire row unit, air pressure holds seeds in a rotating seed disk As the disk passes a special air cutoff seeds are gently dropped into a short seed tube Seeds are directed into the planting trench with incredible accuracy by White's seed placement director Fewer moving parts for fewer planting problems

FACT: A standard electronic seed monitor increases your efficiency.

The Plant/Aire's standard electronic seed monitoring system increases your planting efficiency When pressed for time you can plant on into the night with the added assurance that all row units are planting correctly Our integral, built-in monitor monitoring planting exactly at the seed drop point provides you with an instant audible and visual warning should any planter malfunction occur



FACT: Planter options expand your planting versatility.

The Plant/Aire provides options that will enhance its overall usefulness and adaptability on most any farm You can get a Plant/Aire in three drawn sizes, four mounted toolbar sizes and three folding toolbar sizes Other options include our double-depth gauge wheels which are located directly at the double disk opener for precision accuracy In addition, you can equip a Plant/Aire with one of two different seed hoppers, three press wheel designs, three marker systems, extra carrying wheels, transport cart, fertilizer herbicide and insecticide hoppers, a hydraulic hopper filler auger and seed disks that will provide you with planting capability for more than 15 different crops

FACT: See your local White dealer.

When it comes to simplicity in planter design accuracy in the field and versatility see your local White dealer Let him uncomplicate planting for you this spring

Don't let the names fool you-- Chinese cooking is delicious and thrifty

A wok makes cooking Chinese food a lot of fun, but a smooth heavy skillet can also accomplish the job. Here Aggie Arnold - Norman demonstrates stir-frying.

By SALLY BAIR
Staff correspondent

LANCASTER – If you'd like to serve dishes that are quick to cook and artistically pretty as well as economical, then Chinese cooking could be for you.

According to Extension home economist Aggie Arnold-Norman, Chinese cooking is thrifty because it uses very small portions of meat. It is also low in calories, because much of the food is cooked in a small amount of fat, and it is highly nutritious because almost all food is cooked for a short time thus helping vegetables, for instance, retain most of their nutrients.

Your family may be put off by the names of dishes like shrimp egg foo yung or moo goo gai pan, but don't let that dissuade you. Beyond those difficult, strange sounding names are some very good dishes, which could become a standard part of your menu.

Aggie pointed out in her class last week that it is not necessary to purchase special utensils to cook Chinese. Sure, a wok is fun to use, but a heavy, smooth skillet will accomplish the same result

If you want to cook Chinese for your family, a sharp knife, a cutting board and a heavy skillet are essential. Aggie says she finds a cleaver useful in preparing foods, and a steamer can also come in handy. For steaming, Aggie uses a large kettle, a tin can with both ends removed on which she sets a heat proof dish.

If you want to purchase a wok, Aggie says you should consider the size and shape, and what will suit your family's needs best. For everyday use, Aggie says you probably don't need a huge wok. She pointed out, "The Chinese cooks use woks for everything - to stir fry, to deep fry and to braise."

The first thing to do after you get a wok is to season it. This requires a thorough washing in hot soapy water to remove the lacquer finish. After this it should be heated with oil. Then the oil should be wiped out and the wok seasoned again with oil. For storing hang the wok if at all possible.

Chinese cooking

There are five different regional variations of Chinese cooking, Aggie said. Peking cooking is from the northern and coastal areas of China, and this cooking uses a lot of wheat flour, noodles and spring rolls, a kind of egg roll. Sezhuan cooking comes from the mountainous areas where it is hot and humid. This food is highly spiced and uses a lot of hot peppers.

Shanghai cooking features soy sauce combined with sugar and in Fukein cooking the vegetables are cooked soft rather than crisp as in most other Chinese foods. Cantonese cooking, which is probably the most familiar, offers the widest variety of foods. Stir frying is a feature of Cantonese.

To prepare foods for stir frying, the foods must be cut into bite-size pieces. Aggie said, "It doesn't take as long to heat, and it is easier to eat with chopsticks."

Cutting vegetables for stir frying can be time consuming. Aggie says, "It is an art which takes awhile to learn. A slant cut is best so there is more surface area and the vegetable will cook faster." It is also important that vegetables be cut of uniform size so they cook at the same rate. For instance, broccoli stems should be quartered and then chopped so they cook uniformly with the flowerets.

In stir frying, a small amount of oil is used in the pan over a high heat. "You will hear the sizzle, and you must be lifting and turning as you cook." The oil should be chosen according to the smoking point. Vegetable oil has a high smoking point as does peanut oil. Since peanut oil is the more expensive, Aggie said she uses vegetable oil in her cooking.

Food must be introduced in sequence, adding the longest cooking food to the pan first. In a recipe, the meat will be added first, and the vegetables toward the end so that they stay crisp - "tender crisp" is the desired form for the vegetables.

Since cooking time is so important to Chinese food, Aggie says that recipes should never be doubled, but rather made twice if necessary to feed more people.

In selecting a chinese menu, Aggie suggested that a nice balance should be chosen, so that everything is not stir-fried. To consider how much food you need, Aggie said, "Choose one dish per person plus rice for a nice variety in menu." If you limit the menu to one or two dishes, than a larger amount must be cooked. A simple dessert is best with a Chinese meal, she said.

The Lancaster County home economist stressed that it is also important in Chinese cooking to consider the artistic presentation of the food, as well as the blending of flavors. Colors and textures are important, as well as having a variety of taste.

Since rice is a staple in Chinese diet, Aggie feels rice should be served with your Chinese meal. She said she prefers using one cup of long grain white rice to 1-¾ cups water. Bring this to a boil, cover the pan, reduce heat to low and cook for 15-20 minutes. Then let the rice rest for 10 minutes, and the result will be perfect.

Bean sprouts are used in many Chinese foods, and Aggie proudly showed beans she had sprouted herself from alfalfa seeds. Most purchased bean sprouts come from the mung bean. To try the experiment yourself, first rinse the beans and soak overnight. Next put two layers of dampened cheesecloth in a pan with holes in the bottom. Sprinkle two-three teaspoons of seed over the wet cheesecloth. "You will get seven times as much as you start with," she said. Sprinkle the seeds with cold water, cover with a wet towel and keep in a dark place. In about five days you will have bean sprouts to use in any of your Chinese cooking. This is a fun experiment for young children in the family.

Some of the Chinese dishes require a lot of advance preparation, but the cutting and slicing can be done long before guests arrive, and the actual cooking time in most cases is quite short.

If you'd like a change from the Winter blahs your menus may be suffering, try the recipes below and get started on your way to quick-cooking, nutritious Chinese cooking.

SHRIMP EGG FU YUNG

4 eggs
½ cup cooked shrimp
1 cup fresh or canned bean sprouts
¼ cup chopped fresh mushrooms
1 scallion chopped
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
4 tablespoons peanut or corn oil

Ingredients for sauce:

½ cup clear chicken broth
1 teaspoon soy sauce
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Beat the four eggs thoroughly. Cut the shrimp into small pieces. With one tablespoon oil, saute the mushrooms and scallion for one minute. Add bean sprouts and shrimps. Then add one tablespoon soy sauce, one teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon sugar. Mix well. Place in dish and let cool. Combine beaten eggs with cooled cooked mixture.

Cooking Procedure: Using a frying pan four inches in diameter, heat two teaspoons oil over low flame. When oil is hot, ladle in about ¼ the egg mixture. Cook until eggs have browned on one side. Turn over and brown the other side. Place in dish and set aside. Repeat this process, adding oil as necessary, until eggs are used up. Pour sauce over pancakes and serve hot. Makes four-five pancakes.

Cooking Procedure for Sauce: Bring to boil ½ cup chicken broth and add one teaspoon soy sauce, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate. Dissolve two teaspoon cornstarch in one tablespoon cold water and gradually stir into the sauce until it thickens.

Tips: The egg portion of this recipe can be prepared early in the day and Lanc. Co. pipe outlet terraces toured

LANCASTER -- Carl Montana, State Conservation Engineer from New Jersey, reports that many landowners in New Jersey are following the trend of more corn and other cultivated crops at the expense of hay. This eliminates the effectiveness of contour strips (stripcropping) where every other strip has close growing crops of hay and small grain. For instance, soil loss on a field slope of 5 per cent can more than double by following the contour, but without the benefit of grass filter strip.

In order to reduce soil loss to a safe level of four ton or the equivalent of 80 bushels of soil per acre, some landowners in Lancaster County are installing pipe outlet terraces. The New Jersey Engineers and conservationists were interested in this practice as an effective erosion control practice for their area and came to observe.

Pipe outlet terraces in Lancaster County were recently toured by a group of interested N.J. conservationists. The observers were hoping that this practice could be used as an effective erosion control practice for their area.

After the tour by the Lancaster Field Office, the details of design, size for design storm and other aspects to make the practice work was discussed. Other items include storage, runoff, sizing of pipe, where to begin layout, size and slope of berms, critical slopes too steep to build, methods of planting.

It was brought out that with the proper field conditions, up to six acres could be drained in 24 hours with only a four-inch pipe and using the terrace for storage. Not long after the tour, the terraces had an opportunity to be tested with a two-inch rain or snow-covered frosted ground, making for total runoff as well as the snow melt.

reheated later in a double boiler or in the oven. The sauce, however, should be made just before serving to get the best results. Shreds of roast pork, roast beef, chicken or turkey can all be substituted for the shrimps.

VEGETABLES IN SWEET AND SOUR SAUCE

1 medium green pepper, cubed
1 medium red pepper, cubed
1 large onion, cut in pieces
1 carrot cut across in ¼ in. pieces
1 tomato, peeled, seeded, cubed
½ cup pineapple chunks, drained
2 tablespoons oil
Seasonings:
1 slice ginger, minced
Sauce:
½ cup chicken broth
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Mix the cornstarch with the chicken broth in a saucepan. Add the soy, brown sugar, vinegar, and salt. Cook, stirring, until the sugar melts and the mixture thickens. Heat the wok and add two tablespoons oil. When the oil begins to smoke, add the ginger and cook for 15 second. Add all the vegetables and stir-fry until the onions separate and appear transparent at the edges, but crisp in the middle. Add the pneapple and sweet and sour sauce. Heat thoroughly and serve. Serves six.

MOO GOO GAI PAN

2 double chicken breasts
1 (4 oz.) can white button mushrooms
1 sweet green pepper
2 tablespoons peanut or corn oil
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Skin and bone chicken breasts and cut into slices 1 in. x 1 in. x ¼ in. Mix with the chicken ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 teaspoon cornstarch. Cut sweet pepper into pieces approximately the same size as chicken.

Cooking Procedures: Heat oil in frying pan over high heat. Add the seasoned chicken and stir continuously for about two minutes. The chicken will turn white. Add sweet pepper and mushrooms. Mix thoroughly. If the mixture is too dry, add one tablespoon of the mushroom juice from can. Serve hot.

Tips: Start with fresh, uncooked chicken breasts for a really tender and tasty dish. However, cooked leftover chicken breast can be used with good results. In that case, do not sprinkle with cornstarch, but dissolve the cornstarch and use it rather as thickening at the very last. Makes four servings.

U.S. food shown in Tokyo

TOKYO, Japan – The U.S. Ambassador to Japan Mike Mansfield officially opened the 1978 American Food Exposition in Tokyo recently calling the show "one logical follow-up to the Strauss-Ushiba communique of Jan. 13 which recognizes the need for improved trading possibilities."

"Specifically," the Ambassador said, "this show is designed to keep the Japanese trade and ultimately the consumer abreast of the wide range of high quality fresh and processed foods available in the U.S. on a continuing basis. The consumer-ready items being exhibited here account for roughly 10 per cent of the total U.S. agricultural shipments to Japan and we know the potential is much greater."
greater."

"The show," he said, "provides an opportunity for you, as customers or potential customers, to discuss with the exhibitors and sellers here on the spot, ideas and suggestions you may have that might facilitate trade to our mutual benefit."

The Jan. 13 communique, issued by Robert Strauss, U.S. Special Representative for Trade Negotiations, and Nobuhiko Ushiba, Japanese Minister of State for External Economic Affairs, climaxed a series of bilateral talks regarding expansion of trade, including liberalization of Japanese agricultural imports.

USDA beef price figures blasted

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Representative Tom Harkin (D-Iowa) has angrily denounced a recent USDA announcement that beef prices have climbed to their highest levels in two years. "That is a half truth that only serves to confuse consumers and offend farmers," Harkin said.

Recent statistics released by the USDA showed that the avearge price of beef, based on an 'all cuts' basis, rose to almost $1.47 per pound in January, a two-cent gain from December. "It is outrageous that the USDA would say something like this without presenting the whole picture," Harking said. "The USDA by saying these kinds of things is simply ignoring the devastating impact of inflation."

Harkin said, "When retail beef prices are converted to a more meaningful comparison, by using constant dollars, a different picture emerges. If we use fourth quarter 1977 dollars as a constant," Harkin said, "and then factor in for inflation, we find that the average price of beef for fourth quarter 1977 at $1.41 per pound is the lowest in 30 years.

"Using constant dollars," Harkins said, "we see that in 1950, retail beef averaged $2.01 per pound; in 1960 it was $1.68 per pound; and in 1970 it was $1.56 per pound. In january of this year, retail beef averaged $1.47 per pound."

Harkin said that, "Certainly cattle farmers are getting a better deal now than they have for over three years, but when you figure in infaltion, it is not all that much better. What really gripes me is that the USDA is supposed to be the champion of the American farmer and yet they do a dumb thing like this – saying that beef prices are at an all-time high. It isn't the truth and the USDA ought to know it is not the truth."

Harkin said, "The USDA should be held more accountable when releasing such figures by including the impact of inflation on food prices." Harking said he is considering legislation which would mandate the USDA to factor in inflation when releasing such price figures in the future.

Two potato traders suspended

In consenting to decrees, John R. Simplot has accepted a six-year suspension of trading privileges, and Peter J. Taggares has accepted a four-year suspension of trading privileges.

The settlement also resolves complaints against P.J. Taggares Co., Inc.; SimTag Farms; J.R. Simplot Company; Simplot Industries, Inc. and H. Dean Summers, an Idaho businessman.

One CFTC complaint filed June 17, 1977, charged certain traders holding short positions with attempting to manipulate downward the price of the May 1976 Maine Potato Futures Contract traded on the New York Mercantile Exchange, exceeding speculative limit positions and violating earlier cease and desist orders against them.

The other complaint, charges Simplot and Simplot Company with attempting to manipulate and manipulating downward the price of the May 1974 Idaho Potato Futures Contract traded on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

The administrative proceeding against shorts in the May 1976 Maine Potato case continues in litigation against the two remaining respondents, Harry Lenton and Stephen Sundheimer, the CFTC said.

ABC slates annual meeting

LANCASTER — The Fourteenth Annual Meeting of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative will be held Wednesday, March 22 at the Quality Inn motel located at the Centerville Road exit of Route 30, about three miles west of Lancaster. Registration, with refreshments, will begin at 10:00 a.m. Starting at 10:30, the business session will include reports and certification of director and resource/promotion committee elections.

Following dinner, William M. Durfey, executive vice president of the National Association of Animal Breeders at Columbia, will speak on the programs and concerns of the AI industry's organization and its subsidiary, Certified Semen Services.

Nearly 100 qualify for Pennfield dairy awards

LANCASTER – Dairymen from 15 counties in Pennsylvania and eight in Maryland were among nearly 100 customers honored Tuesday by the Pennfield Corporation at their Seventh Annual Dairy Awards Luncheon. It was held at the Good'n Plenty Restaurant in Smoketown.

Sponsored by Pennfield's Feed Marketing Division, the event is held to honor Pennfield customers with high herd production, high increases or high-record cows.

Under the 1978 standards, raised from the previous year, a herd was eligible if, according to official DHIA records, it produced over

USDA livestock newsletter started

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The production and price outlook for livestock producers is discussed in the first livestock edition of a new series of newsletter designed specifically to help farmers with their production and marketing decisions. The newsletter, "Commodity Outlook for Farmers–Livestock," was released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economics, Statics, and Cooperatives Service.

In addition to an established mailing list developed from requests for the new publication, the newsletter is being mailed to randomly selected farmers in California, Iowa, and Texas. It explains some economic factors likely to affect livestock production in 1978 and discusses marketing options.

USDA's farmers' newsletter series also includes letters on wheat, feed, oilseeds, cotton, and the general commodity situation. Producers wishing to have their names added to the mailing list for any of these newsletters should send their names and addresses, including zip codes, to Farmers Newsletters, USDA, Box 1500, LaPlata, Md. 20646.

Pennsylvanians attend American Pork Congress

The American Pork Congress held recently in Kansas City, Mo., housed a multitude of exhibits.

By CAROL HENKEL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – Twenty-four pork producers from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania attended the 8th American Pork Congress held in Kansas City, Mo., from March 7 to 10. There they joined more than 14,000 pork industrymen from across the nation who took part in this huge trade exposition.

Close to 350 different exhibits were on display in the vast confines of Bartle Hall convention center. In addition to viewing these examples of the latest in hog equipment, buildings, and feeds, the producer could attend seminars on timely topics of swine health, reproductive improvement, baby pig survival, and family swine production financing.

Ms. Pork Producer, when not trailing husband or friends around the exhibition hall, could become involved in the porkette seminars, which included microwave pork cooking, "The Wife as a Farm Business Partner," or several demonstrations on pigskin sewing and crafts.

One of the seminars presented at the congress concerned nutrition. Led by Dr. Victor Herbert, professor of medicine, State University of New York, the seminar was entitled "Nutrition Facts and Fictions."

In his speech Dr. Herbert seriously questioned any of the fad diets currently popular today. In fact, he questioned any diet that does not include the proper daily intake from the four basic food groups - cereal, milk, meat, and fruits and vegetables. He maintained that unless an individual has a definite medical problem related to improper absorption of food in his or her body, counting calories and adhering to eating from the "Basic Four", will give all the necessary daily requirements with one exception. That exception is iron.

A person must eat enough meat to maintain proper iron levels, says Herbert. According to this university professor, meat contains as yet an unknown tissue factor which enhances the body's capacity to absorb iron from other foods. In a total vegetable diet, the iron absorption ability of the body is extremely low. He stated that iron deficiency is common in the United States, with 20 per cent of women in child-bearing years and 25 per cent of small children low in this substance. However, he also cautioned against too much iron consumption. This, too, can be a health hazard.

Dr. Herbert mentioned that the study and subsequent statement on Dietary Goals in the United States has raised a furor because it looked as if the summary recommended a vegetarian diet, and omitted perhaps the greatest problem in our country today - that of obesity. He admonished that there is no magical solution to weight loss; the fast weight losses in fad diets come from loss of water in the body, not fat. To produce one pound of fat one individual must consume 3500 calories; this would be over the number of calories needed for body maintenance.

Herbert maintained that the safe solution to weight loss is to reduce calories and then to exercise. This means eating a well-balanced diet not weighted toward either protein or carbohydrate. The Golden Rule of dieting is "Moderation in All Things."

Dr. Herbert claimed that 85 per cent of the information on nutrition found in advertising is fiction. He suggested to obtain correct data individuals should contact the U.S.D.A., F.D.A. or the Extension service for booklets on nutrition.

Herbert was not too concerned about the nitrite question in processed meats. He noted that there is a blocking effect of the cancer-causing agents when ascorbic acid is added to processed meats. Also, the nitrites are generally not added in large enough amounts to be harmful; and, they are essential to prevent botulism.

When questioned on processed foods and those with additives, Dr. Herbert answered that processing removes 10 per cent of the nutrient value. However, he also stated that processing or additives can sometimes increase the nutrient value. An example, frozen orange juice, is usually foritified with extra vitamin because, during processing, the companies tend to add some pulp and part of the orange rind which contains a greater amount of the vitamin.

Other speakers during the convention included Earl Butz and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman. For coverage of these individuals, see related stories within this issue.

AFBF seeks trade expansion

NEW YORK, N.Y. – A trade expansion delegation of Farm Bureau leaders and staff left here March 10 for a three-nation trade mission with stops scheduled in India, Indonesia and Hong Kong.

The group is headed by Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and seeks to stimulate agricultural exports, especially to India, now considered one of this country's prime trading partners.

The Farm Bureau leaders point out that developing countries comprise a much larger potential farm export market than Russia, or Europe, and now buy about 40 per cent of all U.S. grain exports.

First stop was in Delhi, where the trade mission met India's Minister for Agriculture Sardar Surjit Singh Barnala and visited several agricultural facilities in the Delhi area.

In Chandigarh, India, the group will meet with top officials of the Agriculture Ministry. On March 16, the mission went to the Punjab Agricultural University at Ludhiana where Grant addressed the faculty and students.

"The economic health of the entire world depends upon active, growing, mutually beneficial trade among nations, Grant told faculty and students at Punjab.

Grant, was critical of growing trade protectionism in the U.S. and the world, as he called for fewer national trade barriers.

He said there are people in the U.S., particularly labor union leaders, who "would like to keep our farm commodities within our national boundaries to assure cheap food for consumers – at the expense of the farmers."

Saying that Farm Bureau is a national organization with international concern, Grant told the audience that trade is one of the best forms of international communication and a pathway to understanding.

The farm leader said he is optimistic about the world food outlook, "providing farmers are allowed full access to the production incentives of the market system."

To meet emergency needs anywhere in the world, Grant outlined a Farm Bureau policy calling for an international food fund.

"We suggest that all nations of the world support this fund and share control of it in proportion to their contributions," he concluded.

17,000 pounds of milk and/or 625 pounds of butterfat.

Herds with an increase of 1000 pounds of milk or more per cow over the last year or herds with an increase of 50 pounds of butterfat per cow over the last year were eligible.

To qualify as a high-record cow, the following requirements had to be met: Holsteins - 1050 pounds of butterfat and/or 26000 pounds of milk; Brown Swiss - 750 pounds of butterfat and/or 19000 pounds of milk; Ayrshire, Guernsey, or Jersey - 750 pounds of butterfat and/or 16000 pounds of milk.

Presentations were made jointly by Robert E. Gregory, manager of dairy and livestock in th Feed Marketing Division and Joel C. Habeggar, manager of the Feed Marketing Division.

The afternoon program also featured a special Pennfield film entitled "Increasing Nature's Bounty."

YORK COUNTY

Sinking Springs Farm, York R22, home of one of the highest producing herds of Holsteins in the world, topped the list with a DHIA average of 22,094 pounds of milk and 818 pounds of butterfat on 67 cows. Managed by Herman Stebbins, Sinking Springs Farms is consistently high on the list in production honors. The York County herd included seven cows with records over 1000 pounds of butterfat, with the highest pegged at 1157. It was recorded by a 4-year-old, Sinking Springs Eden Lighter. Their high

Michigan dairy tour set April 3 to 6

LANCASTER – A dairy tour of Michigan is set for the beginning of April and sponsored by the Chester and Lancaster County Extension Service. Featuring tours of farms, manure handling systems, young stock housing, feeding programs and systems, university dairy facilities, and more, the tour is to take place from April 3 to 6.

Cost is $235 per person based on double occupancy and includes bus transfer between Lancaster and Philadelphia, air fare from Philadelphia to Detroit and return, bus tour in Michigan, hotel, baggage handling, taxes, entry fees, and tour guides. Meals and personal items are not included.

A deposit of $85 is due at the time of reservation. The balance is due when invoice is received from Windward Travel Center, Inc., Lancaster, Pa. Final instructions itinerary, hotel information, flight data, travel details, luggage instructions, and other important information will be sent to participants prior to departure.

The trip will include a tour of the Bob Gram Farm, Bill Brook Farm, and Green Meadow Farm the first day, showing their systems of drive-thru feeding, flush manure system, automatic take-off, calf hutches, picket dam manure storage, and slab storage of silage. Two other farms featuring top herd management, weigh type mixers and feeders, and milking parlor ideas will be visited.

The second day the Muxlow Farm, Gingell Farm, and Fry Farm, plus two other farms featuring research on automatic take-offs, plus irrigation of manure, young stock housing, and good mangement will be toured.

April 6 will be spent at the London Dairy Farm, Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum, before the tour will leave for home.

The tour in Michigan will be guided with the help of a Holstein program director and a dairy specialist.

Reservations are on a first-come basis.

To reserve a seat on the tour, interested farmers should contact Glenn A. Shirk, Chester County Agricultural Agent, 235 West Market Street, West Chester, or N. Alan Bair, Lancaster County Agricultural Agent, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, Pa.

To see the best in dairy farms and dairy research in Michigan, farmers have the opportunity to travel on a tour sponsored by the Extension Service of Lancaster and Chester Counties.

Q.
What herbicide combination really controls quackgrass?
A.
Princep plus AAtrex 4L.

Princep® plus AAtrex® 4L. It's the answer to corn acreage infested with quackgrass, because both Princep and AAtrex 4L control quackgrass. And that's pretty tough to beat.

Princep plus AAtrex 4L. It's less expensive than the combination you're probably using.

And now Princep is available in liquid form, too, to go along with Liquid AAtrex 4L.

This spring get the answer to quackgrass control. Princep plus AAtrex 4L.

Grassland FFA gathers for annual get-together

NEW HOLLAND – An evening of fellowship and entertainment was enjoyed by 250 members and acquaintances of the Grassland FFA chapter last Friday at Garden Spot High School. Kirby Horst, state FFA chaplain, brought greetings from the state association.

Earning foundation awards at this year's banquet were: Daniel Witwer, public speaking; Dale Witwer, crop producion; Robert Weaver, diversified livestock; Brian Wise, swine production; Barbara Herr, sheep production; Elvin Huyard, horse production; Clifford D. Martin, dairy production; Joe Hoover, beef production; Clifford Hurst, poultry production; Eileen Messner, agricultural processing; Maxine Messner, placement in agricultural production; Lance Horst, agriculture sales and service; Brian Hess, agricultural mechanics; Clifford R. Martin, home and farmstead improvement; Gerald Martin, soil and water management; and Daniel Witwer, agricultural electrification.

Freshman honors went to several of the first year Future Farmers of America members. This year's star greenhand in production is Barbara Herr, and the star greenhand in agribusiness is Dave Kremer. The high seed salesman for the ninth grade was Lance Horst. Horst was also the top freshman livestock judge. In poultry, the outstanding ninth grader was Kevin Zimmerman. Tim Hammond, also a freshman, earned the champion hunter honors for that grade level.

Two star chapter farmers were handed out this year by the Grassland FFA. Taking one plaque was Ronald Fox, who raises 90 rabbits, and earning the other award for star chapter farmer was Christian Herr, well known for his abilities in sheep showmanship.

The star Red Rose awards went to Brian Hess for agribusiness and Brian Wise for Red Rose farmer. Both

Farm income issue appraised

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation agreed recently on an emergency four-point program to deal with the current farm income problem.

A more effective acreage set-aside is the key to the Farm Bureau plan. Under a set-aside program, farmers are required by the federal government to hold land in reserve for future production in order to qualify for farm program benefits.

Specifically, the Farm Bureau plan calls for per acre payments for set-aside acres; additional land diversion with performance payments to bring production in line with demand; prohibition of harvesting and no expansion of grazing and on set-aside acres; and no harvesting or grazing on additional diverted acres.

The steps recommended by the board can be taken by the administration under the 1977 Farm Act. Congress can act if the administration does not.

The Carter administration has called for a 20 per cent set-aside for wheat and 10 per cent for feed grains. However, the board expressed concern that the programs announced thus far are too limited to be effective.

The board stressed the urgency of the situation. Some crops will be planted within the next several days.

"Immediate action is needed to prevent a further decline in farm prices and income which would be disastrous to farmers and, in the long run, more expensive to taxpayers than the emergency programs proposed by the Farm Bureau," the statement said.

Seed law enforced

NEW YORK, N.Y. – A Syracuse, N.Y., seed firm, paid $1,000 to the U.S. Treasury in settlement of a forfeiture claim. The firm was charged by U.S. Department of Agriculture officials with violating the Federal Seed Act, a truth-in-labeling law intended to protect farmers and consumers who buy seed.

Clyde R. Edwards, seed official with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), said the firm consented to the settlement in an agreement signed with AMS officials. In entering into the agreement, the firm neither admitted nor denied the charges.

The case involved three shipments of lawn seed mixture and oat seed into Maryland and Pennsylvania in 1974 and 1975. Alleged violations, while not the same for each shipment, included failure to attach labels showing the detailed information that's required for lawn seed mixture; amounts of noxious-weed seeds above what's allowed; and presence of prohibited noxious-weed seeds.

producing cow for milk was 7-year old Sinking Springs Per Jewel-Twin whose credits are 28,409 pounds of milk and 1119 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. All told, the herd had 11 high record cows and was tops over all.

Other York County dairymen to be singled out for the top performance were:

Ellsworth and Kathy Lehman, Honeycrest Farm, York R11. The family had three high record cows.

Steve and Beth Saner, Spring Hollow Farm, Windsor R2, with one high record cow.

Rutter Brothers, 2100 North George Street, York, had six high record cows.

Guy A. Leader and Sons, 100 Leader Heights Road, York, had 10 high record cows.

Robert Joines, Little Creek Farms, Felton R1, had a high increase in production.

CHESTER COUNTY

The second high herd among Pennfield's customers belongs to Robert and Jane Pepple of Oxford R1. Their 76 Holsteins last year averaged 19,010 pounds of milk and 770 pounds of butterfat. Aside from their high herd status and four individual high records, the young couple was also cited for showing a 1217 pound increase in milk and 66 pounds for butterfat over the preceding year. Their high cow for milk, Lamport Alta Apollo produced 27,255 pounds of milk and 1011 pounds of butterfat in 342 days. High for butterfat was Fairmere King Ivan Jomalt, who produced 24,825 pounds of milk and 1086 pounds of butterfat in 365 days.

Other Chester Countians to be recognized by Pennfield were:

John S. Stoltzfus, Stolcliff Farm, Atglen - high herd and four high-record cows.

Richard Breckbill, Breck-A-De Farm, Oxford - high increase.

E. L. Madera, Crumdale Farm, Mgr., Richard Starner, Berwyn - four high-record cows.

Bryncoed Farms, Chester Springs - high increase.

J. Elmer Lapp, Valley Mere Farms, Coatesville - high herd.

LANCASTER COUNTY

Lancaster County, which during the past DHIA year had 121 herds with herds eclipsing the 600 pounds of butterfat mark, was well represented at the Pennfield dinner. In all 27 Lancaster County dairymen qualified for the high Pennfield milk production standards. Lancaster County's high herd for Pennfield is that of Moses Lapp, Gordonville R1, whose 35 Holsteins averaged 17,575 pounds of milk and 686 of butterfat. Lapp also received recognition for having a high herd increase over the preceding year, and for having three high record cows. He increased his production over 1976 by 1902 pounds of milk and 77 of

Longwood gardens mark Easter display

KENNETT SQUARE – Like a basket brimming with the pastel hues of Easter, the holiday display at Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa., announces the arrival of spring. To accommodate visitors, the conservatories will remain open from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. on March 24, and March 25. On Easter Sunday, March 26, the conservatories open an hour earlier, from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.

This year the Easter display is a sumptuous combination of blue, white, and pink hyacinths, yellow and red tulips, and blue cineraria. Also on display are narcissus and cymbidium orchids. Hundreds of fragrant Easter lilies provide the traditional highlight.

A special musical concert is scheduled for Good Friday, March 24, at 7 p.m. in the main conservatory. The Chancel Choir of the Kennett Square Presbyterian Church, directed by Meta Blittersdorf, will perform anthems of the Lenten and Easter seasons. Included are "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, "God So Loved the World" from Stainer's "Crucifixion," and "Hallelujah" from Handel's "Messiah."

Anyone who purchases a regular admission ticket for the day can attend the concert. Seating is limited, but visitors can wander about the conservatory while enjoying the performance.

On Easter Sunday the Longwood Organ will play from 2:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. The organ music can be heard from the Azalea House.

Longwood's new example balconies, featuring gardening ideas for apartment and townhouse dwellers, are a new attraction in the Azalea House. The exhibit includes five balconies plus numerous examples of window gardens and indoor light gardening.

Longwood Gardens is located on U.S. Route 1 near Kennett Square, Pa., twelve miles north of Wilmington, De., and thirty miles southwest of Philadelphia. The gardens are open every day of the year. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children ages 6 to 14, and free for children under age 6.

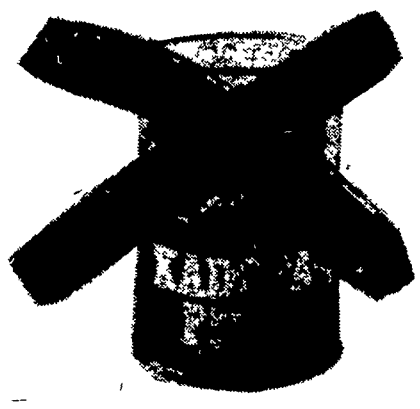
What's a Kubota?

People are always getting our name mixed up with something else.



We're not a fig. That's Kadota. We're not a couple of states. They're Dakotas.

We're Kubota. The tractor company. But even people who know tractors don't know us too well. We're not that famous. Yet.

WHO ARE WE?

Our company is 87 years old, and we're the fifth largest tractor maker in the world. Since 1970 we've had the good fortune to sell our tractors in the U.S.A. And we've sold more than 34,000 of them.

As American tractor sales go, that's not a lot. But we've been growing steadily. And here's why.

THE MID-SIZE TRACTOR.

Kubota is giving America something it needs. A mid-size tractor. We don't make 100 horsepower giants. And we don't make glorified garden tools. Instead, we cover the ground in between.

Our tractors range in size from 12 to 47.5 horsepower. And they are real tractors. Tough, durable, strong. You can get power take-offs front and rear and 4-wheel drive. And a three-point hitch that handles just about every implement under the sun. Rear-or mid-mount mower, back hoe, cultivator, dozer blade, whatever you need.

WHO NEEDS IT?

Whether you're working three acres or three thousand, you probably have a place for Kubota.

If your place is small, we have a model that's exactly right to do all those hard jobs that involve tilling, digging, or hauling.

If your place is big, you probably own several big tractors already. But it doesn't make much sense to fire up a 100-plus horsepower rig to clear some weeds. Not with today's fuel and maintenance costs.

GIVE THIS TRACTOR A JOB

Now that you know a little bit about us, we hope you'll consider our job application.

Farmersville Equipment Inc., your Kubota dealer, is best qualified to clue you in on what our tractors can do, and explain how you can get in on Kubota's Super Sweepstakes going on now.

WE'RE LOOKING FOR WORK.

QUICK! Please rush me your newest, brightest, full-color brochure so I can find out even more about what makes your tractors so terrific

My Thoughts ...

And welcome to them

By JOANNE SPAHR
Assistant Editor

Out of the Dark Ages. We have come out of the Dark Ages.

I know that because the phone rang two rings last week and my mother answered it.

"How's the milking going?" she asked the voice at the other end. "Will you soon be in for supper?" she continued. Then she hung up.

"Your brother says they're almost done with the milking," she gleefully announced to me, twinkle-toeing over to the stove and picking up a potato to peel with a flourish.

This had to be the oddest behavior I had ever seen. Nothing made sense. First of all, our phone rings once, not two times, and second of all, I couldn't imagine who my brother was milking for in order that he would call home to say the milking was almost done.

Out of consternation I said the obvious, "I think you've lost a few of your marbles. What are you talking about?"

"The phone," she said. "We got a phone at the barn."

A phone at the barn. A phone in our barn. That was equivalent to putting a man on the moon. It wasn't that long ago that we had been one of 13 or so people on a party line.

With that system, you had to listen for the morse code rings to decide which call was for you, and you had to wait for an hour to get on the phone to make a call. And, if you didn't wait an hour, then you had to hang up after five minutes so that somebody else could use the line.

Fortunately, that system mysteriously went down the tubes when I was off at college and a semi-private line was installed.

But, to go one step further to a phone in the barn was unheard of.

Of course, we do have one problem--we still have to teach the cows how to hold the receiver.

Beck named regional manager

Richard Beck

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Richard L. Beck, Jr., a native of York, Pennsylvania, has been named regional manager for the American Angus Association effective April 1 in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and the New England States, reports Lloyd D. Miller, Executive Secretary.

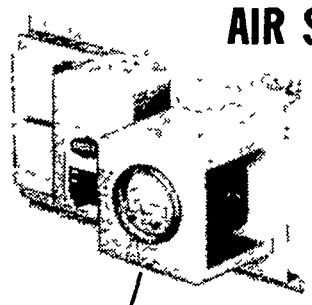
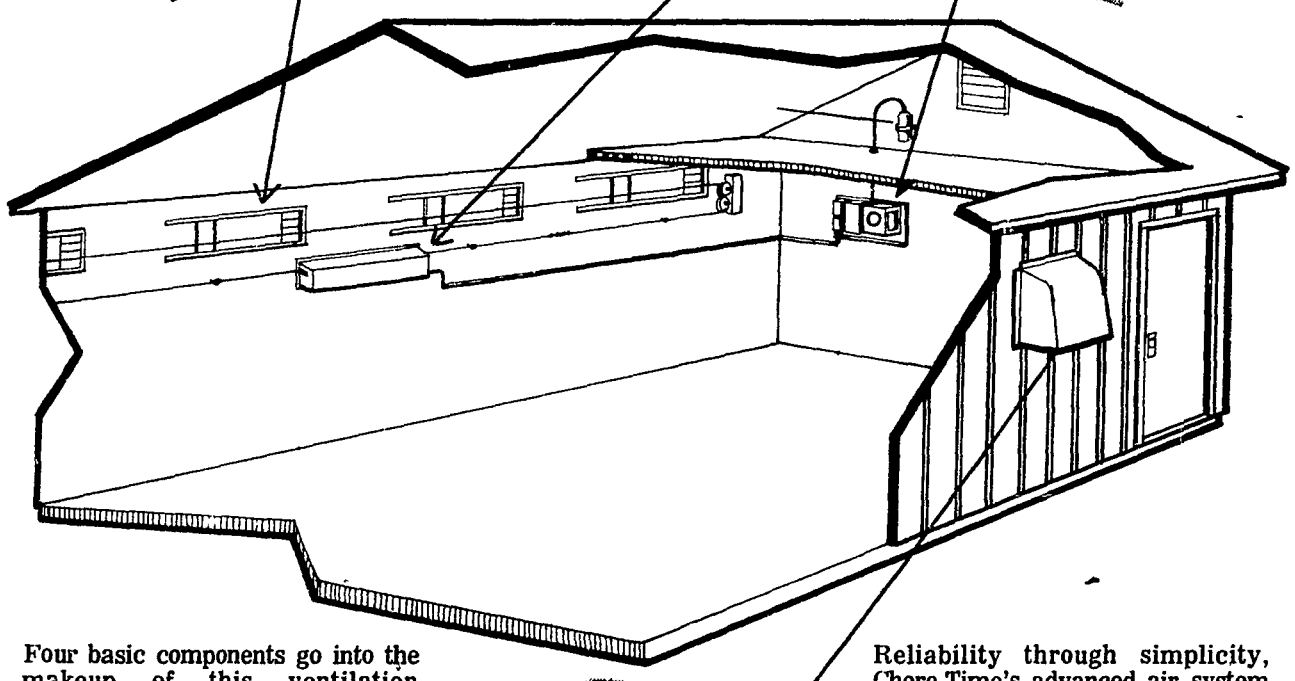
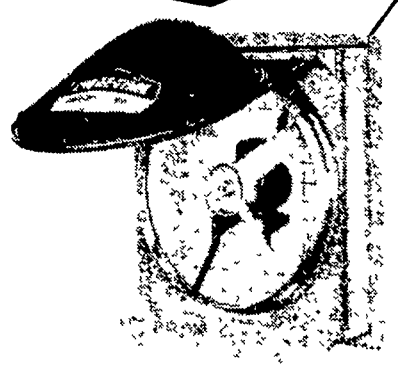
AIR INLETS

AIR SYSTEM CONTROL





Four basic components go into the makeup of this ventilation system...the fan, the inlet, the air inlet power pack, and the controls. Coordinated, these four basic components can provide you with better conversion and performance by removing stresses due to lack of oxygen, excess humidity, noxious gases and temperature extremes.



Reliability through simplicity, Chore-Time's advanced air system provides automatic control of incoming fresh air, moisture and heat for productive environmental control in agricultural buildings.

AUTOMATIC HOOD FAN

Installation key to wood burning stove safety

By SALLY BAIR
Staff writer

LANCASTER -- With record cold weather and increasing fuel costs, wood burning stoves - those relics of simpler times past - are enjoying a comeback. With large numbers of wood stoves being used either as a supplementary or primary source of heat, there has been an increasing amount of fires resulting from their use.

According to Dennis Murphy, Penn State Extension safety specialist, proper installation is the key to safe operation of a wood burning stove. Murphy spoke last week at the Ironville Fire Company at a meeting jointly sponsored by the fire company and the Penn State Extension Service.

Dennis Murphy

Murphy said the single most dangerous area - and the cause of most fires - is the thimble which passes through a combustible wall. The reason for this high danger of fire is that the temperature of flue gasses can exceed 2000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Because of the great potential danger, Murphy emphasized the importance of installing stoves properly, maintaining the minimum recommended clearances from combustible surfaces.

A radiating stove, the most common type of wood-burning stove, should be 36 inches from a combustible wall, with the stovepipe 18 inches from the ceiling. Material used to protect the floor should extend 18-20 inches in front of the stove where wood is added, and should extend 12 inches on either side of the stove for adequate protection.

The combination of air space and the use of certain materials can cut down the required clearances. For instance, using ¼ inch asbestos millboard, and allowing a one inch airspace between that and the combustible wall will reduce the clearance to 18 inches for the stove and 12 inches for the stovepipe. The combination of 28 guage sheetmetal and a one inch airspace will reduce clearances to 12 inches for the stove and nine inches for the stovepipe. Murphy called the one inch airspace between the protected material and the combustible material "extremely critical" to the safe operation of a wood burning stove. Air circulating behind the protective panel will cool the panel and the walls. He noted, however, that the one inch spacers used behind the asbestos millboard or 28 guage sheetmetal must be noncombustible.

Murphy demonstrated some misunderstandings about materials which can be potentially dangerous. "Plaster over wood is an unprotected wall," Murphy said, "because the plaster will radiate heat and the studding behind the wall can catch on fire." Bricks and stone will also radiate heat, and if these materials are used, a one inch airspace must be allowed. With the one inch airspace, brick and stone then become acceptable barriers.

Sheet metal used without an air space will radiate heat and can be dangerous. Furthermore, stove legs can heat up and can burn a floor covering. A layer of sand in the bottom of the stove and a layer of ashes will act as insulation. Stove legs should be at least four inches high, and are safer if they are eight to 10 inches from the floor.

Furniture, plastics, cardboard, and other potentially flammable items should be kept 36 inches from a wood-burning stove. While a chair may not burn, synthetic materials may melt, giving off poisonous gases, Murphy notes.

A major cause of fire in wood-burning stoves is the build-up of creosote in pipes and chimneys. Creosote build-up can be attributed to using wood which is too wet, unseasoned wood, burning a cool fire and using a flue cap without proper checking.

"The wetter the wood, the more creosote build-up will occur," Murphy said. The question of how long to dry wood depends upon the kind of wood being used but Murphy said six months' drying time is a minimum. He said that because of the way moisture is measured in wood, a standing tree has from 50 to 150 per cent moisture. "You never get it out completely, and will always have some moisture in wood."

Murphy pointed out that most drying occurs from the ends of the wood, so he suggested that wood be stacked with the ends exposed to air. Air space should be allowed between stacks and the wood should be stored off the ground so ground moisture does not keep it from drying. If wood is covered with plastic to keep off rain and snow, Murphy said the plastic should be loose at the ends.

Both hardwood or softwood give off equal heat, but hardwoods create less creosote, Murphy said. Softwood, on the other hand, catches on fire faster, burns faster and heats up the system faster than hardwoods.

With air-tight stoves, Murphy said it is often customary to close up the stoves and let the ashes burn through the night. While this is great for efficiency, the "cool" fire causes more creosote build-up because gasses don't burn.

Murphy said that the burning of unseasoned wood can create excess creosote which hits the flue cap, drips down and causes an unsafe build-up. Flue caps must be checked regularly if used.

When installing wood burning units, Murphy said there should be only one 90 degree elbow used if possible. "The more resistance, the more creosote and it will interfere with the draft."

Stovepipes should be cleaned bimonthly, Murphy said, and chimneys should be cleaned every three to six months, depending upon the kind of wood used. In a new installation, Murphy recommended checking the pipe every three or four days to make sure it is working properly.

If you've got a wood burning stove, a smoke detector is a "must," Murphy said. "It just doesn't make sense not to have one because it can save your house and your life." He said he would like to see a smoke detector sold with every wood stove as a measure of early fire detection.

Hopefully, with spring just around the corner, there are not too many more weeks of wood burning ahead. With the cold season just about over there will be plenty of time to check your wood burning unit and its installation for safety. If your unit doesn't meet minimum safety recommendations work should begin now to get everything in number one condition so you can enjoy the comfort and warmth of your stove - and be absolutely safe in the process.

N.J. gets ag dollars

WASHINGTON, D.C. – New Jersey will receive $51,832 from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to undertake three marketing improvement projects proposed by the state's department of agriculture.

Barbara Lindemann Schlei, administrator of the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said that a $7,500 grant will be used to expand the fruit and vegetable marketing reporting at the Vineland Produce Auction to cover truck movement of peaches and dry onions. Another $12,500 will go to survey export sales outlets for the state's fresh and processed food products. Finally, $31,832 will help New Jersey determine the market potential for dehydrated animal waste.

The grants, which will be matched by state dollars, were awarded under the Federal-State Marketing Improvement Program.

Kentucky and Tennessee received $22,000 and $8,500, respectively, to develop their export marketing potentials.

Export office opened

TOKYO, Japan – With the formal opening of a U.S. Meat Export Federation office here last week, American livestock and meat producers for the first time have a permanent overseas office aimed at promoting exports of a wide range of their products.

Tokyo was chosen for the 2-year-old group's first foreign location because of the good transportation links with other Asian countries and because of opportunities for meat sales in Japan itself.

In addition to direct sales promotion, the Meat Export Federation will work with U.S. government agencies to foster consistent and reasonable access for U.S. meat to foreign markets, many of which have import quotas and other border restrictions.

The Federation operates under an agreement signed in 1976 as a market development cooperator with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). The agreement provides for joint funding with USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service.

Panal recommends reduction of nitrosamines in meats

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – A panel of experts has recommended that the amount of nitrosamines in meats must be reduced to "undetectable levels" within three years, says assistant secretary of agriculture Food and Consumer Services, Carol Tucker Foreman.

Apeaking to a gathering of pork producers from around the county at the recent American Pork Congress here, Mrs. Foreman announced the recommendations of the panal who had been studying the question of nitrites in bacon and other processed meats. By a vote of five to four that panel agreed that the levels of nitrosamines, or possible cancer producing agents, must be reduced to five parts per billion, an "undetectable level."

That panel also suggested that bacon be labeled as possibly carcinogenic.

In other issues of concern to swine growers, Mrs. Foreman reported that violations relating to sulfa residues in meats found at slaughter have remained consistent since 1973. These violations in hogs reflect 10 to 15 per cent of those sent to market. The assistant secretary realizes the importance of sulfa to the hog producers and favors allowing the farmer to continue to use the drug at acceptable levels as set up by the government.

At the present time, if a farmer is found violable he is restricted from selling his product until the problem is cleared up. Some farmers have tried to circumvent this restriction by selling in different areas.

The United States Secretary of Agriculture has approved a three-part plan to be coordinated by the Animal Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) to use all the resources of USDA and FDA to eliminate the problem of sulfa residues. This plan includes finding out why 85 per cent of hog farmers are not bothered by residue; researching to try to discern what mechanism can be used to avoid residue problems; and using the resources of USDA, NPPC, and markets to disseminate information to farmers.

Dr. Frank Mulhern, who led the hog cholera eradication program, will lead this major effort.

Mrs. Foreman also stated that a decision on the turkey-ham labeling controversy should be forthcoming in a matter of days.

4-H lamb club meets

BAIR – The monthly meeting for the York County Lamb Club was held recently at the York County 4-H Center.

The schedule for entering and judging for the York Fair was given. Each member may exhibit two breeds of sheep and two individual lambs in the market class of each breed.

Demonstations were given by John Janney, Feeding and breeding your lambs; Charla Janney, Parasite control; and Linda Ebaugh, Colostrum.

The following places or events were suggested for the annual bus trip, Erdinheim Farm, Woorich Woolen Mills, Penn State Sheep Field Day, Washington Zoo, or Shippensburg Yarn Operation.

The club will be serving Lamb Bar-b-que at the Peach Festival April 15 and 16.

Next meeting will be April 6, at the home of Troy Ness. The topics will be castrating, docking, and selecting a lamb.

Red Lion Y.F. banquet held

RED LION – The Young Farmer chapter of Red Lion High School held their annual family banquet Monday evening, March 6, at the high school.

Special entertainment for the program was a slide presentation by the Eshelmen Studios, "America the Beautiful."

Officers retained for a second year of service are Clarence Godfrey, Glen Rock R2, president; Roy Jackson, Jr., Felton R2, vice-president; Robert Burchett, Airville R1, secretary; Lester Holtzinger, Red Lion R2, treasurer; and Ellis Crowl, Airville R2, public relations director.

Comment time extended

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The comment period on the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) proposal to revise its net weight labeling regulations on meat and poultry products has been extended 90 days to June 2.

The proposal, published in the Dec. 2, 1977 Federal Register, is designed to assure more accurate net weights on meat and poultry products at the time of retail sale. The proposed revision would define specific limits by which individual containers could vary from the stated net weight on the label, with some variations permitted as a result of normal manufacturing procedures. Also, under the proposal, juices and liquids that drain from some meat and poultry products could no longer be included in the net weight of the packages.

Comments on the proposal should be submitted, in two copies, to the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 1077-S, Washington, DC 20250, before June 2, 1978.

LMA endorses deregulation of livestock marketing rates

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Livestock Marketing Association (LMA) "heartily endorsed" the deregulation of livestock marketing rates and tariffs at a hearing here March 14 on a deregulation bill introduced by Rep. Ray Thornton (D-Ark.).

Testifying before the House Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains on H.R. 9482, LMA General Manager C.T. 'Tad' Sanders said the deregulation concept should include all registrants under the current Packers and Stockyards Act. The Thornton bill, as currently drafted, would continue to regulate some marketing businesses, based on their size, volume of livestock handled, and the proximity of other marketing businesses.

LMA is currently working for deregulation of marketing rates and tariffs, along with the modernization and reform of the laws governing livestock marketing, through the Freedom in Livestock Marketing Act, (S. 2275) introduced in the Senate last November. The trade group provides business services to some 1200 subscribing marketmen, dealers and brokers in the U.S. and Canada.

boys were also awarded the same honors at the county level.

This year's Grassland star farmer is Daniel Witwer, who also won the county Bankers' Association award.

As part of Friday evening's ceremonies, the chapter's Keystone Farmers were recognized. Making up the list of the state degree holders were: Bill Hughes, Elvin Huyard, Joe Hoover, Lamar Messner, Gary Snader, Robert Patterson, and Daniel Witwer.

Seven individuals were recognized as honorary chapter members for their service to the FFA in the past years. Those inducted were: Sylvan Huyard, father of the FFA president; Lawrence Devine, assistant superintendent of E.L.C.S.C.; Glenn Yoder, of Yoder's Meats, Shady Maple; Allan Hunsicker, school board secretary; Kelsey Smith, science department of Garden Spot High School; Mrs. Constance Kennedy, New Holland Sperry Rand; and Joanne Spahr, assistant editor of Lancaster Farming newspaper.

Those receiving certificates of appreciation for their services to the FFA were. Walter Clair Martin, local dairyman; J. Lewis Brackin, E L.C.S.D. trans. manager; Paula Grubbs, physical education department, William Patterson, Weavers Poultry; Kenneth Sensenig, student teacher; and Dieter Krieg, editor of Lancaster Farming newspaper.

Sweet Bulk 'N Flakes®: the stimulator.

There's much more to Sweet Bulk 'N Flakes than flavor. While improving palatability of your dairy feeds, Sweet Bulk 'N Flakes also stimulates the digestive system, adds energy and helps keep calves on feed. The coarse flakes hold high moisture roughage in the rumen for more thorough digestion. Use Sweet Bulk 'N Flakes to increase consumption of less palatable silage or any feedstuff. An excellent feed stimulator for calves, heifers and mature cows.

See us today for Sweet Bulk 'N Flakes.

Brown Swiss bull top over all

Sire data out for colored breeds

When the USDA bull proofs came out last month, a Brown Swiss bull was tops over all breeds for the second consecutive time. The Brown Swiss sire is also the only bull among all breeds to have a predicted difference in dollars which exceeds $200.

Following is a list of Brown Swiss, Ayrshire, Jersey and Guernsey bulls who have a predicted difference of $50 or more. It should be noted that listed bulls aren't necessarily in service or that semen is available from them. Dairymen are advised to check with the bull stud at which the sire is located to find out whether the bull's semen is still available. The first column after the bull's name is the stud code number, as assigned by the National Association of Animal Breeders. They're identified as follows:

Lebanon County DHIA Monthly Report

FEBRUARY 1978

Arnold Acres is the home of this month's champion milk producer, a 7-year old Holstein named Angela. In her 305-day lactation, which she completed just recently, Angela pumped out 25,550 pounds of milk testing 2.9 per cent and yielding 738 pounds of butterfat. The high cow in butterfat production belonged to Dale Hostetter and Sons, whose 7-year old Holstein, 55, produced 21,062 pounds of milk, testing 4.5 per cent and yielding 958 pounds of butterfat. The Lebanon County DHIA had 6689 cows tested during the month of February.

Add Insulation to Your Attic Now!

With energy costs on the rise, there's no better time to add insulation to your home. Your attic is the easiest, most economical place to start.

True, most homes have some attic insulation. But, unless it's about 10 inches thick . . . or the equivalent of R-30 . . . there's room for improvement.

Of all the ways to save money and energy, this investment is one of the wisest you can make. Why? Because insulation pays for itself. Not only in reduced heating costs, but in lower cooling costs . . . season after season . . for the life of your home!

You'll like the extra measure of comfort in your home, too. Plus there's comfort in knowing that should you ever sell your home, additional insulation means additional value.

Other Savings Tips

- Add storm doors and windows
- Weatherstrip and caulk your home
- Recommended thermostat settings are: No higher than 68 degrees in winter — no lower than 78 degrees in summer

"Saving energy . . . saves for all of us" PP&L

THE SYSTEM

Tool up here for a great future in the hog business

Producers planning to stay in the hog business are tooling up to squeeze more pork from their feed and their labor.

If you're one of them, chances are you'll appreciate the built-in feed and labor efficiency of AGSTAR equipment.

Sensible feed-saving design features — like preci sion TIP TOP feed flow adjustment on AGSTAR feeders

Great labor-saving ideas — like self cleaning watering cups with smooth Porcelainized Steel surface, and fully automatic feeding and ventilation equipment

We think you'll also appreciate the ruggedness and durability of every piece of AGSTAR equipment

You can buy AGSTAR equipment and install it in your own buildings Or, you can get it already installed and ready to use in one of our new factory built modular hog production buildings for sows, pigs, or finishing hogs

The equipment samples in the photo are arranged to demonstrate as many of our 40 types of hog equip ment as possible For full details on this and our other equipment for confinement, open lot, or pasture — as well as cattle, sheep, or horse equipment — contact your AGSTAR dealer

Eastern amends financial by-laws

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – The 200 farmer-member delegate body of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative has given overwhelming support to an improved financial program instituted on March 1, 1978. Burdened with surplus milk production for the past several months, the Syracuse, N.Y. based dairy organization will reportedly operate on a service-at-cost basis for the mutual benefits of its nearly 7000 patrons.

J. Wilbur Burkholder of Chambersburg, Pa., chairman of Eastern's Special Committee on the Cooperative's By-Laws, praised the delegates during the March 1 meeting in Syracuse for their tremendous vote of confidence in approving and amending the financial section of the By-Laws, as recommended by his Committee. There were 4021 yes votes compared to only 328 negative votes cast, thereby assuring sound financial practices for the organization and building equity for its membership.

Arden Tewksbury of Meshoppen, Pa., Eastern's president, stated that the Cooperative's cost of marketing surplus supplies of milk has been recovered through reblending prices. He stressed, "A strong and viable Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative is needed today, more than ever before because of the growing concern over dairy farmers losing their markets."

Tewksbury also predicted a lowering of the reblended deductions and a higher net price to Eastern members for milk produced in February, 1978.

Corn silage meeting set

HINKLETOWN – The Hinkletown Adult Farmer program will sponsor a meeting on the "Making and Feeding of Quality Corn Silage", on March 22 at 7:30 p.m. Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Richard Adams, Penn State Extension feeding specialist. Dr. Adams is well known for his research on all aspects of corn silage.

Under proper management, storage, and feeding, corn silage will increase in feed value content and reduce the need to purchase feed. This meeting will be of interest to all silage producers. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The meeting will be held at the Hinkletown Alternative School, located one half mile north of Route 322 on Wanner Road. Turn north on Wanner Road at the Hinkletown Branch of the Ephrata National Bank.

Meeting set

RAWLINSVILLE – The Martic Hills Watershed Association has scheduled a meeting for 7:30 p.m. at the Martic Elementary School, here. The event was supposed to have been held at an earlier date but was postponed because of inclement weather.

Save Energy and get FREE HOT WATER...

MUELLER FRE-HEATER™

The Mueller Fre-Heater conserves energy and provides "free" hot water by capturing the heat now wasted!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

Rather than using noisy, dust-creating fans with fragile, dirt collecting air-cooled condensers, the refrigerant is routed to a specially designed condenser/heat exchanger and its heat is transferred to the water.

A thermostatically controlled valve delivers 145° F water to a storage tank.

In addition to the thermostatic valve, a mixing valve is provided to permit "prepping" temperature water.

Thus, the Fre-Heater delivers two temperatures of water — prepping and washing.

Tests indicate the Fre-Heater consumes 10% less power than an air-cooled system . . . and you get Free Hot Water!

ELIMINATES REFRIGERATION SERVICE PROBLEMS!

The Fre-Heater eliminates these problems because:

- There is no air-cooled condenser.
- The Fre-Heater is installed indoors.
- There are no noisy fans to fail.
- The head pressure is very stable — assuring longer compressor life.
- There are no cold weather starting problems, plus . . . the Fre-Heater conserves energy and produces Free Hot Water!

HOW MUCH WATER CAN BE GENERATED?

There are many variables, so this question cannot be answered directly, however, a rule of thumb is that a Fre-Heater operating on 60° F. well water will produce a volume of 145° F. water similar to the amount of milk produced during a milking.

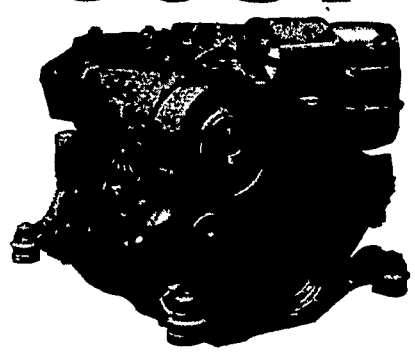
COST CUTTER



The cost of diesel fuel has jumped nearly 100 percent since October, 1973 and it's still about three cents a gallon cheaper than gasoline. Higher fuel costs call for a closer look at total operating costs when you buy engines. Deutz air-cooled engines use 20 to 40 percent less fuel than most water-cooled diesel engines - far less than gasoline engines. And they are competitively priced. So hadn't you better buy or specify the cost cutter - Deutz 10 to 500 bhp.

York County 4-H Week topped off with Expo

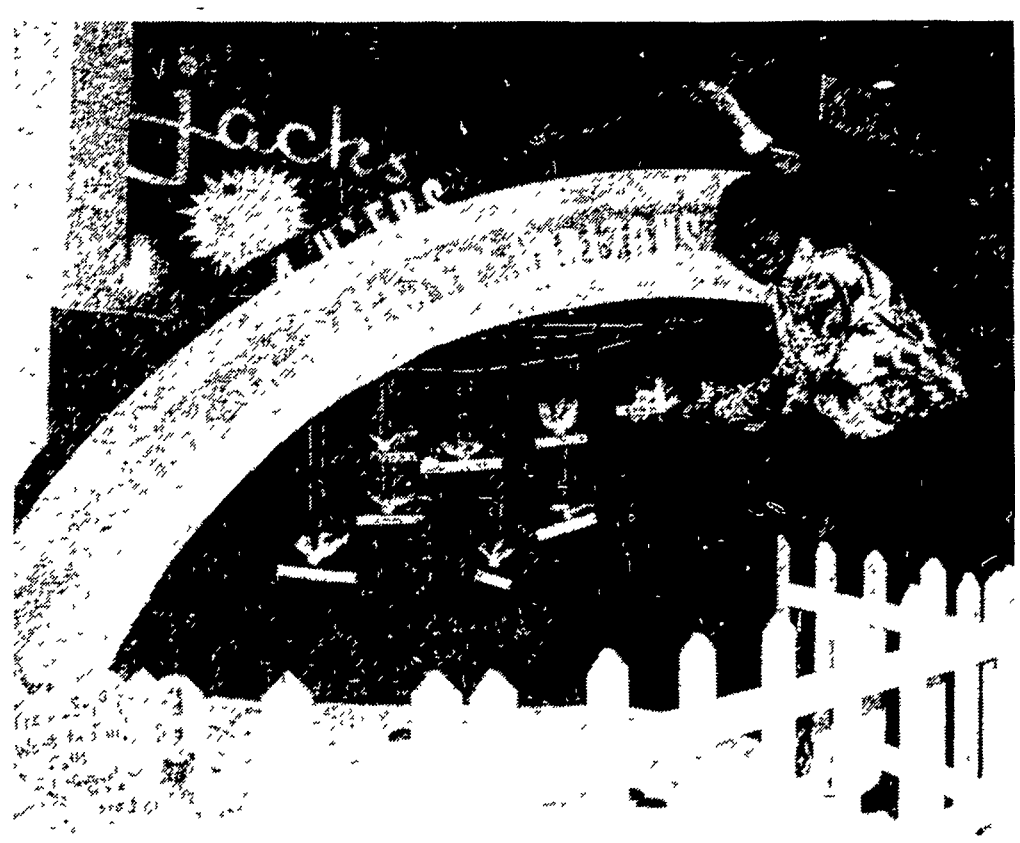
YORK – In a first-time attempt at public relations activities at a shopping mall, the York County 4-H Clubs topped off their kickoff week with a 4-H Expo. A variety of community and commodity clubs took part in the exhibit.

Several thousand shoppers turned out at the York Mall during the spring like March 10 to 11 weekend event to view the educational displays and enjoy the antics of a pen filled with barnyard babies.

Opening up the Expo was a Friday evening fashion show of 4-H clothing projects, held on the over-the-fountain stairs at the center of the mall layout.

Demonstrations every half hour filled the Saturday schedule, with members offering show-and-tells on projects ranging through a variety of project areas, including safety, leathercraft, foods, photography and wildlife.

Posters from recent in-county competitions added to the colorful displays depicting the theme that "4-H ain't all cows and cookin'."



Joey Welsh puts the finishing touches to the Thomasville Community Club display, "Soaring to Greater Horizons."

As always at such shopping mall activities, live animals grabbed a goodly share of the limelight. Youngsters and adults flocked around a ten by ten foot pen housing a mother goat and her triplet kids, five fuzzy baby lambs and a Holstein bull calf.

Fashion show participants included Bonnie Wire, Janene Hess, Kay Schwartz, Sue Schwartz, Wendy Sheffer, Kathy Ewing, Chrisann Schaffer, Faye Trone, Carol Haskins, Joanne Haskins, Sheri Bupp, Monique King, Nancy Eisenhart, Beverly Eisenhart, Sandy Hull, Bonnie Rebert, Sheila Bare, Jennifer DePalmer, Denise DePalmer, Karen Dearmin, Teresa McElwain, Amy Jo Noreck, Charla Janney and Erica Hartman.

Escorting the fashion models were Brian Palmer, Jonathan Myers, Joey Welsh, David Wise and Bill Wise. Tim Beck and Brooke Palmer narrated the program, with Paul Helgeson providing background music.

Demonstrations were given by Joyce Hemminger, Jean Hemminger, Susan Janney, Becky Brenneman, Andy Hartman, Lisa Dobrosky, Barb Kilgore, Mike Welsh, Troy Goodling, Joey Welsh, Connia Basta, Ann Hutschenreuter, John Shumaker, Dawn Raubenstine and Darcy Feeser.

McPherson tackles agricultural misconceptions

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff correspondent

CODORUS -- "The madmen are shaking America by its throat while Congress and the courts stand helplessly by!" are sentiments expressed by Gail McPherson, professional farm wife and 1977 regional agriculture spokesman of the year.

The featured speaker at last week's customer appreciation dinner, hosted by Codorus Fertilizer Service, Gail methodically attacked several myths and misconceptions surrounding modern agricultural production techniques. Gail and her husband, Paul, operate Maple Lawn Farms, a gruit and grain operation at New Park R1.

Emphasizing that "the embattled farmers" fired the first shot of the American revolution for the rights to make their own decisions, the farm spokeswoman insists that today's farm minority represents the last of America's genuine independents.

"But, we seem to have lost those rights to make our own decisions, because minorities are pushing us in scattered directions," she reminded. Farmers are fighting a philosophical, not a political, movement. And history has mostly been made from movements created by minorities."

McPherson

Mrs. McPherson directed her first verbal round of shots at agriculture chemical restrictions.

"Take away all the farmer's scientific aids because of so-called 'health reasons' and we'll soon see a shortage of food. It becomes a problem of the risks of pesticide usage versus the risk of dying from toxic substances forming from natural causes," she warned.

Intellectuals have pushed arguments in recent years that "food is for people, not for profit," and that "profit is a four-letter word." Commenting on that philosophy, Gail noted examples of television broadcasting profits having been up 60 per cent in 1977, while oil company profits finished this year at only the two per cent level.

"The government can provide to people in this country only what profitable businesses pay into the coffers in taxes. It's time to shout back, farmers, that businessmen and farmers must make a profit to support the demands being made on this government."

Research has traditionally been upheld as the way to feed the world's growing population, but Mrs. McPherson has some reservations about that goal.

"The Green Revolution has not worked to the benefit of American farmers," she argued. Superior varieties of rices and other grains were developed to save Asians, using our tax dollars, instead of putting that money into domestic research. Thus, your taxes perfected crops for other countries, undermining your potential export sales."

"And, at the same time, Dr. Norman Borlaug was being recognized for his high-yielding varieties of grains, the chemical DDT was banned from use on crops here in this country, taking away one of our most efficient and inexpensive tools," she added.

Misrepresentation of the current farm labor situation worries the spokeswoman, too. She cited USDA study that showed only two per cent of the entire work force on farms are migrant laborers. Three-quarters of all farm work is performed by farm family members and two-thirds of the remaining hired workers are high school students and housewives earning extra money.

But the most subtle madmen of all are those who keep silently handing out the paperwork, in Mrs. McPherson's opinion.

One prime example of questionable regulatory involvement arose after recent fatal explosions in Midwestern grain elevators. Investigators suspect that hose explosions were caused by required dust-emmission equipment. Rather than ease up on the dust-compacting regulations, federal authorities have slapped on an additional 17 pages of restrictions and now promise to close the elevators to business on all days that the humidity drops under 45 per cent.

In a plea for every-farmer involvement in finding solutions to the rash of problems facing agriculture, Gail concluded with some self-help suggestions.

"Look beyond your barns and fields into the suburbs and cities. The people are bound with agricultural illiteracy. Contact your representatives; give your dollars to support your commodities. Go to the schools, invite the public to your not-always-glamorous farm. Attend meetings and communicate back and forth with other consumers. Reason, reality, and God are on your side."

Presentation of the first annual "Green George" award was made by George Williams, owner of the Codorus Fertilizer Service. Destined to become a lighthearted "Academy Award" of the area agriculture industry, the hand-painted ceramic statue went to Robert and Lucretia Rebert, Spring Grove R2. Their selection was based on "unusual achievement in the field of agriculture above and beyond the call of duty," and was presented to the Reberts for their unique method of replanting missed corn rows.

Over the years, one thing about Mol-Mix never changed.

Quality.

From the first day that Mol-Mix® was made, the people at National Molasses made it with quality ingredients . because they knew a better-quality supplement would mean more net profit for the cattlemen who used it.

Today, instead of decreasing or eliminating these quality ingredients because of shortages and higher costs, Mol-Mix has maintained the same level of quality that has made it the liquid leader.

BUFFERED RELEASE IS JUST PART OF OUR QUALITY STORY

Occasionally, somebody finds out about one of our unique features and gets really excited about it. For example, our buffered release of urea ammonia, heralded by other supplements as a brand-new innovation, has been in Mol-Mix for years to improve its protein-building efficiency. And our performance-proven ingredients, like corn distillers solubles, condensed fermented corn extractives, phosphoric acid, and ammonium polyphosphate, have yet to be included in most other supplements!

Stop in soon. We would like to demonstrate the dramatic results that Mol-Mix can bring to your herd in terms of performance and profits. We're not talking about something that will only add to your supplement costs . . . we're talking about the bottom line.

Agriculture Day

Massive agricultural campaigns greet Spring

NEW YORK, N.Y. -- Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland recently endorsed March 20 as Agriculture Day and gave the support of his Department in carrying out the day's activities. At a meeting with Agriculture Day chairman, Lee Alexander of Farm Journal magazine, Bergland emphasized the importance of communicating the objective of Ag Day – to create a better understanding of the American farmer. "This program will help increase consumer understanding of the financial problems on today's farms," Bergland stated.

All states have been urged to participate in the March 20 activities which coincide with the first day of Spring. "People in large urban areas are too far removed from the agricultural production process," says Chairman Alexander, "so our job is to help them understand that what's required on the farm is what is essential to their enjoyment of the good life."

Activities to promote understanding and recognition on behalf of the American farmer include a computerized billboard display at Times Square announcing to 1.5 million New Yorkers that "Today is Agriculture Day in America!"

Governors in Illinois and Iowa are proclaiming March 20 as Agriculture Day. The rotunda of the Capitol Building in Indianapolis, Indiana will feature a live farm animal display. Kansas City plans to elect a NAMA Mama who will represent the average consumer of agricultural products. NAMA (National Agricultural Marketing Association), located in Kansas City, is the organization which has sponsored Ag Day for the past five years.

Ronald Reagan has recorded a three-minute program on the importance of the American farmer to be broadcast the first day of Spring. And Loretta Lynn has taped radio announcements to be broadcast throughout Wisconsin the week of March 20.

Bob Bergland

Former Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin will speak before a group of businessmen at the Chicago Farmers Club along with the city's mayor.

Sixty-five thousand youngsters of America will be learning about agriculture production through coloring books distributed to schools throughout the U.S.

The purpose of these activities is to demonstrate to urban audiences that the American farmer and, in fact, the total agricultural production system in this country is responsible for much of the food we eat and the clothing we purchase.

NORRISTOWN -- Soybeans respond to general accumulative increases in soil fertility, says experts.

For example, soybeans usually respond well to last year's fertilizer, or even manure applied three years ago. But strangely, soybeans don't respond well to current applications of fertilizer except on low fertility situations.

Some reminders offered to those who plan to grow soybeans in their next year's cropping plans are: A soil test should be done to determine nutrient availability. Soybeans do not do well at pH levels below 6.0; liming is very important. Always a farmer should fertilize soybeans when low fertility is indicated.

If soybeans follow a well fertilized crop, they will not require fertilizer. One should always inoculate soybeans. Farmers should remember soybeans rarely respond to nitrogen.

Invertebrates, the spineless members of the animal kingdom, are never caught napping. Although most spiders, insects, and other invertebrates do have daily rest periods, they never actually sleep, according to Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

YEAR ROUND MARKETING PAYS OFF

Besides speeding harvest by eliminating some dependence on other people our farm storage pays its way in higher prices. Table shows that if you had sold your crop in November every year, you would have received the lowest price of the year 13 out of 27 years. Highest prices were heavily concentrated in May through September and not once did lowest price of the year fall during this 5 month period!

Pesticide registration authority granted

ANNAPOLIS, Md. – The Maryland Department of Agriculture has been entrusted by the Environmental Protection Agency to process applications for "special local needs" registrations for agricultural pesticides.

Simply stated, it means that MDA now may be able to register pesticide products for Maryland - uses in special situations that are not now covered under the EPA label governing national use of the product.

Ronald L. Johnson, Director of MDA's Division of Plant Industries, which is the state's lead pesticide agency, says the permission was granted after Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Young D. Hance applied for it several months ago.

In MDA's request for 24C authority, Secretary Hance and Mr. Johnson pointed out that "a review of our situation in Maryland indicates that authority to issue registrations for new products and changed use patterns is both desireable and essential."

Each application for "special local needs" will be reviewed by a committee composed of technical experts, whose qualifications are outlined by EPA rules. MDA will draw on the expertise and talents of personnel from the University of Maryland and other state agencies for the committee.

Under 24C authority, the committee will carefully study each application submitted to MDA for a "Special local needs" registration. If, after thorough study by the committee, it is decided to act favorably upon the application, the State Chemist Section of MDA would register the product for use in Maryland for the "Special needs" situation and farmers in the state then would be able to use the product. product.

Ray V. Hollenshead Mercersburg, Pa.

Ray can't afford to use poor quality roughages

Ray's another satisfied Silo-King customer. He treats his hay with Silo-King because he can cut his drying time considerably He wants and needs top quality roughage. Ray can bale high moisture hay, thus saving most of the leaves. He tells us, "To be able to make hay like this is the best thing that ever happened!"

Due to drying problems, he was seriously considering putting up some type of silo for haylage. But, Ray preferred to feed more dry roughage if he could By using Silo-King, his problems were solved.

This year Ray baled his hay by windrowing, without turning it. He mowed it at the same time his neighbors mowed their hay Yet, he was able to bale his hay by the time his neighbors were just raking theirs

Ray mows his hay pre-bloom to 10% bloom He starts baling at 25% moisture plus and makes his bales very tight and immediately stacks them snugly in the barn Then, he is able to forget about it, because he treats a ton of hay with a pound of Silo-King

"The corn silage smells sweeter and the cows seem to like it better when it's treated with Silo-King," Ray told us With a Ray and his Silo-King treated, top quality hay!!

Top management can be seen everywhere on the Ray Hollenshead farm Management and top quality feed have brought Ray tremendous results Great job, Ray - and Silo-King

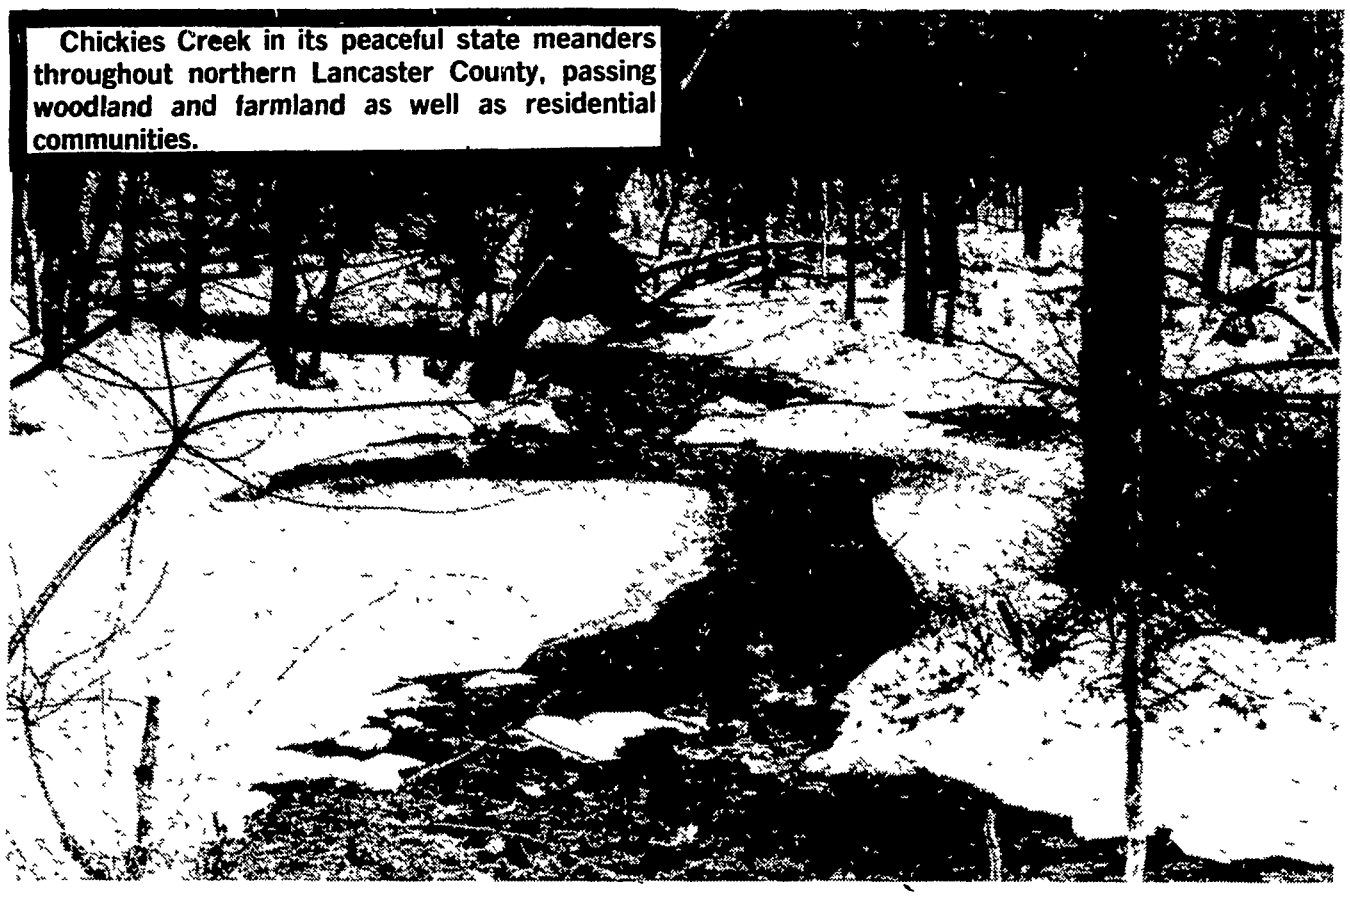
Chickies creek undergoing intensive study



Chickies Creek in its peaceful state meanders throughout northern Lancaster County, passing woodland and farmland as well as residential communities.

By KENDACE BORRY

MANHEIM – Chickies Creek, Lancaster County, is the focus of a watershed program that is designed to explore its problems and needs. Because of occurences concerning the creek's watershed area, it has been felt that a study of the possibilities of the development of the area would be of benefit, according to Warren Archibald, District Conservationist.

The watershed involves an area of 22,963 acres. Cropland accounts for 44 per cent of the land, pasture 15 per cent, woodland 35 per cent, and urban and other uses the remaining six per cent.

There are many concerns about the Chickies Creek area. Consideration of the development of a flood plain and a sediment reducing of the stream capacity are part of the program. The effects of floodwater and the more than $1,000.00 damage from the June 1972 flood will be noted.

Also fish and wildlife resources will be evaluated and managment of them in the future considered. The program will appraise the water supply of the creek and its potential for future needs.

Archibald explained that the project, which is part of a program also evaluating the Quittapahilla Creek in Lebanon County, has six steps. The completion target date is set for late 1980.

The approach used in the project places more emphasis on the phases. Included in the study are: Identifying problems and needs; identifying and evaluating resources; identifying alternatives; evaluating alternatives; reviewing and reconsidering; and planning selection.

In the identifying problems and needs phase, the objectives of the sponsors are identified. All those involved with the project will have the responsibility for input.

Next comes the identification and evaluation of the resources available. Not only will the present conditions of the resources be

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1978
1:00 P.M.
Sale held at Whitney Pt. Sale Barn, Rt. 11, Whitney Pt., NY. Whitney Pt. is exit 8 off I-81.
48 TOP REGISTERED AND HIGH GRADE JERSEYS 48

The collapse of the barn forces the immediate dispersal of 48 mature cows. This herd was established in 1942, and Mr. Kleine has been breeding to the best Jersey sires ever since. Daughters of popular sires as well as home bred sires sell.

Mostly all are registered, quite a few fresh, quite a few bred back for next fall. Balance in all stages. Blood tested for Brucellosis and TB tested. Eligible for immediate interstate shipment. Necessary cattle vet. examined for pregnancy. Cattle have been shot with nasalgen. You will find a top dairy of Jerseys here that would not be offered for sale if not for the unfortunate collapsing of the barn.

evaluated but also a study of the future without the project considered. The future without the project will be used as the base condition from which all alternatives are evaluated. A technical report from each discipline will complete this phase. This part of the Chickies Creek project should be completed by May 1978.

Then all alternatives will be identified. An inventory of alternatives will be maintained.

The evaluation of the alternatives will be the fourth step. This will be done at three levels. Groupings of the alternatives will include: those which do not address the sponsors objectives; those which address the objectives but are inefficient or do not provide an adequate solution; and those which adequately address the objective. The planned project will be selected from this last group.

Through public meetings, agency meetings, and other sources, the necessary inputs will be gathered to determine completeness. If the reviews show that the array of alternatives and evaluation are adequate, this phase will be considered complete. If new information becomes available or additional data needed, it will be gathered and used. If necessary, technical reports will be supplemented.

Finally, the selection of the project will be planned with the help of the sponsors and the local people.

Sponsors of the Chickies Creek project include the Lancaster County Commissioners; the Lancaster County Conservation District; and the Manheim Borough.

The creek project was combined with the project in Lebanon County for expediency. By working on the two programs, the work can be more efficiently accomplished.

According to A. Ronald Hetrich, representing the Manheim Borough, the town has been concerned with the periodic flooding and steps were taken to do something about the problem after the major storm in 1972. The boro wants to reduce the flooding damage possibilities to the buildings located in the town. One step they are presently doing to alleviate the problem is keeping people from building on the flood plain.

Alternatives which may be evaluated by the program include several items. Considered will be single purpose dams – either floodwater, water supply, or recreation. Then there may be multiple purpose dams used for floodwater retarding, water supply and/or recreation. Dikes, channel enlargement, and channel cleanout are all possibilities.

The feasibility of relocating properties from the flood plain will be evaluated as well as the problems of floodproofing the properties And taken into consideration will be the cost benefit ratio – for every dollar that would be spent on the project, it must protect more than one dollar – or the project will not be considered viable. All sponsors of the project will have to agree on the final plan.

The final plan of the project will be a combination of environmental quality and engineering quality. Considering all aspects of all plans, the plan which is considered best will be picked.

Swine housing pro's and con's

NEW HOLLAND – The Garden Spot Adult Farmer program will sponsor a meeting on swine finishing housing systems on March 21, 1978, at 7:30 p.m., in the agriculture classroom of the Garden Spot High School, New Holland. All area farmers and agribusinessmen are welcome. The meeting will look closely at two systems, the modified open front Nebraska plan system and the automated environmental controlled system designed by swine service specialists.

The program will include slides illustrating these two systems, reports from farmers and servicemen on their effectiveness, management tips on the operation of these facilities, construction and cost estimates, design features, and suggestions on how these systems can be used in breeding operations.

An added feature at the beginning of the meeting will be a film on bloody scours - how it effects hogs, how it spreads, and how it can be controlled.

Sharing their experiences with the Nebraska Plan system will be Harold Kurtz from the Manheim area who finishes 1200 head in his facility; Donald Mahlandt from Purina, who services many area producers using these types buildings, and other local producers who have just constructed the modified open front building.

Robert Gregory from Pennfield will illustrate and describe the features of the automated environmental controlled system. Gregory works very closely with the Joel Habegger operation in Frystown that has a finishing capacity for 2400 head as well as 460 sow farrowing operation in the totally controlled environmental facility.

Refreshments will be served. For further information contact Donald Robinson, adult farmer advisor, Eastern Lancaster County School District at 717-354-0480.

Ag leaders call for end to coal strike

ARLINGTON, VA. – The Poultry and Egg Institute of America and American Farm Bureau Federation have urged President Carter to use his authority to bring the nationwide coal strike to an end, warning that failure to do so could result in "food shortages, hardships and economic losses."

PEIA Vice President Richard Ammon had already alerted USDA officials as to the growing problem in the hopes of convincing USDA to waive overtime fees to inspectors during this energy crisis. The Department is currently assessing the situation both in Virginia and in other states most severly affected by the coal strike.

In a telegram sent to the White House last month, Farm Bureau President Allan Grant said it will take at least 21 days for coal to reach public utilities once production is resumed, and reserves in Pennsylvania will run out in 23 days. Indiana reserves stand at 37 days, Grant said, and Ohio stocks are down to 42 days.

Grant pointed out that reduction or curtailment of coal-dependent electrical service would have an immediate impact on food production and distribution throughout the nation.

Grant said, "It appears essential to Farm Bureau that action be taken at once."

'Pick-Your-Own' book available

DOVER, Del. – More farmers and gardeners are turning to "U-Pick" operations to market seasonal fruit and vegetable crops. Though this is generally a fast economical way to market fresh produce, there are many management decisions to make before opening up such an operation.

The University of Delaware Cooperative Extension Service's publication "Management of Pick-Your-Own Marketing Operations" covers all aspects of running a "U-Pick" business in the northeastern U.S. region. This 66-page booklet includes tips on planning, organizing, using publicity, considering competition, identifying the market and analyzing results for these marketing operations.

Individual copies are available for $2.50 and orders of 10 or more copies can be purchased for 70 cents each. Write to: Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Del. 19711.

38 York Co. century farms saluted at banquet

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

SHREWSBURY – Thirty-eight York county farms that have remained in family ownership for one hundred years or more were honored at the annual Spring meeting of the York County Farmer's Association. Shrewsbury Fire Hall hosted the March 10 banquet, with over 160 farmers and guests in attendance.

Carrying out the theme of history and heritages was featured speaker Attorney John Rauhauser, York, who has been a key figure in documenting and publicizing the county's important role in the American Revolution.

Rauhauser focused his presentation on the events that took place within historic Yorktowne and on the personalities behind the nation's decision to declare and fight for independence.

County commissioners Carroll Leppo and William McKinley were on hand to make the presentations of Century Farm certificates to the honorees.

Recognition of one-hundred-year farm owners will continue throughout the year. The property ownership must have remained in bloodline descendancy for at least a century. Present farm owners must also be actually operating the property as a working farm.

Additional county farms meeting the Century Farm requirements will be saluted at the association's Fall meeting. Qualifying farm owners are asked to contact president Charles Rauhauser, 3161 Admire Road, Dover.

Following is the list of Century Farms saluted by the Farmers Association in conjunction with the county commissioners:

Carl Manifold, New Park R1; David and Paul Keeney, Indian Rock Dam Road, York; Charles Hess, Dallastown R1; J. Milton and Kevin Clarke, Fawn Grove; W. Clinton Johnson III, Stewartstown R1; Charles A. Trout, Stewartstown R3; Norman Fake, Felton; Harold Gross, Manchester R2; Charles Emig, Lark Lane, Dover; Charles Rauhauser, Admire Road, Dover; Jack and Andrew Myers, Dallastown R1; L. C. Wambaugh, Delta R2; William Manifold, Airville R2; Horace and Donald Grove, Airville R1; C. Robert Kilgore, Airville R1; John Hope and John Hope Anderson, Jr., New Park; Emory, William and Eugene Kilgore, Airville R2; David and Donald Wilson, New Park; Dale Miller, Airville R1; Mrs. Orville McGinnis, Fawn Grove; Robert Strickler, Stewartstown R2; Curtis and David Thompson, Delta R2; Richard Barnett, Delta R2; A. Jason Cooper, Delta; Marie Malone, Delta; Joseph Ailes, Delta; James Cooper, Delta; Mickey Johnson, Delta; Robert Fulton, Delta; Bert Trout, Seven Valleys, R2; Donald Diehl, New Freedom R2; Edwin Brodbeck, Glen Rock R1; Paul Jacobs, Dover R2; Fitz Family, York R3; Lamar and Ruth Neuhaus, Stewartstown R2; Robert W. Carib-USA exhibit set

HARRISBURG – State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer recently said that Pennsylvania food producers and processors have been invited to participate in the fourth Carib-USA Food Exhibit in San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 15 to 17, 1978. The exhibit is an adjunct to the sixth Annual Food and Equipment Exposition of the Caribbean.

Shelhamer called the exhibit an "excellent source for development of new markets." He said, "Pennsylvania food producers should take advantage of the opportunity to exhibit at Carib-USA. New markets are available in the Caribbean with its resort-tourist trade, and our food processors, whether a small cooperative of a large processing firm, should discover new outlets for their food products at the exposition.

Shelhamer said that companies could contract for space or arrange a space sharing agreement through the Eastern U.S. Agricultural and Food Export Council.

The council, he said, can also provide bilingual booth attendants for organizations which are unable to send a representative at this time.

Shelhamer said that further information on the Carib-USA Food Exhibit is available through the Bureau of Markets. Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 2301 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17120, or by calling 717-787-4210.

Extension exec. comm. meets with legislators

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN – Members of the Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension Service executive committee met with area legislators at a special breakfast March 7 in Harrisburg as part of the first State Extension Capital Days.

According to J. Allan Shoener, county agent, the legislative breakfast provided committee members and law makers an opportunity to discuss Extension programming and how the Extension Service functions to serve all residents of the county.

Schuylkill County delegates who took part in the acitivty were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Heim of Pitman.

State Extension Capital Days was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperative Extension Associations (PCCEA). The organization is comprised of representatives of county Extension executive committees from 65 member counties. Executive committees serve in an advisory capacity to local Extension programs.

PCCEA functions primarily to provide guidance and advice to The Pennsylvania State University so that the Extension Service will function most effectively to improve the quality of life of Pennsylvanians.

While in Harrisburg, the members also participated in workshops, discussed Extension's budget and administrative concerns, and visited the House of Representatives and Senate.

Serving as workshop leaders were Dr. Thomas B. King, Penn State associate dean for Extension; Fred Hughes, Extension farm mangement specialist; Dr. Helen Bell, Extension family living program coordinator; Dr. Marcia Beppler, acting state 4-H leader; and Guy Temple, Extension area community resource development agent.

5th performance tested bull sale set at PSU

HARRISBURG – State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer has called performance testing of bulls "an essential ingredient in breeding a beef herd with top production traits." The Agriculture Secretary said that the Fifth Annual Performance Tested Bull Sale, to be held at noon on Friday, March 31 at the Meat Animal Evaluation Center in University Park would provide cattle breeders with top performing bulls for herd improvement.

Shelhamer indicated that production traits are very important in herd management. "Changes made in a breeding program now by a cow-calf producer, will not affect his pocketbook for at least 18 months. The generation interval in beef cattle is slow," he said, "five to six years in most herds. So a cow-calf producer is 40 years old will only have five or six opportunities to change the genetic makeup of the herd.

"Production traits become even more important in the selection of a bull when looked at this light," he said. The most profitable traits a bull can possess are the ability to pass on high growth rates, efficient feed conversion, and acceptable carcass quality.

Under the performance testing program at the Meat Animal Evaluation Center, these production traits are measured and analyzed.

"Of the 80 bulls in this year's 140 day performance test, the average daily gain is 3.0 pounds per day," he said.

The fifth performance test is the largest test to date, and is conducted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State University, the Cattlemen's Association, and the State Breed Associations.

Order 4 base milk $10.75 for Feb.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. – Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine this week announced a February 1978 base milk price of $10.75 per hundredweight for the Middle Atlantic Marketing Order and an excess milk price of $8.97. The weighted average February price is $10.54 and the butterfat differential for the month is 11.6 cents. The February base milk price is up 10 cents from January and is 57 cents above the February 1977 base price. Order No. 4 prices are announced for 3.5 per cent milk f.o.b. plant location within 55 miles of Philadelphia, Pa. and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, DC or Baltimore, Md. There is a six cent direct delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine reported that February producer milk receipts totaled 431.1 million pounds, a drop of one per cent from January on a daily basis, and up 1.5 per cent from a year ago. Class I producer milk accounted for 59.51 per cent of total February producer deliveries, compared to 58.73 per cent in January and 60.71 per cent last year. Base milk represented 88.55 per cent of total February production. A total of 7892 diarymen supplied Middle Atlantic Order handlers during the month and the average dairy delivery per producer was 1951 pounds, 2.6 per cent above last February.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 7.79 million pounds per day during February. When adjustment for variation in calendar composition is made, February fluid milk sales were down for 1.2 per cent from January and were 0.5 per cent below last February.

Upcoming Hereford sale will have breeding stock from five states

ITHACA, N.Y. – Selected breeding stock from Polled Hereford and Hereford herds in Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Massachusetts and New York State will be consigned to the 34th annual Spring Sale of the New York Hereford Association April 8.

The sale will be held at 1 p.m. at the Livestock Pavilion on the Cornell University Campus at Ithaca. Forty registered females, open and bred, and a select group of service age bulls have been consigned to the sale.

For the first time in many years a Hereford show will be included on the day's program with several heifer classes and two bull classes paraded before the judge beginning at 10:30 a.m. Prize ribbons will be awarded and champion and reserve champion females and bulls will be selected.

All consignments will have been inspected on the farm and no animals grading less than 12 will be entered in the show and sale.

The New York Junior Hereford Association will be in charge of the lunch stand during the show and sale.

A pre-sale dinner and social hour will be held beginning at 6:30 p.m. April 7 at the Meadow Court Motel, Ithaca.

Catalogs and information may be obtained from sale chairman Theodore Kriese, 3805, Rt. 31, Liverpool, N.Y. 13088.

The 1978-79 Membership Directory of the New York Hereford Association and New York Junior Hereford Association will be ready for distribution at the show and sale.

The New York Hereford Association Field Day will be July 15 at the Cornell University Livestock Teaching and Research Center at Harford.

The New York Junior Hereford Association plans a Premier Show July 14 at The Livestock Pavilion on the Cornell Campus.

The New York Hereford Association is also planning an exhibit at the Empire Farm Days at Pompey.

Set aside program approved

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation have endorsed the concept of the Talmadge-Dole bill (S. 2690) introduced in the Senate last week as a measure to boost farmers income.

The bill would idle or set aside 31 million acres of four major crops and pay producers an average of about $75 an acre for each acre diverted from this year's production. The 31 million acres would be in addition to the set aside programs already announced for wheat and feed grains.

In announcing support for the bill, the AFBF directors said it is "timely because of the current farm economic situation."

The AFBF directors also urged Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland to use the Talmadge-Dole bill as a guideline to activate an effective set aside program under his discretionary administrative authority.

The bill calls for additional voluntary set asides of 15 million acres of wheat, 10 million acres of feed grain, three million acres of cotton, and three million acres of soybeans. Payment limitations under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 would not apply to payments for this additional diversion.

PURINA DRY COW PROGRAM

- IMPROVES MILK PRODUCTION
- REDUCES MILK FEVER PROBLEMS
- REDUCES CALVING PROBLEMS
- IMPROVES CONCEPTION RATE

MORE MILK

The Purina Dry Cow Program will allow you to put your cows in top condition. The Purina Dry Cow ration will be lower in protein and energy than your milking ration - this lets you feed the Dry Cow without fattening her up.

REDUCE MILK FEVER

Purina's Dry Cow rations contain additional available Phosphorus to reduce and guard against milk fever. Proper phosphorus balance is particularly important if your Dry Cows are receiving Alfalfa or Clover Hay which is high in calcium.

FEWER CALVING PROBLEMS

Milking rations are high in proteim and energy, but are generally lower in vitamins and minerals. Conditioning Dry Cows with your milking ration can lead to fat cows and fat cows are a serious problem for the dairyman when they calve. Purina's Dry Cow rations are specially formulated to be fed at the rate of 4-6 lbs. per cow per day, and provide the vitamins and minerals so necessary to top cow condition and proper calf development.

EASIER BREEDING

If you have followed the Purina Dry Cow Program, your cows will have calved properly and be in top condition for peak milk production. Cows in good body condition will settle much easier, and fewer breeding problems is a key goal for top producing cows.

The Purina Dry Cow Program will be designed to fit your roughage program and your feeding program. Feeding rates will be recommended based on cow condition and body weight. A Purina trained dairy specialist will design your program for your particular dairy operation — at Purina, we know people like to deal with people.
